Limited Coinage Of Silver Ordered By President

MOVE MADE IN PLAN TO LIFT PRICES

BOON TO WEST MINERS

Price of 64½ Cents is Set Per Ounce to Protect Foreign Trade of U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—(UP)—A new price lifting plan supplementing its gold operations was adopted by the government today when it offered to buy newly-mined domestic silver for limited coinage.

The new plan was announced by President Roosevelt, who availed himself of part of his wide powers under the Thomas currency inflation amendment to the Agricultural Recovery Act. In an official proclamation the president said he found it necessary to enhance and stabilize the price of silver to aid recovery and protect the United States' foreign trade.

His plan conditionally opens the mints for the coinage of standard silver dollars for four years. The dollars will be coined from at least 24,421,410 ounces of silver taken yearly from mines in the United States and its possessions. Only silver mined after yesterday will be coined. Last year's domestic silver production was approximately 25,000,000 ounces.

64 1-2 Cent Price

Miners who take to the mint an ounce of newly-mined silver worth 43 cents on yesterday's commodity market, will be paid 64 1-2 cents for it.

The price of 64 1-2 cents an ounce is one-half the statutory price of $1.29 an ounce. It was established by president's requirement that miners must consent to give the government half of their silver when offering it for coinage.

This surrender was provided for by directing the mint to "deduct" 50 per cent of the silver as "seignorage" which is theoretically the difference between the cost of a mass of bullion and the value as money of the pieces coined from it. The half surrendered to the government will be put into the treasury.

The president's action did not tie the value of silver definitely to gold.

DELIVERY DRIVERS IN GENERAL STRIKE

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22.—(UP)—Philadelphia's food supply and commercial activity were tied up today by a general strike of approximately 27,000 truck and delivery wagon drivers. Efforts to enlist trolley, subway, and bus workers were being made.

Millions of dollars worth of merchandise, much of it intended to brighten Christmas in thousands of homes, and produce and perishables were piled upon loading platforms. Under terms of an "armistice" with the union a few trucks operated, delivering produce and supplies to hospitals.

Bread deliveries had almost ceased. At large plants no trucks were being loaded. Hundreds of pickets patroled plants and mercantile houses to prevent truck movement.

COMMITTEE IN AGREEMENT ON LIQUOR TAXES

Levy of $2 Per Gallon is Expected to Yield 220 Millions Annually

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—(UP)—The house ways and means committee today formally voted for a liquor tax bill carrying a levy of $2 a gallon on whiskey.

It was estimated that this would yield approximately $220,000,000 to the federal treasury annually.

It was understood the $2 tax was fixed after the committee decided it would be impossible to put through at this time the proposal for sharing revenues with wet states.

The tax was 60 cents less than proposed by President Roosevelt's inter-departmental alcohol control committee on the basis of a revenue sharing program.

The tax favored by the committee is equal to 50 cents per quart, compared with the present tax of 27 1-2 cents per quart.

The committee decided on the $2 figure over the opposition of several Democratic and Republican members who held that a tax of that amount would be too high to eliminate the bootlegger when present state gallonage taxes are taken into consideration.

However, Rep. Hill, Dem., Wash., chairman of the subcommittee which has been studying tax revenue matters since last summer, advised the full committee of the need of large additional federal revenues, in view of the fact that various recovery act taxes estimated to bring in over $200,000,000 have gone out with repeal.

The committee after approving the $2 tax later formally voted against a plan for sharing revenues with states, holding that it was too controversial a program for adoption at this time.

The committee voted for a flat tax of $5 a barrel on beer regardless of alcoholic content. This was in line with the recommendation of the president's committee. The present tax is $5 on beer of 3.2 alcoholic content or less and $6 a barrel on beer of higher alcoholic content.

SITUATION IN CUBA IS NEARING CRISIS

HAVANA, Dec. 22. — (UP)—Cuba's troublous political situation neared a crisis today with a pretentious accompaniment of bomb explosions and gunfire.

The Spanish ambassador formally notified the government of the alarm of Spanish business men because of recent decrees, particularly the one requiring employers to hire at least 50 per cent of Cubans.

OIL LABOR POLICY BOARD IS CHOSEN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—(UP)—Oil Administrator Ickes today announced organization of an impartial oil labor policy board and explained that the change was prompted by "inability on the part of certain representatives of organized labor to participate in the board's activities."

The reorganized board takes the place of a board established recently with three members representing employers in the industry, three members representing labor, and an impartial chairman.

The reorganized board will consist of:

GETS $500,000

Santa Claus will call on Henriette Pirrung of Philadelphia Christmas eve and leave half a million dollars in her stocking. She will be 21 on Christmas and will receive one-fourth of a $2,000,000 estate.

THREE GUNMEN SHOT DOWN BY 20 POLICEMEN

John Dillinger Leader of Chicago Gang Sought After Slaying

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—(UP)—The search for John Dillinger, notorious Indiana outlaw, was intensified today as a result of the slaying of three gunmen tentatively identified by police as members of his gang of killers and robbers.

The slain men were identified through their fingerprints as Louis Katzwitz, 38; Sam Ginsburg, 33, and Charles Tattlebaum, 30. Katzwitz and Ginsberg were fugitives on bank robbery charges. Tattlebaum was a paroled convict.

The gunmen were cornered by 20 policemen in an apartment which police had been informed was Dillinger's hideout. Police had no other information, Capt. John Stege said, to connect them with the Dillinger gang.

Picked squads of policemen mounted machine guns to cover every exit of the apartment. Stege then led a small group to the front door and rang the bell. The door opened a few inches. Sergt. Frank Reynolds shouted a command to surrender.

PROMPT ACTION ON WATER PLANS SEEN

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 22.—(UP) — State Engineer Edward Hyatt today forecast prompt action by the federal government on California's application for financing of the $170,000,000 Central Valley water project approved at the polls last Tuesday.

Hyatt said he had been informed that the California advisory board of the public works administration will meet next Tuesday in Los Angeles to take prompt action on the application.

The state engineer expressed the optimistic belief that the board, comprised of H. H. Cotton and E. F. Scattergood, Los Angeles, and Frank Havenner, San Francisco, would take favorable action on the application for a 30 per cent grant amounting to $43,000,000 and a public works administration purchase of $127,000,000 worth of revenue bonds.

10 KNOWN DEAD IN RAIN STORM IN NORTHWEST

Low Land Sections in Oregon and Washington Are Under Water

PORTLAND, Dec. 22.—(UP)—Ten persons were known dead, property damage was estimated in the millions and thousands of persons had been driven from their homes today as the worst rain storm in the Pacific northwest's history continued into its sixth day.

Low land sections of Washington and Oregon were under water. Countless roads were blocked. Telephone lines were still down to many sections from last Sunday's hurricane.

Thousands of men will be given employment repairing flood damage when the storms and flood abate. CWA and CCC forces have been presesd into service in many places to aid flood-stricken victims.

The town of Woodland, Wash., was almost all under water.

Grave Situation

The gravest situation faced Kelso, Wash., where the Cowlitz river today was breaking over the dike, weakened to such an extent that apprehension for safety of residents of the town was felt keenly.

Hundreds were homeless in the Grays Harbor country, on both sides of the Columbia river, at the extreme eastern edge of the city of Portland, and numerous other low sections of the northwest.

For a time today highway travel was blocked north, east and west from Portland. Railroad trains were hours late and their progress impeded by recurrent slides.

NO CHANGE MADE IN GOLD PRICE TODAY

The price was $1.95 above the world price set in London today at 126 shillings 3 pence, up 1 penny above yesterday. Based on the opening exchange rate for pound sterling ($5.08¾), this was equal to $32.11 an ounce.

The dollar remained at 60.69 cents.

Opportunity To Aid Poor And Hungry

Toys, Candy, Food, Clothing to Be Price of Admission to Show

ACHING HEARTS and empty stomachs may take their toll on Christmas this year if Santa Anans fail to heed the call of hundreds of small children and their parents, none the less fervent because they are for the most part silent.

The Register and the Broadway theater believes that every child and parent in Santa Ana wants to fulfill the true spirit of Christmas, which comes with giving and not receiving, and so tomorrow the opportunity will be given.

Opportunity to help comes in the form of the big two-hour benefit show for children which will be staged tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock at the Broadway theater. Toys, candy, food, jams, jellies, serviceable clothes, etc., which constitute the insignificant price of admission, will be distributed to needy children and their families by the Salvation Army, which has agreed to undertake this work.

Response by the warm hearted citizens of Santa Ana will prevent tear-stained cheeks on Christmas day of youngsters who otherwise wouir gaze at empty stockings which they think Santa Claus forgot to fill. Those who will sit around a table piled high with turkey and all the trimmings will enjoy it all the more if they know that in hundreds of homes

JURY AND RANCHER AID LITTLE MOTHER

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—(UP)—A San Francisco jury and a kindly woman rancher united to make the Christmas season a happier one today for forlorn Mary Sears, unmarried mother whose prematurely born infant was found strangled to death.

The jury used only one and one-half minutes to reach a verdict acquitting the former Gloucester, Mass., woman of murder charges. Court attaches said the speedy acquittal set a new record.

The ranch woman, Mrs. Minnie Garcia, residing near Hayward, came forward to lead the bewildered, tearful mother away from the courtroom to a home "where the past will be forgotten."

MERCHANTS OF SANTA ANA DECLARE CHRISTMAS TRADE BEST HERE IN MANY YEARS

THAT IT IS BETTER to give than to receive—a time-honored precept taken from the Bible—seems to be the infectious holiday spirit that has caught the hearts of thousands of smiling shoppers who are crowding the sidewalks of the gay downtown section of Santa Ana.

Yesterday, with but three days before the big day in the Christian calendar, the people of the city as well as residents of near lying communities and farming sections, took their shopping seriously. In automobiles, street cars, busses, and afoot they came and made a heavy onslaught on stores and shops, large and small. Such was the congestion at certain intersections that additional officers had to be detailed to handle the traffic.

Christmas shopping this year in Santa Ana is the best that has been recorded since the prosperous days of 1928, a survey of the downtown business district revealed. People this year seem to have more money to spend, it was explained.

Supporting this assertion were statements of wholesalers, retailers and shop owners who expressed themselves as well satisfied with the volume of business handled this season. Some of them even went farther in voicing their satisfaction, and termed it "good—with no complaints to make."

Reflecting the optimistic views voiced by the merchants were the expressions of leading cafe and restaurant men who said that for the past three weeks business has been on a steady upgrade.

Because of heavy patronage both stores and restaurants found it necessary to employ extra help to wait on customers or to effect deliveries.

Inquiries revealed that for the first time in many years there is a demand for high class china and glassware. It also was disclosed that the "new deal" has injected a new tone in the tailor trade with a demand for evening clothes and accessories. Reflecting this new order of things was the statement of a local laundry owner that this month his plant had laundered more dress shirts than handled for a corresponding period in recent years. According to local clothiers, the new era will lead to more formality in social activities, which, in turn, will result in a greater demand for dress clothes.

It also was brought out that shoppers this year are going in for better quality than in recent years. There is a trend, however, toward practical gifts, it was stated.

THERE IS A SANTA CLAUS

SIEVER ESTATE IS VALUED AT ABOUT $12,000

At Same Time Police Announce No Solution of Mystery Found

The dentist's estate will go to his mother, Mrs. Dora Siev, of Norwalk, Conn. It consisted of stocks, life insurance and office equipment.

Detectives have made no progress towards solving the mysterious shooting of the 44-year-old Lothario, they admitted today. Although scores of women friends had been questioned, nothing tangible had been uncovered which would direct suspicion against any person.

Mrs. Mary De Wilde Currie, a stenographer formerly employed by Dr. Siever, told authorities incidents of the dentist's amours when she sought police aid to recover $50 she said he owed her. She related that Dr. Siever frequently entered his office with rouge and powder on his face and clothing.

Detectives said they had no plans to recall Miss Mary Rockwell, formerly of Cincinnati, who was questioned the day after the dentist was found slain. Miss Rockwell, last patient treated by Dr. Siever, told officers she had kissed him "in fun" as they parted, and liked him because he "believed in the beautiful things in life."

STRIKE IS AVERTED BY GEORGE CREEL

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22. — (UP)—Mediation agreements obtained by George Creel, National Labor Board representative, today averted a walkout of San Francisco hotel kitchen workers and provided for a conference on a threatened longshoremen's strike.

Creel, who previously had announced an amicable settlement of a dispute affecting automobile ferries, said that cooks, waiters and dishwashers in the hotels had agreed to submit their grievances to arbitration.

He set Dec. 27 for a conference at Stockton on alleged discrimination against longshoremen working there. The International Longshoremen's union threatened to tie up all shipping along the coast because of the alleged treatment of their members by Stockton shipping firms.

RAILROADS OF NATION REPORT GOOD BUSINESS

Heaviest Holiday Passenger Traffic Since Before Depression

BY UNITED PRESS.

RETURN of some measure of prosperity to the nation's railroads was indicated today in a United Press survey which revealed the heaviest holiday passenger traffic since the depression began.

The increases ranged from 10 per cent to five times greater than last year. Hundreds of special trains carrying holiday celebrants in and out of the major cities were being added to regular train schedules.

Railroad officials believed the large increase was due to greater employment and increased confidence in the future causing people to spend money for things not absolutely essential.

New York and Pittsburgh railroads reported a 50 per cent increase. Detroit reported an increase of five times over last year, the best since 1929. Chicago reported a 10 per cent increase. The increase in the Kansas City district was estimated at one-third.

LITTLE CHANGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—(UP)—General passenger traffic in California has been about the same as at the Christmas season last year, according to a Southern Pacific announcement today. However, movement was augmented by the fact that C.C.C. workers re-

COURT REFORMS IS OBJECT OF ROLPH

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Dec. 22.—(UP)—Prompted by a resolution of the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce, Governor Rolph today moved toward the appointment of an advisory committee to outline a program of reform for California courts.

The plan was seen as direct outgrowth of the San Jose lynchings when mob action was substituted for court justice.

The governor plans appointment of a committee from all walks of life to recommend a legislative program doing away with many legal technicalities and assuring more prompt action in criminal cases.

Assemblywoman Eleanor Miller, Pasadena, chairman of the lower house crime problems committee, has been asked by the governor to recommend appointees to the committee.

ROOSEVELT'S SILVER PLAN CAUSES RISE

A. T. & T. and Tobaccos Are Forced Down; Wet Stocks Fail to Go Ahead

TICKERS RUN BEHIND

Chrysler in Demand Makes New High for Year in Late Burst of Trading

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—(UP)—American Telephone and Telegraph capital stock and tobacco shares were depressed and wet stocks held barely steady in an otherwise firm stock market.

The whole market responded with enthusiasm to President Roosevelt's silver buying plan at the opening. Prices shot up 1 to 10 points and large blocks appeared on the tape. Traders had been taken by surprise by the announcement and buying orders came into the brokerage houses in profusion.

When American Telephone declined and pressure came into the tobaccos, the street began to unload. Telephone's dip was ascribed to fears the company would be forced into a huge communications merger which would reduce its earnings status. Tobaccos were forced down 3 points to more than 5 points, the widest losses in Liggett & Myers. Selling in the latter was caused by lower cigarette output together with a growing holiday on marketing of burley tobacco pending higher prices for the product.

Recovery Drive

WOODIN CONDITION REPORTED IMPROVED

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 22.—(UP)—With William H. Woodin, secretary of the treasury, reported in a much improved condition, members of his family here today were preparing to remove him to the home of his son, William H. Woodin jr. for Christmas.

Dr. Paul Holbrook, personal physician, said today that Secretary Woodin is continuing to improve from the throat ailment which caused his removal to the desert sanitorium, nearly a week ago, and he will allow the cabinet officer to return home for Christmas if his condition warrants tomorrow.

Secretary Woodin came here several weeks ago to recover from the throat trouble after being granted a temporary leave of absence from his duties in Washington.

It also was brought out that shoppers this year are going in for better quality than in recent years. There is a trend, however, toward practical gifts, it was stated.

The dentist's estate will go to his mother, Mrs. Dora Siev, of Norwalk, Conn. It consisted of stocks, life insurance and office equipment.

Detectives have made no progress towards solving the mysterious shooting of the 44-year-old Lothario, they admitted today. Although scores of women friends had been questioned, nothing tangible had been uncovered which would direct suspicion against any person.

Mrs. Mary De Wilde Currie, a stenographer formerly employed by Dr. Siever, told authorities incidents of the dentist's amours when she sought police aid to recover $50 she said he owed her. She related that Dr. Siever frequently entered his office with rouge and powder on his face and clothing.

Detectives said they had no plans to recall Miss Mary Rockwell, formerly of Cincinnati, who was questioned the day after the dentist was found slain. Miss Rockwell, last patient treated by Dr. Siever, told officers she had kissed him "in fun" as they parted, and liked him because he "believed in the beautiful things in life."

STRIKE IS AVERTED BY GEORGE CREEL

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22. — (UP)—Mediation agreements obtained by George Creel, National Labor Board representative, today averted a walkout of San Francisco hotel kitchen workers and provided for a conference on a threatened longshoremen's strike.

Creel, who previously had announced an amicable settlement of a dispute affecting automobile ferries, said that cooks, waiters and dishwashers in the hotels had agreed to submit their grievances to arbitration.

He set Dec. 27 for a conference at Stockton on alleged discrimination against longshoremen working there. The International Longshoremen's union threatened to tie up all shipping along the coast because of the alleged treatment of their members by Stockton shipping firms.

ROOSEVELT'S SILVER PLAN CAUSES RISE

A. T. & T. and Tobaccos Are Forced Down; Wet Stocks Fail to Go Ahead

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—(UP)—American Telephone and Telegraph capital stock and tobacco shares were depressed and wet stocks held barely steady in an otherwise firm stock market.

The whole market responded with enthusiasm to President Roosevelt's silver buying plan at the opening. Prices shot up 1 to 10 points and large blocks appeared on the tape. Traders had been taken by surprise by the announcement and buying orders came into the brokerage houses in profusion.

When American Telephone declined and pressure came into the tobaccos, the street began to unload. Telephone's dip was ascribed to fears the company would be forced into a huge communications merger which would reduce its earnings status. Tobaccos were forced down 3 points to more than 5 points, the widest losses in Liggett & Myers. Selling in the latter was caused by lower cigarette output together with a growing holiday on marketing of burley tobacco pending higher prices for the product.

Recovery Drive

BY UNITED PRESS.

RETURN of some measure of prosperity to the nation's railroads was indicated today in a United Press survey which revealed the heaviest holiday passenger traffic since the depression began.

The increases ranged from 10 per cent to five times greater than last year. Hundreds of special trains carrying holiday celebrants in and out of the major cities were being added to regular train schedules.

Railroad officials believed the large increase was due to greater employment and increased confidence in the future causing people to spend money for things not absolutely essential.

New York and Pittsburgh railroads reported a 50 per cent increase. Detroit reported an increase of five times over last year, the best since 1929. Chicago reported a 10 per cent increase. The increase in the Kansas City district was estimated at one-third.

LITTLE CHANGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—(UP)—General passenger traffic in California has been about the same as at the Christmas season last year, according to a Southern Pacific announcement today. However, movement was augmented by the fact that C.C.C. workers re-

COURT REFORMS IS OBJECT OF ROLPH

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Dec. 22.—(UP)—Prompted by a resolution of the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce, Governor Rolph today moved toward the appointment of an advisory committee to outline a program of reform for California courts.

The plan was seen as direct outgrowth of the San Jose lynchings when mob action was substituted for court justice.

The governor plans appointment of a committee from all walks of life to recommend a legislative program doing away with many legal technicalities and assuring more prompt action in criminal cases.

Assemblywoman Eleanor Miller, Pasadena, chairman of the lower house crime problems committee, has been asked by the governor to recommend appointees to the committee.

WOODIN CONDITION REPORTED IMPROVED

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 22.—(UP)—With William H. Woodin, secretary of the treasury, reported in a much improved condition, members of his family here today were preparing to remove him to the home of his son, William H. Woodin jr. for Christmas.

Dr. Paul Holbrook, personal physician, said today that Secretary Woodin is continuing to improve from the throat ailment which caused his removal to the desert sanitorium, nearly a week ago, and he will allow the cabinet officer to return home for Christmas if his condition warrants tomorrow.

Secretary Woodin came here several weeks ago to recover from the throat trouble after being granted a temporary leave of absence from his duties in Washington.

Oil Suit Settlement Expected

ANOTHER COURT ACTION FILED BY OFFICIAL

Intimations that settlements with operators who are alleged to have tapped the state tidelands oil pool at Huntington Beach probably will be completely within a few days were made this morning by Webb Shadle, attorney, in the state finance department. The statement was made by Shadle shortly after he had agreed to continuation of suits against the Termo corporation until January 3 and had filed another suit against other operators alleging tapping of the state oil pool.

Shadle said that the suit filed this morning would probably be followed by others in spite of the fact that settlement between the state and operators alleged to have tapped the pool is pending. He said that the state probably would file suits against all operators who are suspected of having tapped the tide-lands pool through "whipstocked" wells and would be held as a lever to enforce compliance with terms of any agrements that the state may enter into with them.

He said that Roland Vandegrift, state director of finance had indicated that the recent court decision in the suit filed by Assemblyman James B. Utt of Santa Ana had opened the way for those operators who had completed their wells or had them under way prior to November 15 to make proposals to the state. The decision referred to was handed down by the Sacramento superior court was to the effect that the State of California could negotiate with the operators of a royalty basis for any oil removed from the state owned tidelands pool at Huntington Beach.

Asks $50,000

The suit filed by the state today asks $50,000 damages and named as defendants Charles W. Camp, the city of Huntington Beach, Huntington Beach Company, Pacific Electric Land company, the Pacific Electric Railway company, the Standard Oil company, H. John Eastman Ltd., O. H. (Jack) Johnson, H. John Eastman, Grace Laughlin, (Al) Craig and Vernon King.

The complaint alleges that Grace Laughlin owns a piece of land 260 feet north of the ordinary high water mark at Huntington Beach which is also the northern boundary of the state-owned tidelands.

On September 11 of this year, the complaint charges that Camp, H. John Eastman Ltd., H. John Eastman, Johnson, Craig and King started to drill a well known as Laughlin No. 2 on the property. On December 1 the hole is alleged to have penetrated state lands and drilling continued until the bottom of the hole is at present within 300 feet, vertically, of the state oil pool.

Seek Injunction

In addition to asking for damages of $50,000 from the operators the state suit is demanding an injunction to prevent further trespass on state property or extraction of oil or any assertion of claim to state land with the additional request that the well be sealed. Shadle said this morning that he expects the state to request a survey of the well which has not yet started production.

In all suits filed against operators in the Huntington Beach field the state alleged that in drilling the wells they had been slanted to penetrate the state tidelands oil pool and to do so had trespassed on the property of the Pacific Electric and the City of Huntington Beach. The wells against which suits now are pending are all located on the landward side of Ocean avenue in Huntington Beach and are said to have been "drifted" under the paved thoroughfare.

STOCK MARKET ISSUES ALL GO HIGHER TODAY

Long strings of Chrysler came out and the issue mounted to a new high for the year. General Motors also was active and strong.

Best gainers were the stocks whose companies would benefit directly from the silver purchase plan. U. S. Smelting jumped 10 points on the first sale and ruled strong throughout the day. American Smelting, Cerro de Pasco, Anaconda, Howe Sound, and Federal Mining and Smelting rose 1 to 10 points. U. S. Smelting made a new high for the day in the last few minutes of trading and other miners followed it. Gold mining issues were up sympathetically.

Chemical shares mounted 2 to 4 points with demand centering on DuPont and Allied Chemical. Rails were higher on a raise of 17,329 cars in car loadings for the week ended last Saturday compared with the preceding week. Colorado & Southern, which would benefit by the president's order through hauling of ore, was up sharply.

Wet Stocks Lag

Wet stocks were depressed for a time with National Distillers making a new low for the year at 20 7-8 off 2 1-4 points. It rallied later.

Farm equipments rose with commodities, Case reaching 69 for a gain of more than 4 points. Steel shares, electrical equipment, rail equipments, building shares, mercantile issues, and miscellaneous industrials were carried up with the special stocks. Utilities were barely steady, Consolidated Gas making a new low for the year at 34 1-4 off 1 1-4.

Best gains aside from the issues mentioned included Pullman, Park & Tilford, Pennick & Ford, Johns Manville, Auburn Auto, and American Can. These shares rose 2 to more than 3 points.

Commodities jumped ahead at the outset, eased off and rallied again. Wheat closed near the highs for gains of 3 1-8 to 3 3-4 cents a bushel, and other grains made corresponding advances. Cotton futures were up a dollar a bale; silver jumped 2 cents an ounce; rubber, hides, silk, and copper made smaller gains. The dollar declined in terms of foreign exchanges, especially the silver currencies.

Bonds rallied late in the day. United States government issues, however, declined with the dollar.

Stock sales today were 2,420,000 shares as against 1,020,000 shares yesterday. Curb sales were 457,000 shares as against 152,000 shares yesterday.

Dow Jones preliminary averages showed industrial, 98.88, up 2.28; railroad, 40.37, up 1.24, utility 22.00, up 0.14.

Hamlin who is 19 years old had been accused of attacking the 21-year-old divorcee in an apartment at Seal Beach where he had taken her the night of November 26.

ONE KILLED IN AIR CRASH IN HOUSTON

HOUSTON, Texas., Dec. 22. —(UP)—The fatal crash of Roy Rosenberger, 45, of Houston, in his airplane here late yesterday was blamed today on an air pocket encountered while attempting to gain altitude.

He is survived by his widow and a daughter and a son; also by two brothers, Raymond J. Rosenberger, Asheville, N. C., and Ralph L. Rosenberger, Los Angeles.

Presiding Judge Named for Year

Superior Judge H. G. Ames, department one, superior court, this morning started service of one year as presiding judge of the superior court in Orange county, succeeding Judge G. K. Scovel, of department three.

Appointment of Judge Ames was made yesterday in an order signed by Judges Scovel and James L. Allen. Judge Ames will continue as judge of the juvenile court where he has served for the past seven years and will also preside over department one.

Transients Get $150 In Jewelry

Two hitchhikers who stayed at the Edgar hotel last night and disappeared this morning with jewelry valued at about $150, were being sought by sheriff's officers and police today.

ROOSEVELT IN NEW MOVE TO BOOST PRICES

New Silver Coins

The effect of the plan will be to pump approximately $15,500,000 of new silver coins into circulation yearly to aid the administration in reaching its objective of lifting commodity prices to their 1926 radio to buying power.

In addition to its currency expansion effect, the plan is expected to be a boon to western mining and stimulate the United States' trade with foreign countries using and producing silver, principally China, India, Mexico and South America, their monetary primary money.

The enhanced price of silver will make profitable the extraction of silver from low-grade complex ores, leading to a mining revival expected to give employment not only to thousands of miners, but to thousands in the lagging mining machinery industry and in other lines where the miners' earnings will be spent.

The cost of extracting silver from the complex ores of the west has risen in recent years.

At the recent low prices of silver, the cost of extracting it was more than its value as a commodity. Now, many experts believe it will be profitable to work the low grade ores.

The president's announcement came a few hours after disclosure that the reconstruction finance corporation had spent close to $50,000,000 in the last two months in its foreign gold purchases in efforts to force depreciation of the dollar in foreign markets.

The only bright spot in the whole picture was the diminishing wind on the coast which today allowed 15 vessels storm bound at Astoria for days to pass out of the Columbia river to sea.

The Willamette and Columbia rivers, fed by thousands of smaller streams many of which were out of their banks continued to rise and flood stage was forecast for Portland.

River Rising

The Cowlitz river was rising at the rate of two-tenths of a foot an hour and had reached the 25-foot stage. The Lewis river, which was inundating Woodland rose rapidly today when it became necessary to open all the flood gates on the huge Ariel power dam, loosing 165,000 second-feet of water. Calls for boats to aid in the evacuation of the residents of Woodland were sent as far as Portland, 40 miles away.

Rainfall was extremely heavy, Portland measuring 2:46 inches in the past 24 hours, Seattle, .66; North Head, .84; Salem 1.86. Astoria has had more than 27 inches since Dec. 1, shattering all previous records.

The forecast offered no relief. A storm which was expected to bring rain but not much wind, centered off Vancouver Island today and another was moving eastward in the mid-Pacific.

Flood conditions existed in innumerable small areas throughout the entire region north of California and west of the Cascade mountains. Schools were forced to close.

JUDGMENT AGAINST CITY IS AFFIRMED

Word was received here today that the fourth district court of appeals had confirmed the decision of Superior Judge H. G. Ames in awarding damages amounting to $3900 to B. Uttley against the city of Santa Ana. Notice of the appellate court's decision upholding the lower court was received this morning by City Attorney Clyde Downing and Attorney Charles Swanner who represented Utley in the suit.

Uttley was awarded damage against the city for injuries he received when an automobile in which he was riding struck a dip in the street across Broadway at Tenth street.

Son and Heir For Health Official

Dr. E. L. Russell of the Orange county health department is receiving the congratulations of friends and fellow workers over the birth Wednesday night to Mrs. Russell of a son. The baby was born at the Santa Ana Valley hospital and, according to Dr. Russell, both mother and child are doing well. The boy will be greeted by his two older sisters. The proud father asserts that the new son has a fine healthy pair of lungs.

The latest one is you buy it in the lobby of the hotel at the news stand, then take it in the dining-room and drink it. "Give me a quart of gin, the morning Times, a pint of French Vermouth, and American Mercury, some Angastora bitters, Physical Culture Magazine, and a box of Baer's aspirin."

See where they captured an American spy in France. He must have been working on his own for we already know all we want to know about 'em.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

JURY CLEARS YOUTH OF ATTACK CHARGE

Leland Bud Hamlin was acquitted yesterday of a charge of attacking Mrs. Thelma Whitesell Garland, Garden Grove divorcee, through a verdict returned to Superior Judge H. G. Ames by a jury that deliberated less than two hours. Hamlin who is 19 years old had been accused of attacking the 21-year-old divorcee in an apartment at Seal Beach where he had taken her the night of November 26.

ONE KILLED IN AIR CRASH IN HOUSTON

HOUSTON, Texas., Dec. 22. —(UP)—The fatal crash of Roy Rosenberger, 45, of Houston, in his airplane here late yesterday was blamed today on an air pocket encountered while attempting to gain altitude.

He is survived by his widow and a daughter and a son; also by two brothers, Raymond J. Rosenberger, Asheville, N. C., and Ralph L. Rosenberger, Los Angeles.

Presiding Judge Named for Year

Superior Judge H. G. Ames, department one, superior court, this morning started service of one year as presiding judge of the superior court in Orange county, succeeding Judge G. K. Scovel, of department three.

Appointment of Judge Ames was made yesterday in an order signed by Judges Scovel and James L. Allen. Judge Ames will continue as judge of the juvenile court where he has served for the past seven years and will also preside over department one.

Transients Get $150 In Jewelry

Two hitchhikers who stayed at the Edgar hotel last night and disappeared this morning with jewelry valued at about $150, were being sought by sheriff's officers and police today.

Mrs. Eleanor Edgar, hotel manager and owner of the valuables, said she thought the men were headed for San Diego and had several hours start before the loss was discovered.

New Silver Coins

The effect of the plan will be to pump approximately $15,500,000 of new silver coins into circulation yearly to aid the administration in reaching its objective of lifting commodity prices to their 1926 radio to buying power.

In addition to its currency expansion effect, the plan is expected to be a boon to western mining and stimulate the United States' trade with foreign countries using and producing silver, principally China, India, Mexico and South America, their monetary primary money.

The enhanced price of silver will make profitable the extraction of silver from low-grade complex ores, leading to a mining revival expected to give employment not only to thousands of miners, but to thousands in the lagging mining machinery industry and in other lines where the miners' earnings will be spent.

The cost of extracting silver from the complex ores of the west has risen in recent years.

At the recent low prices of silver, the cost of extracting it was more than its value as a commodity. Now, many experts believe it will be profitable to work the low grade ores.

The president's announcement came a few hours after disclosure that the reconstruction finance corporation had spent close to $50,000,000 in the last two months in its foreign gold purchases in efforts to force depreciation of the dollar in foreign markets.

The only bright spot in the whole picture was the diminishing wind on the coast which today allowed 15 vessels storm bound at Astoria for days to pass out of the Columbia river to sea.

The Willamette and Columbia rivers, fed by thousands of smaller streams many of which were out of their banks continued to rise and flood stage was forecast for Portland.

River Rising

The Cowlitz river was rising at the rate of two-tenths of a foot an hour and had reached the 25-foot stage. The Lewis river, which was inundating Woodland rose rapidly today when it became necessary to open all the flood gates on the huge Ariel power dam, loosing 165,000 second-feet of water. Calls for boats to aid in the evacuation of the residents of Woodland were sent as far as Portland, 40 miles away.

Rainfall was extremely heavy, Portland measuring 2.46 inches in the past 24 hours, Seattle, .66; North Head, .84; Salem 1.86. Astoria has had more than 27 inches since Dec. 1, shattering all previous records.

The forecast offered no relief. A storm which was expected to bring rain but not much wind, centered off Vancouver Island today and another was moving eastward in the mid-Pacific.

Flood conditions existed in innumerable small areas throughout the entire region north of California and west of the Cascade mountains. Schools were forced to close.

JUDGMENT AGAINST CITY IS AFFIRMED

Word was received here today that the fourth district court of appeals had confirmed the decision of Superior Judge H. G. Ames in awarding damages amounting to $3900 to B. Uttley against the city of Santa Ana. Notice of the appellate court's decision upholding the lower court was received this morning by City Attorney Clyde Downing and Attorney Charles Swanner who represented Uttley in the suit.

Uttley was awarded damage against the city for injuries he received when an automobile in which he was riding struck a dip in the street across Broadway at Tenth street.

Son and Heir For Health Official

Dr. E. L. Russell of the Orange county health department is receiving the congratulations of friends and fellow workers over the birth Wednesday night to Mrs. Russell of a son. The baby was born at the Santa Ana Valley hospital and, according to Dr. Russell, both mother and child are doing well. The boy will be greeted by his two older sisters. The proud father asserts that the new son has a fine healthy pair of lungs.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

A wise man has said, "Every attainment is found midway between a risk and an opportunity." God summons you to take a splendid risk which challenges every ounce of courage, patience and hope. Risk believing that it is because God loves you so much that He must not spare you the pain which will clarify your conviction regarding what is worth striving for here on earth.

WADE—Jack Laverne Wade, aged three, passed away last night at the St. Joseph's hospital following an illness of six week's duration. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wade of Long Reach and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Loptien, of Orange. Funeral services are to be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Gillogly Funeral chapel, Orange, with Dr. J. E. Dunning of the Orange Methodist church officiating. Interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

George Carey, 75, 320 West Walnut street, escaped injury yesterday morning when he fainted while driving at Walnut and Main streets. His car jumped the curb, veered back into the street and stopped after striking a parked car.

ANAHEIM MAN ASSUMES POST HERE TODAY

Robert Ramsey, of Anaheim, well-known Orange county Democrat and publisher of the Orange County News, weekly newspaper, this morning took over duties as director of the Orange County Civil Works Administration. Ramsey is succeeding County Welfare Director B. V. Curry who has been serving without pay as acting director since organization of the CWA here.

Ramsey was appointed to the post late yesterday by the Orange County CWA committee after several days spent considering numerous applications for the post. At the time the appointment of Ramsey was annuonced by J. K. McDonald, chairman of the committee, plans for removal of the CWA offices from the court house annex to the Hill building, corner of Fourth and Spurgeon streets, were revealed. McDonald said that removal of the offices was necessary because of the lack of room in the present quarters in the court house annex.

Taking over the office this morning Ramsey said, "I have not been on the job long enough to make a formal statement other than that I appreciate the appointment and will do my best to administer affairs of the CWA in accord with the humanitarian policies of President Roosevelt."

According to members of the CWA committee appointment of Ramsey to direct work of the Orange County Civil Works Administration is in line with federal instruction to divorce affairs of the CWA from those of direct relief agencies. This order is in effect in federal and state offices as well as in county administration offices, they reported. Curry will continue as director of the Emergency Relief Administration in Orange county which is the direct relief agency in this county, it was announced.

Ramsey said that Curry will be associated with him in concluding affairs of the office for two weeks or as long as it will require for him to become familiar with all details of the job.

Ramsey said that while he will retain his interest in the Orange County News he will have nothing to do with its editorial policy. Policies of the publication, he said, will be dictated by his partner, W. H. Wright, who will be active ly in charge of the paper.

In announcing Ramsey's appointment this morning McDonald said "After considering all other applicants for the position of director the members of the committee selected Mr. Ramsey and we feel that he will fit into the work in a very admirable manner.

"At the same time this committee wishes to express its appreciation for the work done by Mr. Curry in handling affairs of the CWA pending appointment of a director."

DIRECTOR

RAILWAYS ASK FOR PAYMENT REFUNDS

Cases of the Southern Pacific Railway Company and the Santa Fe Railway against the county of Orange and the City of Santa Ana for recovery of assessments paid for street improvement work on Fruit street were ordered submitted on briefs yesterday by Superior Judge H. G. Ames after a brief hearing.

Both railway companies alleged in their suits that the assessments were illegal and void as at the time the improvement was ordered the land against which the assessments were levied had been dedicated and were a portion of the public streets.

The Santa Fe company is seeking recovery of $57.44 paid under protest as partial payment on the total assessment of $952.46 and the Southern Pacific company is seeking recovery of $77.88 as partial payment on an assessment of $952.46. The Southern Pacific company also filed a letter of protest at the time the assessment was paid.

Display Window At Store Robbed

The loss was discovered between 6 and 7 p. m. by store attendants. The clock was valued at $5, the pen and pencil set at $15 and the fountain pen at $3.50.

Staff Enjoys Gift Of Funeral Home

Christmas greetings in the form of a five-pound box of candy and a box of cigars were brought to the news staff of The Register today by Ernie Winbigler, of the Winbigler Funeral home. Members of the staff greatly enjoyed the much appreciated remembrance.

BANKER URGES QUICK ANSWER ON YULE SEALS

Mislaid and forgotten Christmas Seals are a tremendous handicap to the tuberculosis campaign, according to an announcement made today by A. J. Cruickshank, treasurer of the California Tuberculosis association.

Cruickshank urged that a prompt response be made to the seal sale now in progress, declaring that the purchase of Christmas Seals should never be allowed to become "unfinished business."

He pointed out that prevention of tuberculosis is cheaper than cure and that the people of California know that the work of the associations not only protects them individually, but also greatly lowers the death rate and greatly decreases the costs from this disease which they pay for through taxes.

"Fifty million dollars is the present yearly loss to the state caused by tuberculosis," he said, "and this amount would be three times larger if the death rate of 30 years ago had continued. A small fraction of this amount spent for Christmas Seals has helped greatly in making this saving possible. If we continue our program of prevention, greater reductions can be made."

Greatest harm comes from those persons that realize the value of the tubercular preventative work, but who forget to send in their money for the seals sent them, he said.

SEAL SALE DRIVE TO END SATURDAY

The final broadcast by the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health Association from KREG will present Mrs. Glen A. Young of Santa Ana, secretary of the association and a musical program by the Santa Ana Girl Reserves. The time of the last broadcast is at 12 noon, tomorrow. The daily except Sunday and Monday programs have been broadcast for the past month in behalf of the Christmas Seal Sale campaign.

Max J. Kelly, 28, 801 West First street, was booked at the county jail for drunkenness at 2:50 p. m. yesterday after he was arrested by Officers Harry Fink and Charles Wolford for participating in a fight at the Black Cat cafe, Fifth and Bush streets. He was released without bail last night.

Thomas Kennedy, alias Van Wagoner, 35, Los Angeles boxer, was booked at the county jail last night for violation of parole by federal officers.

Burton Verdhoof, 57, 710 South Birch street, was arrested by police and taken to the county jail charged with drunkenness at 8:25 last night after being found at Broadway and Chestnut streets lying on the parking.

A large fumigating tent was stolen from Herman Algar, R. D. 2, Box 125, Anaheim, he reported to sheriff's officers yesterday.

Ethelyn Grainger, 346 West Melvern street, Fullerton, had her automobile stolen last night in Anaheim, she reported to the sheriff's office.

Twenty-four chickens were stolen from the ranch of Sterling Price, First and Cannery streets, Bolsa, Wednesday night, it was reported to the sheriff's office. A small amount of gasoline was also stolen from a truck.

Salvador Andrade, 1027 Logan street, had his automobile stolen from Sixth and French streets last night, he reported to police.

L. E. Middleton, Anaheim, had his automobile stolen from the Anaheim city plunge last night between 5 to 8 p. m., he reported to sheriff's officers.

MAN WOUNDED MYSTERIOUSLY DURING POLICE CHASE OF SUSPECT IN CROWDED STREETS

Thrilling hundreds of holiday shoppers in the business district last night, city police officers engaged in a chase after a fleeing shoplifter which resulted in the mysterious shooting of a bystander, Roger McCarthy, colored bootblack, 719 East Second street, who was wounded at Third and Bush streets while walking home.

Officers J. F. McWilliams and C. E. Neer were called to the Famous Department store at 6:30 to arrest Roma Fay Owings, 22, 1636 Palm avenue, who had been taken in custody by store officials on charges of shoplifting. Owings broke away from the officers as they left the store and was recaptured at Second and Bush streets after running more than four blocks with McWilliams in pursuit.

Two conflicting stories are told concerning the shooting of McCarthy, who received a painful wound in the left hand. He claims that he saw Officer McWilliams fire from the entrance of an alley on Bush street between Third and Fourth and that the bullet struck him in the hand. He had stopped midway across the street, when he heard the officer shout "Stop that man!" McCarthy said.

McWilliams denied that he shot at Owings but said he fired three shots in the air to frighten the alleged shoplifter, two on Fourth street and again once in the alley between Main and Bush streets. He said it was impossible for him to see the intersection at Third and Bush when he shot the last time, and that he could not have hit McCarthy.

Mysterious Assailant

Officer C. V. Adams, standing at Third and Main streets when the shooting began, said he ran east to head off Owings and was startled to hear a gunshot behind him. Turning around, he saw a man standing by a small coupe at the rear of the Temple theater, who had just fired in the direction of McCarthy and Owings, who were close together at the time. Adams did not stop to arrest the alleged assailant, he said, but joined McWilliams in chasing Owings, who was finally stopped in the Henley Auto Park at Second and Bush streets by Burt Mansur, 23, parking attendant, and several other bystanders.

When the officers returned to the corner, they found McCarthy lying in the street and no trace of the coupe which Adams had seen. Officer Neer had arrived with a police car in the meantime and took both Owings and McCarthy to the Orange County hospital, where the wounded man was given treatment. The bullet had entered the fleshy part of the hand and emerged from the other side, it was learned.

Returning to the scene of the shooting after Owings was lodged at the county jail for investigation of burglary and atempt to escape from an officer, Adams found a .32 caliber shell on the sidewalk where the coupe was said to have been standing, police reports said. McWilliams was shooting .38 caliber bullets.

Physicians who treated McCarthy at the hospital said that the wound was caused by a large caliber bullet and caused a jagged tear.

Held at Store

Owings was placed under arrest originally by Walter McVickers, head of the shoe department in the store. Noticing the man with a new pair of shoes and suspicious bundle under his sweater, McVicker followed him to the door of the store and questioned him. Finding a stolen alarm clock, he took Owings to the basement to await the arrival of officers. Owings made a break to escape, McVickers said, but was restrained by the salesman and held securely.

McWilliams said the man offered no resistance until they reached the door, when he broke away and dashed west on Fourth street. Firing two shots, he following Owings south on Main street, through the alley and then south on Bush. The crowds on the sidewalks and darkness made it hard to follow the fugitive, McWilliams said. The officer said he fired all three shots straight in the air and said that Owings admitted that none of the bullets came near him.

Owings readily admitted stealing from several stores, officers said. He was wearing a new pair of shoes stolen from Karl's shoe store, had a knife from the Kress store and had stolen a small wagon from a hardware store, which was later recovered at his home. Owings told police his wife was waiting in their car and knew he was planning to steal the clock from the department store.

McCarthy said he was undecided whether to take any action against the city and would await further investigation.

James Steele, 24 and George F. LaBarba, 38, newspaper solicitors, standing across the street from the shooting, told police that they heard no bullets but could not see the intersection because of the darkness.

Shoppers on the sidewalks dashed into doorways when the shooting began on Fourth street and a large crowd gathered when it was learned a man had been shot.

TUSTIN ARTIST GETS CWA APPOINTMENT

Ada May Sharpless, Tustin sculptoress, has been employed to sculpture a group of three figures for use in a public library under the new provisions of the CWA for furnishing employment for artists, it was learned today.

The appointment came from Merle Armitage, Los Angeles, chairman of the regional committee on fine arts, which will direct employment of artists under the CWA. His committee will include a painter, an architect, a sculptor and one or more art collectors and leaders of art societies.

Miss Sharpless, who is well known in the Southland as a talented sculptoress, has had her work displayed in Paris salons. The monument of Don Cabrillo, which graces the fountain in the yard of the Charles W. Bowers Museum at Twentieth and Main streets, is one of her creations.

Pastor Appeals For Response To Seal Campaign

The Rev. Robert Burns McAulay of Orange, during abroadcast today over KREG reminded the many persons in Orange county who so far in their pre-Christmas rush have not reported, to remit their contributions for the Christmas Seals mailed to them at Thanksgiving.

Hhe stated, "The plans of the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association for the future are dependent on the successful sale of Christmas Seals. With the present economic recovery, we should back the tuberculosis association for their splendid health activities at this time."

Salesman Faces Bad Check Charge

Norman M. Harvey, 36, Los Angeles salesman, was arraigned in justice court yesterday afternoon on a charge of issuing fictitious checks with intent to defraud and had his examination set for hearing on December 27 at 9 a. m. He was charged with passing bad checks at Safeway stores in La Habra and Brea on November 18 and 27, using checks from the Bank of America in Fullerton and La Habra. He is being held in the county jail under $1500 bail.

BURGLARY SUSPECT IS HELD GUILTY

Lewis LeClair of Anaheim was found guilty late yesterday by a jury in department three, superior court on a charge of second degree burglary. Following his conviction LeClair filed application for probation which will be heard by Superior G. K. Scovel December 29.

LeClair was accused of entering the garage of Joseph Trendle, 420 North Claudina street, Anaheim and stealing a quantity of tools. Trendle testified that later he recovered a portion of the tools from second hand stores in Anaheim and Fullerton.

Officer Loses $50 And Badge At Big Charity Ball Here

That was the message given by H. E. Carter, 829 Garfield street, after he discovered last night that he had lost his billfold while attending the Charity ball at the Elks club.

Carter told police he did not realize his loss until after the dance, when he went to a cafe and found his purse missing. The special police badge was clasped on the outside of the bill fold.

Alice Duke Badly Injured In Fall

Mrs. Duke, mother of George Duke, linotype operator at The Register, fell from the back porch to a walk, it was learned here today. She was removed to St Bernadin's hospital in San Bernardino for treatment.

THREE GUNMEN SHOT DOWN BY 20 POLICEMEN

His command was answered by a fusillade of shots. Reynolds dashed to the door and forced it open.

One gunman was in the room. Two shots from T olds' gun struck him in the head. The other two men were barricaded in another room. One stood his ground, firing revolvers held in each hand. The third retreated to the kitchen, were he was cornered and slain.

None of the policemen was injured. A search of the apartment revealed seven pistols, three revolvers, and five bullet-proof vests.

Two women who arrived at the apartment shortly after the raid were held for questioning.

Dillinger and a gang man companion shot their way from a police trap several weeks ago. One of the gang later killed Sergt. William T. Shanley of the Chicago police force. Wednesday an Indiana state policeman was shot to death in the capture of another, Eddie Shouse, at Paris, Ill.

A WORD OF COMFORT

A wise man has said, "Every attainment is found midway between a risk and an opportunity." God summons you to take a splendid risk which challenges every ounce of courage, patience and hope. Risk believing that it is because God loves you so much that He must not spare you the pain which will clarify your conviction regarding what is worth striving for here on earth.

WADE—Jack Laverne Wade, aged three, passed away last night at the St. Joseph's hospital following an illness of six week's duration. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wade of Long Beach and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Loptien, of Orange. Funeral services are to be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Gillogly Funeral chapel, Orange, with Dr. J. E. Dunning of the Orange Methodist church officiating. Interment will be made in Fairhaven cemetery.

Local Briefs

Lloyd Heams, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Heams, 2003 Oak street, received a broken left arm yesterday when a cellar door fell on him at his home. He was given treatment at the Orange County hospital.

* * *

Although Frederic W. Sanford, secretary of the Orange County Builders Exchange, is well on the road to recovery after a serious illness which resulted in pneumonia, it will be about 10 days before he will be able to be active again, it was learned today.

* * *

George Carey, 75, 320 West Walnut street, escaped injury yesterday morning when he fainted while driving at Walnut and Main streets. His car jumped the curb, veered back into the street and stopped after striking a parked car.

ANAHEIM MAN ASSUMES POST HERE TODAY

Robert Ramsey, of Anaheim, well-known Orange county Democrat and publisher of the Orange County News, weekly newspaper, this morning took over duties as director of the Orange County Civil Works Administration. Ramsey is succeeding County Welfare Director B. V. Curry who has been serving without pay as acting director since organization of the CWA here.

Ramsey was appointed to the post late yesterday by the Orange County CWA committee after several days spent considering numerous applications for the post. At the time the appointment of Ramsey was annuonced by J. K. McDonald, chairman of the committee, plans for removal of the CWA offices from the court house annex to the Hill building, corner of Fourth and Spurgeon streets, were revealed. McDonald said that removal of the offices was necessary because of the lack of room in the present quarters in the court house annex.

Taking over the office this morning Ramsey said, "I have not been on the job long enough to make a formal statement other than that I appreciate the appointment and will do my best to administer affairs of the CWA in accord with the humanitarian policies of President Roosevelt."

According to members of the CWA committee appointment of Ramsey to direct work of the Orange County Civil Works Administration is in line with federal instruction to divorce affairs of the CWA from those of direct relief agencies. This order is in effect in federal and state offices as well as in county administration offices, they reported. Curry will continue as director of the Emergency Relief Administration in Orange county which is the direct relief agency in this county, it was announced.

Ramsey said that Curry will be associated with him in concluding affairs of the office for two weeks or as long as it will require for him to become familiar with all details of the job.

Ramsey said that while he will retain his interest in the Orange County News he will have nothing to do with its editorial policy. Policies of the publication, he said, will be dictated by his partner, W. H. Wright, who will be actively in charge of the paper.

In announcing Ramsey's appointment this morning McDonald said "After considering all other applicants for the position of director the members of the committee selected Mr. Ramsey and we feel that he will fit into the work in a very admirable manner.

"At the same time this committee wishes to express its appreciation for the work done by Mr. Curry in handling affairs of the CWA pending appointment of a director."

RAILWAYS ASK FOR PAYMENT REFUNDS

Cases of the Southern Pacific Railway Company and the Santa Fe Railway against the county of Orange and the City of Santa Ana for recovery of assessments paid for street improvement work on Fruit street were ordered submitted on briefs yesterday by Superior Judge H. G. Ames after a brief hearing.

Both railway companies alleged in their suits that the assessments were illegal and void as at the time the improvement was ordered the land against which the assessments were levied had been dedicated and were a portion of the public streets.

The Santa Fe company is seeking recovery of $57.44 paid under protest as partial payment on the total assessment of $952.46 and the Southern Pacific company is seeking recovery of $77.88 as partial payment on an assessment of $952.46. The Southern Pacific company also filed a letter of protest at the time the assessment was paid.

Display Window At Store Robbed

Activity of shoplifters in Santa Ana during the Christmas rush was evidenced last evening when an electric clock, pen and pencil set and fountain pen were taken from a showcase at Stein's Stationery store, 307 West Fourth street.

The loss was discovered between 6 and 7 p. m. by store attendants. The clock was valued at $5, the pen and pencil set at $15 and the fountain pen at $3.50.

Staff Enjoys Gift Of Funeral Home

Christmas greetings in the form of a five-pound box of candy and a box of cigars were brought to the news staff of The Register today by Ernie Winbigler, of the Winbigler Funeral home. Members of the staff greatly enjoyed the much appreciated remembrance.

DIRECTOR

BANKER URGES QUICK ANSWER ON YULE SEALS

Mislaid and forgotten Christmas Seals are a tremendous handicap to the tuberculosis campaign, according to an announcement made today by A. J. Cruickshank, treasurer of the California Tuberculosis association.

Cruickshank urged that a prompt response be made to the seal sale now in progress, declaring that the purchase of Christmas Seals should never be allowed to become "unfinished business."

He pointed out that prevention of tuberculosis is cheaper than cure and that the people of California know that the work of the associations not only protects them individually, but also greatly lowers the death rate and greatly decreases the costs from this disease which they pay for through taxes.

"Fifty million dollars is the present yearly loss to the state caused by tuberculosis," he said, "and this amount would be three times larger if the death rate of 30 years ago had continued. A small fraction of this amount spent for Christmas Seals has helped greatly in making this saving possible. If we continue our program of prevention, greater reductions can be made."

Greatest harm comes from those persons that realize the value of the tubercular preventative work, but who forget to send in their money for the seals sent them, he said.

SEAL SALE DRIVE TO END SATURDAY

The final broadcast by the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health Association from KREG will present Mrs. Glen A. Young of Santa Ana, secretary of the association and a musical program by the Santa Ana Girl Reserves. The time of the last broadcast is at 12 noon, tomorrow. The daily except Sunday and Monday programs have been broadcast for the past month in behalf of the Christmas Seal Sale campaign.

L. E. Middleton, Anaheim, had his automobile stolen from the Anaheim city plunge last night between 5 to 8 p. m., he reported to sheriff's officers.

Thrilling hundreds of holiday shoppers in the business district last night, city police officers engaged in a chase after a fleeing shoplifter which resulted in the mysterious shooting of a bystander, Roger McCarthy, colored bootblack, 719 East Second street, who was wounded at Third and Bush streets while walking home.

Officers J. F. McWilliams and C. E. Neer were called to the Famous Department store at 6:30 to arrest Roma Fay Owings, 22, 1636 Palm avenue, who had been taken in custody by store officials on charges of shoplifting. Owings broke away from the officers as they left the store and was recaptured at Second and Bush streets after running more than four blocks with McWilliams in pursuit.

Two conflicting stories are told concerning the shooting of McCarthy, who received a painful wound in the left hand. He claims that he saw Officer McWilliams fire from the entrance of an alley on Bush street between Third and Fourth and that the bullet struck him in the hand. He had stopped midway across the street, when he heard the officer shout "Stop that man!" McCarthy said.

McWilliams denied that he shot at Owings but said he fired three shots in the air to frighten the alleged shoplifter, two on Fourth street and again once in the alley between Main and Bush streets. He said it was impossible for him to see the intersection at Third and Bush when he shot the last time, and that he could not have hit McCarthy.

Mysterious Assailant

Officer C. V. Adams, standing at Third and Main streets when the shooting began, said he ran east to head off Owings and was startled to hear a gunshot behind him. Turning around, he saw a man standing by a small coupe at the rear of the Temple theater, who had just fired in the direction of McCarthy and Owings, who were close together at the time. Adams did not stop to arrest the alleged assailant, he said, but joined McWilliams in chasing Owings, who was finally stopped in the Henley Auto Park at Second and Bush streets by Burt Mansur, 23, parking attendant, and several other bystanders.

When the officers returned to the corner, they found McCarthy lying in the street and no trace of the coupe which Adams had seen. Officer Neer had arrived with a police car in the meantime and took both Owings and McCarthy to the Orange County hospital, where the wounded man was given treatment. The bullet had entered the fleshy part of the hand and emerged from the other side, it was learned.

Returning to the scene of the shooting after Owings was lodged at the county jail for investigation of burglary and atempt to escape from an officer, Adams found a .32 caliber shell on the sidewalk where the coupe was said to have been standing, police reports said. McWilliams was shooting .38 caliber bullets.

Physicians who treated McCarthy at the hospital said that the wound was caused by a large caliber bullet and caused a jagged tear.

Held at Store

Owings was placed under arrest originally by Walter McVickers, head of the shoe department in the store. Noticing the man with a new pair of shoes and suspicious bundle under his sweater, McVicker followed him to the door of the store and questioned him. Finding a stolen alarm clock, he took Owings to the basement to await the arrival of officers. Owings made a break to escape, McVickers said, but was restrained by the salesman and held securely.

McWilliams said the man offered no resistance until they reached the door, when he broke away and dashed west on Fourth street. Firing two shots, he following Owings south on Main street, through the alley and then south on Bush. The crowds on the sidewalks and darkness made it hard to follow the fugitive, McWilliams said. The officer said he fired all three shots straight in the air and said that Owings admitted that none of the bullets came near him.

Owings readily admitted stealing from several stores, officers said. He was wearing a new pair of shoes stolen from Karl's shoe store, had a knife from the Kress store and had stolen a small wagon from a hardware store, which was later recovered at his home. Owings told police his wife was waiting in their car and knew he was planning to steal the clock from the department store.

McCarthy said he was undecided whether to take any action against the city and would await further investigation.

James Steele, 24 and George F. LaBarba, 38, newspaper solicitors, standing across the street from the shooting, told police that they heard no bullets but could not see the intersection because of the darkness.

Shoppers on the sidewalks dashed into doorways when the shooting began on Fourth street and a large crowd gathered when it was learned a man had been shot.

TUSTIN ARTIST GETS CWA APPOINTMENT

Ada May Sharpless, Tustin sculptoress, has been employed to sculpture a group of three figures for use in a public library under the new provisions of the CWA for furnishing employment for artists, it was learned today.

The appointment came from Merle Armitage, Los Angeles, chairman of the regional committee on fine arts, which will direct employment of artists under the CWA. His committee will include a painter, an architect, a sculptor and one or more art collectors and leaders of art societies.

Miss Sharpless, who is well known in the Southland as a talented sculptoress, has had her work displayed in Paris salons. The monument of Don Cabrillo, which graces the fountain in the yard of the Charles W. Bowers Museum at Twentieth and Main streets, is one of her creations.

Pastor Appeals For Response To Seal Campaign

The Rev. Robert Burns McAulay of Orange, during abroadcast today over KREG reminded the many persons in Orange county who so far in their pre-Christmas rush have not reported, to remit their contributions for the Christmas Seals mailed to them at Thanksgiving.

Hhe stated, "The plans of the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association for the future are dependent on the successful sale of Christmas Seals. With the present economic recovery, we should back the tuberculosis association for their splendid health activities at this time."

Salesman Faces Bad Check Charge

Norman M. Harvey, 36, Los Angeles salesman, was arraigned in justice court yesterday afternoon on a charge of issuing fictitious checks with intent to defraud and had his examination set for hearing on December 27 at 9 a. m. He was charged with passing bad checks at Safeway stores in La Habra and Brea on November 18 and 27, using checks from the Bank of America in Fullerton and La Habra. He is being held in the county jail under $1500 bail.

BURGLARY SUSPECT IS HELD GUILTY

Lewis LeClair of Anaheim was found guilty late yesterday by a jury in department three, superior court on a charge of second degree burglary. Following his conviction LeClair filed application for probation which will be heard by Superior G. K. Scovel December 29.

LeClair was accused of entering the garage of Joseph Trendle, 420 North Claudina street, Anaheim and stealing a quantity of tools. Trendle testified that later he recovered a portion of the tools from second hand stores in Anaheim and Fullerton.

That was the message given by H. E. Carter, 829 Garfield street, after he discovered last night that he had lost his billfold while attending the Charity ball at the Elks club.

Carter told police he did not realize his loss until after the dance, when he went to a cafe and found his purse missing. The special police badge was clasped on the outside of the bill fold.

Alice Duke Badly Injured In Fall

Mrs. Duke, mother of George Duke, linotype operator at The Register, fell from the back porch to a walk, it was learned here today. She was removed to St Bernadin's hospital in San Bernardino for treatment.

THREE GUNMEN SHOT DOWN BY 20 POLICEMEN

His command was answered by a fusillade of shots. Reynolds dashed to the door and forced it open.

One gunman was in the room. Two shots from Reynolds' gun struck him in the head. The other two men were barricaded in another room. One stood his ground, firing revolvers held in each hand. The third retreated to the kitchen, were he was cornered and slain.

None of the policemen was injured. A search of the apartment revealed seven pistols, three revolvers, and five bullet-proof vests.

Two women who arrived at the apartment shortly after the raid were held for questioning.

Dillinger and a woman companion shot their way from a police trap several weeks ago. One of the gang later killed Sergt. William T. Shanley of the Chicago police force. Wednesday an Indiana state policeman was shot to death in the capture of another, Eddie Shouse, at Paris, Ill.

SAYS YOUTH OF HAWAII LOYAL TO THIS NATION

America need have no fear of a foreign power reaching out to grasp the Hawaiian Islands because in a time of crisis young people of the Islands would answer the call of the United States, because Hawaii has been strengthened through Americanization.

This was a message brought to a sympathetic audience last night by Arthur Chun, exchange student at Pomona college from the University of Hawaii, at a meeting in the Temple theater sponsored by the Santa Ana Council of International Relations.

The lavish beauty of the Islands, which tends to make everyone who lives there a worshiper of nature, and the sacrificing hospitality of the Hawaiians, have brought about a mingling of races in the Islands who are able to live side by side without any racial strife of any importance, Chun declared.

"Today we stand at the crossroads of international peace or war," the speaker declared. "In Hawaii we have an intermingling of racial antecedents of the world who are able to live side by side in racial harmony."

Traces History

He traced the history of the "Paradise of the Pacific," telling how a Polynesian navigator sailed into the harbor at Hilo 400 years before Columbus discovered America. The Hawaiian race now is in danger of extinction, he said, because of the intermingling of races. Of the former 400,000 pure-blooded Hawaiians, there now remain but 20,000, he said.

He described how thousands of Chinese coolies, Japanese, Filipinos, and other races had been imported to work in the sugar cane fields and how these workers had migrated to Honolulu and Hilo to go into business, with the result that mixture of the races ensued.

Because of the abundance of natural foods in the Islands, there is but little unemployment, Chun declared, putting the figure of unemployed at around 2000 persons out of a total population of around 395,000.

"The lavish splendor of the Islands," he said, "makes it impossible for anyone who lives there not to believe in a Supreme Being. It makes us feel like we all were walking on the same road, going to the same place, so why not walk together?

"Today Japanese, Chinese and other boys on the Islands are growing up just as much American citizens as anyone else. These young men are Americans. In time of crisis the United States can call on these young people and they will answer."

Chun told how the NRA came to the Islands and how chambers of commerce organized local groups to carry out the program even after General Johnson had told them that Hawaii was not to be included in codes operative in the United States.

The young man, who played football with Pomona college against the Santa Ana Junior college, brought a warm picture of home life and customs of his native land. He explained that his father was Chinese and his mother a full-blooded Hawaiian. He said that the younger generation does not possess its parents' ability to keep their own culture and master others. He explained how the Hawaiian language is built on music and love.

Answers Questions

In the forum period, presided over by Wilfred Taylor, president of the Council of International Relations, Chun answered many questions asked by an intent audience. He brought out the following points in answering the questions:

Many Hawaiians are settling on land given as homesteads by the government. During the past three years there has been a tendency for Japanese to intermarry. All kinds of liquors are found in the Islands. Missionaries are looked up to for bringing civilization to Hawaiians after they started to decline. Many of the descendants of misisonaries now are the wealthiest persons on the Islands.

Trustees of a Hawaiian school set aside for Hawaiians for the preservation of Hawaiian culture this year abolished the Hawaiian language at the school.

Three large canneries control most of the pineapple crop in the Islands. Until we have a world brotherhood we cannot have a world language. The sugar industry is controlled by wealthy Americans. Young people in Hawaii realize, as they do here, that when the capitalistic system fails, the people of the earth must join hands and work together.

At the conclusion of the address and forum, Chun demonstrated a native Hawaiian dance and sang native songs, accompanying himself on a ukelele.

Second Hook Foils Burglary

Two hooks on one screen door foiled a potential thief Wednesday night and made Dr. L. L. Whitson, 909 Spurgeon street, thankful he had taken extra precautions to guard against "screen cutting" burglars.

Dr. Whitson told police that the screen on the back porch had been cut and the top hook unlatched without difficulty. The lower hook however, was too far from the screen to unhook with a wire so the thief was forced to move on.

WARN CITIZENS TO USE CARE IN LOCKING HOMES

Warning citizens to take extra precautions in locking homes during the holidays, police today pointed to a wave of burglaries occurring in Santa Ana and vicinity, with three additional cases being reported last night and this morning.

W. M. Breckenridge, 1218 Lacy street, told police that some one entered his home between 8 and 10 last night and stole two blue sweaters, one ladies' sweater, six men's shirts and one pair of brown gloves. He said that a pass key must have been used because he remembered locking the doors securely.

Two $5 bills were taken from a box in a dresser at the home of Mrs. Fannie D. Huntoon, 910 West First street, sometime from 8 to 9 p. m. Tuesday night, police were notified yesterday. The house was entered by some one with a pass key, it was believed.

Failing to gain entrance by cutting a screen on the back porch, a persistent thief cut a screen and broke a window to gain admittance to the home of F. E. Smith, 2315 Fairmont avenue, it was reported to police yesterday. After climbing in the bedroom window, the intruder ransacked dresser drawers and piled dresses on a chair but was apparently frightened away as nothing was reported missing.

'WONDERLAND' CAST BRINGS 40 STARS

Paramount's big Christmas offering to the country is "Alice in Wonderland," one of the most unique pictures ever made. It opens a three day run at the Fox West Coast theater today.

With a cast which includes Charlotte Henry, Richard Arlen, Rosco Ates, Gary Cooper, Louise Fazenda, Roscoe Karnes, W. C. Fields, Mae Marsh, Edna May Oliver, May Robson, Charles Ruggles, Allison Skipworth, Ford Sterling, and some 20 other well known screen stars, the picture abounds in talent.

The film story follows the original book throughout and the characters are all made up to resemble the drawings in what has proven one of the greatest child's books ever published.

"LONE AVENGER" TO BE SHOWN AT STATE

There is an old saying that a criminal will always leave some clue to his crime . . . in other words there is no "perfect" crime.

In the case of the story of "The Lone Avenger" Ken Maynard's latest starring western now at Walker's State theater, the criminals slipped up when they forgot that Ken's father was left-handed and placed the gun with which he had been murdered in his right hand, hoping to make it look like suicide.

That one item might not have proven fatal had Ken not been so observing, but it furnished a clue upon which he could work and undercover the real criminals.

DISABLED VETS TO BE GUESTS AT YULE PARTY

Arrangements were completed today and a large crowd estimated in advance at around 500, is expected to attend the annual Christmas party for children and disabled veterans at 7 o'clock tonight in the Knights of Columbus hall at Fourth and French streets staged by Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World war, it was announced by Commander Harry S. Pickard.

Commander Pickard stressed that it is not necessary for the disabled veteran to be a member of the organization to attend the party and to bring members of his family.

"It's open house night tonight for disabled veterans and their families," he said, "and we want all disabled veterans to be our guests for the evening."

Santa Claus will make a personal appearance at the party and will give every child present a gift, some ice cream and candy. Refreshments will be served to all those present and entertainment will be furnished by the Meglin Kiddies.

FIRE CHIEFS HEAR TALK BY PHONE MANAGER

Stating that 90 per cent of the fire alarms are in the form of telephone calls, E. S. Morrow, district manager of the Southern California Telephone company, spoke before members of the Orange County Fire Chiefs' association a tthe Elks clubhouse in Anaheim last night. Morrow spoke on cooperation between telephone employes and firemen in combatting fires.

Fire chiefs and others present held a round table discussion on fires and their many causes, systems of keeping fire records, and matters that affect the positions of individuals in the service. Several important discussions will be carried over to the January meeting. Chief Frank Crocker, of Newport Beach, spoke briefly on general relief work.

Those present were chiefs, Crocker, president of the association; E. J. Tobias, of Garden Grove, secretary; W. S. Knighton, of Seal Beach; Oscar West, of Buena Park; R. Nyboe, of Anaheim; John Luxembourger, of Santa Ana; A. L. Tomblin, of Orange; and Roy Davis, of Fullerton. Others in attendance were E. S. Morrow, H. B. Potter, Fullerton; C. B. Snyder, Buena Park.

The next meeting will be held at Buena Park January 18.

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA

SAYS YOUTH OF HAWAII LOYAL TO THIS NATION

America need have no fear of a foreign power reaching out to grasp the Hawaiian Islands because in a time of crisis young people of the Islands would answer the call of the United States, because Hawaii has been strengthened through Americanization.

This was a message brought to a sympathetic audience last night by Arthur Chun, exchange student at Pomona college from the University of Hawaii, at a meeting in the Temple theater sponsored by the Santa Ana Council of International Relations.

The lavish beauty of the Islands, which tends to make everyone who lives there a worshiper of nature, and the sacrificing hospitality of the Hawaiians, have brought about a mingling of races in the Islands who are able to live side by side without any racial strife of any importance, Chun declared.

"Today we stand at the crossroads of international peace or war," the speaker declared. "In Hawaii we have an intermingling of racial antecedents of the world who are able to live side by side in racial harmony."

Traces History

He traced the history of the "Paradise of the Pacific," telling how a Polynesian navigator sailed into the harbor at Hilo 400 years before Columbus discovered America. The Hawaiian race now is in danger of extinction, he said, because of the intermingling of races. Of the former 400,000 pure-blooded Hawaiians, there now remain but 20,000, he said.

He described how thousands of Chinese coolies, Japanese, Filipinos, and other races had been imported to work in the sugar cane fields and how these workers had migrated to Honolulu and Hilo to go into business, with the result that mixture of the races ensued.

Because of the abundance of natural foods in the Islands, there is but little unemployment, Chun declared, putting the figure of unemployed at around 2000 persons out of a total population of around 395,000.

"The lavish splendor of the Islands," he said, "makes it impossible for anyone who lives there not to believe in a Supreme Being. It makes us feel like we all were walking on the same road, going to the same place, so why not walk together?

"Today Japanese, Chinese and other boys on the Islands are growing up just as much American citizens as anyone else. These young men are Americans. In time of crisis the United States can call on these young people and they will answer."

Chun told how the NRA came to the Islands and how chambers of commerce organized local groups to carry out the program even after General Johnson had told them that Hawaii was not to be included in codes operative in the United States.

The young man, who played football with Pomona college against the Santa Ana Junior college, brought a warm picture of home life and customs of his native land. He explained that his father was Chinese and his mother a full-blooded Hawaiian. He said that the younger generation does not possess its parents' ability to keep their own culture and master others. He explained how the Hawaiian language is built on music and love.

Answers Questions

In the forum period, presided over by Wilfred Taylor, president of the Council of International Relations, Chun answered many questions asked by an intent audience. He brought out the following points in answering the questions:

Many Hawaiians are settling on land given as homesteads by the government. During the past three years there has been a tendency for Japanese to intermarry. All kinds of liquors are found in the Islands. Missionaries are looked up to for bringing civilization to Hawaiians after they started to decline. Many of the descendants of misisonaries now are the wealthiest persons on the Islands.

Trustees of a Hawaiian school set aside for Hawaiians for the preservation of Hawaiian culture this year abolished the Hawaiian language at the school.

Three large canneries control most of the pineapple crop in the Islands. Until we have a world brotherhood we cannot have a world language. The sugar industry is controlled by wealthy Americans. Young people in Hawaii realize, as they do here, that when the capitalistic system fails, the people of the earth must join hands and work together.

At the conclusion of the address and forum, Chun demonstrated a native Hawaiian dance and sang native songs, accompanying himself on a ukelele.

Second Hook Foils Burglary

Two hooks on one screen door foiled a potential thief Wednesday night and made Dr. L. L. Whitson, 909 Spurgeon street, thankful he had taken extra precautions to guard against "screen cutting" burglars.

Dr. Whitson told police that the screen on the back porch had been cut and the top hook unlatched without difficulty. The lower hook, however, was too far from the screen to unhook with a wire so the thief was forced to move on.

WARN CITIZENS TO USE CARE IN LOCKING HOMES

Warning citizens to take extra precautions in locking homes during the holidays, police today pointed to a wave of burglaries occurring in Santa Ana and vicinity, with three additional cases being reported last night and this morning.

W. M. Breckenridge, 1218 Lacy street, told police that some one entered his home between 8 and 10 last night and stole two blue sweaters, one ladies' sweater, six men's shirts and one pair of brown gloves. He said that a pass key must have been used because he remembered locking the doors securely.

Two $5 bills were taken from a box in a dresser at the home of Mrs. Fannie D. Huntoon, 910 West First street, sometime from 8 to 9 p. m. Tuesday night, police were notified yesterday. The house was entered by some one with a pass key, it was believed.

Failing to gain entrance by cutting a screen on the back porch, a persistent thief cut a screen and broke a window to gain admittance to the home of F. E. Smith, 2315 Fairmont avenue, it was reported to police yesterday. After climbing in the bedroom window, the intruder ransacked dresser drawers and piled dresses on a chair but was apparently frightened away as nothing was reported missing.

'WONDERLAND' CAST BRINGS 40 STARS

Paramount's big Christmas offering to the country is "Alice in Wonderland," one of the most unique pictures ever made. It opens a three day run at the Fox West Coast theater today.

The film story follows the original book throughout and the characters are all made up to resemble the drawings in what has proven one of the greatest child's books ever published.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By J. GORDON ALLARD
Certified Culbertson Teacher

Among the various opening leads, the lead of the fourth highest from the longest suit is an exceedingly interesting play. Related to this opening lead is the Rule of Eleven which is one of the oldest rules used in cards.

When the one first to play leads the fourth highest of a suit, if you will subtract the denomination of the card led from the number eleven, the remainder is the total number of cards higher than the card led that are held by the other three players in that particular suit. For instance, South leads the six of spades, his fourth best of that suit. Six from eleven leaves five; therefore there are five spades higher than the six spot held by West, North and East. If you were South's partner, having applied this rule you would know exactly what card to play, for you see the cards higher than the six spot in the dummy and in your own hand, so you know what East, the declarer, holds.

In leading the fourth best, the eight is the highest card that should function, for, when the nine is the fourth best, there are automatically three honor cards held in the hand and the correct lead is one of these.

The Rule of Eleven is not an arbitrary convention but is an exact mathematical equation. In reality, it is the Rule of Fourteen simplified to the Rule of Eleven.

If we assign numerals to the honor cards the Jack is 11, Queen is 12, King is 13, and Ace is 14. The seven the fourth best is led. Seven from fourteen leaves seven—the total number of outstanding higher cards. If you now deduct the three higher cards that the leader holds, there remains four outstanding higher cards held by the other three players.

There is, however, a shortcut to this operation: First subtract leader's three higher cards from fourteen, and it gives the constant eleven as the unit from which leader's fourth best card may be deducted, to arrive at once and in one operation at the number of higher cards held by the other three players.

Differing with the circumstances, this rule when applied may be advantageous to the declarer or to the adversaries, and when properly used it is often possible to spot a singleton lead or to place important high cards.

The discussion of the Rule of Eleven will be continued next week when I will analyze a hand which will illustrate how a player may determine the length of all four suits in both adversaries' hands through the use of this simple rule.

Program Held By Baptist Society

LA HABRA, Dec. 22.—The Baptist Missionary society met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Merryman, with Mrs. H. A. Luallin in charge of the business meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. W. P. Mills, who is in the east.

During the afternoon program Margaret Thornton played several piano solos. Mrs. J. W. Bills led the lesson on "The Stewardship of the Dollar."

Mrs. Merryman conducted an educational program, assisted by Mrs. H. E. Ludy, Mrs. H. A. Luallin, Mrs. G. Guthrie, Mrs. Ralph Zumwalt, Mrs. Ben Roberts, Mrs. Paul Thornton and Mrs. J. W Meier. A Christmas party followed.

MISSION CITY CHURCH PLANS YULE SERVICES

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Dec. 22.—Many and varied are the activities being sponsored by the Community Presbyterian church during the Christmas season. Tonight the children of the junior department will meet with their teachers, Miss Gladys Horrell, Mrs. Walter Hill and Mr. Harvey Larkin, for a Christmas party in the church parlors.

Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock the boys and girls of the primary department with their teachers, Mrs. George Corbett, Mrs. William Bathgate, Miss Harriet Crumrine and Mrs. Harvey Larkin, will have a party.

Sunday morning during the regular Sunday school hour the younger children of the Sunday school will present their Christmas program and the junior department choir will give special music during the church worship hour starting at 11 o'clock.

From 4 to 4:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon the pastor, Dr. Hugh McNinch, will conduct a vesper service, with several musical numbers to be sung by the C. C. C. boys of the Ortega highway camp and anthems by the young people's choir.

Sunday evening members of the Christian Endeavor society will go to homes in this community, Doheny Park and Dana Point to sing Christmas carols.

PRESBYTERIAN SUNDAY SCHOOL GIVES PAGEANT

Amos, Nettie Younger, Mattie Haywood, Emma Noble, Eva Crosby, O. O. Bragg, G. F. Crane, J. R. Wade, R. J. Killingbeck, David McLeod, Elva Huff, Alice Hale, G. L. Beardsley and Miss Mary Miller.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By J. GORDON ALLARD

Among the various opening leads, the lead of the fourth highest from the longest suit is an exceedingly interesting play. Related to this opening lead is the Rule of Eleven which is one of the oldest rules used in cards.

When the one first to play leads the fourth highest of a suit, if you will subtract the denomination of the card led from the number eleven, the remainder is the total number of cards higher than the card led that are held by the other three players in that particular suit. For instance, South leads the six of spades, his fourth best of that suit. Six from eleven leaves five; therefore there are five spades higher than the six spot held by West, North and East. If you were South's partner, having applied this rule you would know exactly what card to play, for you see the cards higher than the six spot in the dummy and in your own hand, so you know what East, the declarer, holds.

In leading the fourth best, the eight is the highest card that should function, for, when the nine is the fourth best, there are automatically three honor cards held in the hand and the correct lead is one of these.

The Rule of Eleven is not an arbitrary convention but is an exact mathematical equation. In reality, it is the Rule of Fourteen simplified to the Rule of Eleven.

If we assign numerals to the honor cards the Jack is 11, Queen is 12, King is 13, and Ace is 14. The seven the fourth best is led. Seven from fourteen leaves seven—the total number of outstanding higher cards. If you now deduct the three higher cards that the leader holds, there remains four outstanding higher cards held by the other three players.

There is, however, a shortcut to this operation: First subtract leader's three higher cards from fourteen, and it gives the constant eleven as the unit from which leader's fourth best card may be deducted, to arrive at once and in one operation at the number of higher cards held by the other three players.

Differing with the circumstances, this rule when applied may be advantageous to the declarer or to the adversaries, and when properly used it is often possible to spot a singleton lead or to place important high cards.

The discussion of the Rule of Eleven will be continued next week when I will analyze a hand which will illustrate how a player may determine the length of all four suits in both adversaries' hands through the use of this simple rule.

Council Orders Suits To Open Beach City Streets

COURT RULING BEING SOUGHT BY SEAL BEACH

SEAL BEACH, Dec. 22.—After several months of unsuccessful negotiations to open streets to the ocean in East Seal Beach, the East Seal Beach Improvement association, in a letter to the city council read at its regular meeting last night, requested that the council start condemnation proceedings at once.

According to the association, the property in that district was originally sold with the understanding that the owners were to have access to the beach. For the past few years, the beach has been closed by a high fence making it impossible to get to the surf, it is stated. It was also claimed that property values have decreased because of this condition.

After considerable discussion of the problem City Attorney Burr Brown was instructed to start condemnation proceedings to have Twenty-first and Twenty-fourth streets opened to the ocean. The Pacific Electric Railway company has voiced considerable objection to the opening of more than two or three streets along the strip because of the increased liability of the pedestrian crossings, it was stated. It is believed that the two streets chosen will meet with the approval of all concerned.

City Attorney Brown announced that he had compiled the additional data on the two public works projects already filed with the Public Works administration. The projects were returned by the advisory board at Los Angeles for more information and maps. The applications have been re-filed and accepted by the board for further consideration, Brown stated.

In order to find some way to have the discharged waters of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric company's plant diverted into the flood control channel as originally agreed upon by the county flood control engineers instead of into the ocean on the east side of the jetty, the city attorney was directed to determine the right of the county flood control district in the matter. The disposition of the cooling waters has long been contested by the city, the contention being that the outward current of the water prevents any accretion of sand along the flood control jetty which would otherwise build up the beach.

SPANISH VILLAGE TO HOLD SERVICE

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 22.—Full choral services will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at St. Clements-by-the-Sea, with an augmented choir under the direction of Mrs. A. T. Smith, and Miss Effie Johnston at the organ. Numbers follow:

Processional, "Oh Come, All Ye Faithful;" carols, "Joy to the World," "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," "Silent Night, Holy Night;" sermon by Dr. Robert M. Hogarth, "The Bethlehem of the Heart;" recessional, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear."

The children's Christmas tree and play will be held in the afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. All children of the Sunday school will receive gifts from the tree. All are invited.

Yule Scene Exhibited At Doheny Park

DOHENY PARK, Dec. 22.—The Doheny Park Petroleum Securities company held its fourth annual Christmas party for the children of employes and other invited guests at the auditorium in the Doheny Palisades tract office Thursday night.

During the early part of the evening grown-ups as well as children inspected an electrical display planned and constructed by 12 men of the organization under the leadership of D. W. Leyden. The scene was taken from snow and pine covered mountains in the background down through valleys to pasture lands where miniature cattle grazed, to an ocean with ships in full sail in the foreground. The builders used over 300 tiny electric lights and a mile of electric wiring in making the project. A model church with Christmas music pealing forth from its doors was one of the main attractions in the exhibition.

Later in the evening Santa Claus came and delivered presents and a Christmas sack containing an apple, orange, nuts and candy to each of the 150 children present.

Leyden announces that the Palisades auditorium will be opened to the public tonight and Saturday nights from 7 to 9 o'clock and anyone desiring to see the display may do so.

LIONS HOSTS AT THEATER PARTY IN BREA TONIGHT

BREA, Dec. 22.—Brea Lions yesterday laid plans for giving all children of Brea a real Christmas treat when they arranged for their free admission at the Red Lantern theater tonight and filled 600 sacks with candy and big red apples. Ed Peterkin is chairman in charge of treats.

W. W. Hay will represent the Lions on the community committee for the distribution of Christmas baskets in the district, the work of the committee also being to avoid duplications as has resulted in former years.

In addition to their share in these baskets, the Lions are also distributing 45 Christmas cards to needy families, the cards bearing merchandise order to the amount of $2 and payable at Brea business houses.

R. E. Barnes, presiding at yesterday's luncheon, a turkey dinner served by the Pythian Sisters, presented Jim Maxey, a visiting Lion from Fowler, Colo., who declared that he came here on purpose to dine with the Brea den.

W. W. Hay, program chairman, presented three young men, students of the Fullerton Junior college, who favored with baritone solos, piano numbers and cornet solos. The group was sponsored by Henry Baldwin, of Fullerton.

LA HABRA PLAY IS SCHEDULED FOR SATURDAY

LA HABRA, Dec. 22.—The La Habra Pentecostal church will hold a Christmas program Saturday evening, including a Christmas tree and a treat for the smaller children of the Sunday school.

Yule Scene Exhibited At Doheny Park

DOHENY PARK, Dec. 22.—The Doheny Park Petroleum Securities company held its fourth annual Christmas party for the children of employes and other invited guests at the auditorium in the Doheny Palisades tract office Thursday night.

During the early part of the evening grown-ups as well as children inspected an electrical display planned and constructed by 12 men of the organization under the leadership of D. W. Leyden. The scene was taken from snow and pine covered mountains in the background down through valleys to pasture lands where miniature cattle grazed, to an ocean with ships in full sail in the foreground. The builders used over 300 tiny electric lights and a mile of electric wiring in making the project. A model church with Christmas music pealing forth from its doors was one of the main attractions in the exhibition.

Later in the evening Santa Claus came and delivered presents and a Christmas sack containing an apple, orange, nuts and candy to each of the 150 children present.

Leyden announces that the Palisades auditorium will be opened to the public tonight and Saturday nights from 7 to 9 o'clock and anyone desiring to see the display may do so.

MURDY FAMILY HOLDS REUNION ON CHRISTMAS

SMELTZER, Dec. 22.—A family reunion will be held Christmas day at the local ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Murdy.

In the family group will be the son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dowdle and two children of Klondyke, Ariz., son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George McGirk and son and daughter of Modesto, son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Harris and family of Murock, son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Murdy and son Clayton Murdy of Westminster, son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Vail of Los Angeles; son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Reineer of Long Beach, granddaughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Skagge and family of Los Angeles; son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Beem and children of Wintersburg; son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Murdy jr., and their three children and the three members of the family at home, Miss Ella Murdy and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Murdy.

END CARD SERIES

OCEANVIEW, Dec. 22.—The last of the series of card parties sponsored by the Oceanview Unemployed association was held this week with seven tables in play. Mrs. Fred Hill had high score for the series. Refreshments were served.

HEALTH

It won't be many days now before you begin hearing a lot about an organized consumer demand for "health insurance."

This is the group treatment plan whereby any person pays a comparatively small annual fee and gets in return assurance of any medical, dental and hospital attention he may need. Money thus collected is pro-rated among doctors, dentists and nurses who provide the treatment and hospitals that handle the serious cases.

At this very moment medicine is being mixed to sell you the idea that group treatment is better all around than the present system whereby you get a rush job on your appendix and then the doctor spends six months wondering if he's going to be paid.

• • •

On the other hand you'll hear a lot in opposition to the proposition.

The American Medical Association is on record against it.

Nevertheless those on the pro side of the fence have decided the time has come to stir the public to mass production of health.

• • •

A year ago a learned committee of 50 completed a 5-year study and put their findings into a 23-volume report with voluminous recommendations.

These advocated experimentation to reduce medical and dental costs, at the same time stabilizing doctors' and nurses' incomes and relieving them of bookkeeping and bill-sending.

A million dollars was set aside for this research. The Rockefeller Foundation, the Rosenwald fund, the Milbank Memorial fund, the Carnegie corporation, the Twentieth Century Fund and others contributed.

Now twelve months after the report they're beginning to wonder whether it was a five-year labor of love. Proponents of the plan are going to sound out sentiment.

• • •

Seattle, Portland and Los Angeles are experimenting with the system. Those about to carry the torch for it say its western success means inevitable adoption by the East.

Further, they allege that of the 30 doctors on the fact-finding committee, a large majority favor the idea despite the Medical Association.

No doctor or dentist would be forced to join up. Any practitioner who wanted to do business as now would have the privilege.

• • •

Another impending battle on a related subject would radically change the prevailing system of open charge accounts.

A bid is about to be made to get the NRA Consumer's Advisory Board behind a proposition to divorce merchandising and financing as inharmonious functions. Finance companies would be established under strict state supervision. They and not your retail stores would collect bills.

VETS

A rose that bloomed beautifully last year is showing signs of a second spring. You may recall it under the name of the National Economy league.

This organization was formed by a group of prominent men during the latter stages of the Hoover administration to combat veterans' demands. It continued to show signs of life during the first six months of the Roosevelt regime.

Now the league is about to open up again. A new Washington press agent has been engaged. Its offices here, closed since September, are re-opening.

• • •

Their major offensive in the coming session of congress will be "maintenance of the credit of the United States." This sounds to Washington like another so-called "sound money" movement.

As a secondary objective the League will continue to snipe at the American Legion and other Veterans' organizations to keep the Economy Act intact.

Money must have turned up from somewhere. Last September the League was about broke. Its staff had been cut from fifty to around five and nothing whatever was heard from it publicly.

ARMS

State Department experts report the British Cabinet's policy is a last attempt, regarded as hopeless, at a disarmament conference between Britain, France, Italy, and Germany, with America on the sidelines, and then a straight rush ahead to build up armaments. So sure are the Islands that world arms competition will be the answer that already detailed estimates are being prepared for presentation to Parliament.

The Air Force is to be built up to double its present strength; 1650 airplanes as against 850. An increase in national preparedness expenditures of 300 million sterling is expected.

• • •

Backstage the Australians are clamoring over their defenselessness and Britain is sending out a naval mission to see what can be done about protecting their far-flung colonials. As it is expected that the next naval war will take place in the Pacific the British will be very active during the year to come augmenting their eastern safeguards. One of the difficulties is that in the event of war Britain would be dependent on Australia for much of her foodstuffs and the convoys required for her foodships would greatly weaken her naval fighting strength.

NOTES—A regular night force of eight stenographers has been put to work at the White House. In addition ten other workers put in the daylight hours in overflow offices at the State Department opening and sorting the letters addressed to Mr. Roosevelt by a newly-articulate public. . . . Back in May when the Federal Emergency Relief Administration was organized it occupied a floor of office space in an old building. . . Then it moved to another building and took two floors, finally shoving the obsolete Bicentennial Commission out to get a third. . . . With the advent of Civil Works, Administrator Harry Hopkins is tossing everybody out of the building and taking over all nine floors.

HARMONY

The Stock Exchange's public relations spree will be big-time stuff. The high hat is doffed for duration. Traditional reticence toward press and public will be discarded in an effort to sell the Exchange as a noble institution victimized by circumstance and brokers as folks like anybody else. Writers and speakers will carry the banner far and wide in a last-minute hope of persuading Congress to restrain in its zeal for regulation.

Planned segregation of odd-lot and round-lot houses has been postponed to preserve peace in the family. The odd-lot people were set for a yell that might have damaged the picture of a harmonious group of high-minded public servants. Everything is to be kept on an all-for-one and one-for-all basis until danger is past or the Exchange's fate is settled.

• • •

RESPITE

A Stock Exchange scout returned from Washington sees one ray of hope for respite. He reports that most Congressmen want rigid regulation but no two of them agree on how to go about it. A Senator widely rated as a radical leader favors having the Exchange submit its own regulatory suggestions for Congressional action. There's a glimmering that Congress may not be able to agree on a definite measure.

But the real insiders refuse to take comfort. They feel sure the administration will have a bill of its own prepared by some "evil-minded" critic of the Exchange's purity and that Congress will pass it without asking too many questions.

One reform the authorities have thought up rather pleases the anti-banking contingent. It provides that bankers shall not be permitted to maintain margin accounts. This would put the bankers in the same class as brokerage house clerks.

• • •

POOL

The fireworks in Armour preferred stock with a range from 7 to 93 have given brokers one of those good old-fashioned thrills. Heavy pool operations are evident for anyone who cares to see. Insiders know that the Armour pool is being run by a "respectable" combination of operators and bankers and of course respectable people don't have to be investigated.

Frank Bailey—one of the large operators who is little known to the general public but whose operations in the past have matched those of such figures at Matthew Brush and Arthur Cutten—has more than an academic interest in Armour preferred.

STRATEGY

The Committee for the Nation is still up on its toes and has three nifty coups to its credit recently. One was stirring up Senator Thomas on the horrors of stabilization. The Committee had no delusions that stabilization was actually at hand but wanted to make sure its Congressional allies were ready to function if an emergency arose. The Committee does not intend to get caught napping.

Second was the feat of lining up the National Association of Manufacturers behind the President's monetary policy. Committeemen Rand, Frazier and Bendix were members of the Association's Resolutions Committee and what could have been sweeter? An eventual return to gold was included as a sop to conservatism and the resolution went through with hardly a dissenting murmur. That put the Manufacturers' Association one lap ahead of its rival the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Third was Frank Vanderlip's handling of the New York Board of Trade's sound money resolutions. He asked so many questions about what the Board meant by "sound money" and "gold standard" that it wound up by sending the resolutions back to the committee for further consideration instead of publishing them.

• • •

Local inflation leaders are still working for a real free gold market and won't be happy till they get it. This is the one feature of their program that doesn't seem to make any progress in Washington.

• • •

DEFEAT

The crushing defeat of the Bolivian army was a bigger blow to Berlin than to La Paz. General Kundt—German commander of the Bolivian forces—is considered one of the ablest staff officers in Reichswehr circles and his South American activities were generally regarded as a preparation for bigger and better things on European soil.

On top of that Captain Ernst Roehm—generalissimo of Nazi storm troops—was the man who a few years ago reorganized the Bolivian army and reported upon his return to Germany that he had built up an invincible machine. Roehm's bitterest rival for the military leadership in Germany—General Goering—can be counted on to make much of the Paraguayan victory.

SIDELIGHTS

Hindenburg is getting old . . . Rudolph Hess visited him to be sworn in as a Cabinet member . . . After he left Hindenburg asked his secretary: "Didn't this fellow Stresemann used to wear glasses?" . . . So many police and plain-clothesmen were on duty at Ambassador Luther's Columbia speech they say he was practically talking to the police school . . . The new management of radio station WMCA is careful about the personal conduct of its staff . . . Someone recently suggested that the call letters should be changed to YMCA.

WESTMINSTER

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Walker, of Long Beach, visited for a day with the Robert Walkers.

Mrs. Mabel McCoy, of Fontana, is visiting at the local ranch with her daughter and son.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Folger have a new granddaughter, the child of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Graham, of La Habra. The baby's birth occurred Tuesday morning at Dr. Violett's hospital in Garden Grove. The newcomer is the fifth child in the Graham family, all of whom are girls.

Oril "Bud" Hare, who is a member of Company L, National Guards, attended the dinner and program held Tuesday evening in Santa Ana, taking as his guests, Miss Elaine Riggs, Charles Anderson and Miss Camille Christopher.

Miss Marie Hare, Mrs. Anna Campbell and Mrs. Mary Thorndyke, who compose the teaching staff of the Alamitos school are home for the holidays.

Four members of the Westminster Odd Fellows lodge played in the final county I. O. O. F. pinocle tournament in Santa Ana. The local contestants included Charles Murdy, Harry Hall, William Cozad jr. and L. D. McDaniel.

A nine-pound son was born Dec. 18 to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Penhall at their home on Westminster avenue. The baby has been named Leslie Lee, the name having been given him by his four-year-old brother, Melvin Penhall.

Harry Grant of the Garden Grove district visited friends in Westminster Monday.

Seattle, Portland and Los Angeles are experimenting with the system. Those about to carry the torch for it say its western success means inevitable adoption by the East.

Further, they allege that of the 30 doctors on the fact-finding committee, a large majority favor the idea despite the Medical Association.

No doctor or dentist would be forced to join up. Any practitioner who wanted to do business as now would have the privilege.

CREDIT

Another impending battle on a related subject would radically change the prevailing system of open charge accounts.

A bid is about to be made to get the NRA Consumer's Advisory Board behind a proposition to divorce merchandising and financing as inharmonious functions. Finance companies would be established under strict state supervision. They and not your retail stores would collect bills.

A rose that bloomed beautifully last year is showing signs of a second spring. You may recall it under the name of the National Economy league.

This organization was formed by a group of prominent men during the latter stages of the Hoover administration to combat veterans' demands. It continued to show signs of life during the first six months of the Roosevelt regime.

Now the league is about to open up again. A new Washington press agent has been engaged. Its offices here, closed since September, are re-opening.

• • •

Their major offensive in the coming session of congress will be "maintenance of the credit of the United States." This sounds to Washington like another so-called "sound money" movement.

As a secondary objective the League will continue to snipe at the American Legion and other Veterans' organizations to keep the Economy Act intact.

Money must have turned up from somewhere. Last September the League was about broke. Its staff had been cut from fifty to around five and nothing whatever was heard from it publicly.

ARMS

State Department experts report the British Cabinet's policy is a last attempt, regarded as hopeless, at a disarmament conference between Britain, France, Italy, and Germany, with America on the sidelines, and then a straight rush ahead to build up armaments. So sure are the Islands that world arms competition will be the answer that already detailed estimates are being prepared for presentation to Parliament.

The Air Force is to be built up to double its present strength; 1650 airplanes as against 850. An increase in national preparedness expenditures of 300 million sterling is expected.

Backstage the Australians are clamoring over their defenselessness and Britain is sending out a naval mission to see what can be done about protecting their far-flung colonials. As it is expected that the next naval war will take place in the Pacific the British will be very active during the year to come augmenting their eastern safeguards. One of the difficulties is that in the event of war Britain would be dependent on Australia for much of her foodstuffs and the convoys required for her foodships would greatly weaken her naval fighting strength.

NOTES—A regular night force of eight stenographers has been put to work at the White House. In addition ten other workers put in the daylight hours in overflow offices at the State Department opening and sorting the letters addressed to Mr. Roosevelt by a newly-articulate public. . . . Back in May when the Federal Emergency Relief Administration was organized it occupied a floor of office space in an old building. . . Then it moved to another building and took two floors, finally shoving the obsolete Bicentennial Commission out to get a third. . . . With the advent of Civil Works, Administrator Harry Hopkins is tossing everybody out of the building and taking over all nine floors.

HARMONY

The Stock Exchange's public relations spree will be big-time stuff. The high hat is doffed for duration. Traditional reticence toward press and public will be discarded in an effort to sell the Exchange as a noble institution victimized by circumstance and brokers as folks like anybody else. Writers and speakers will carry the banner far and wide in a last-minute hope of persuading Congress to restrain in its zeal for regulation.

Planned segregation of odd-lot and round-lot houses has been postponed to preserve peace in the family. The odd-lot people were set for a yell that might have damaged the picture of a harmonious group of high-minded public servants. Everything is to be kept on an all-for-one and one-for-all basis until danger is past or the Exchange's fate is settled.

• • •

RESPITE

A Stock Exchange scout returned from Washington sees one ray of hope for respite. He reports that most Congressmen want rigid regulation but no two of them agree on how to go about it. A Senator widely rated as a radical leader favors having the Exchange submit its own regulatory suggestions for Congressional action. There's a glimmering that Congress may not be able to agree on a definite measure.

But the real insiders refuse to take comfort. They feel sure the administration will have a bill of its own prepared by some "evil-minded" critic of the Exchange's purity and that Congress will pass it without asking too many questions.

REFORM

One reform the authorities have thought up rather pleases the anti-banking contingent. It provides that bankers shall not be permitted to maintain margin accounts. This would put the bankers in the same class as brokerage house clerks.

• • •

POOL

The fireworks in Armour preferred stock with a range from 7 to 93 have given brokers one of those good old-fashioned thrills. Heavy pool operations are evident for anyone who cares to see. Insiders know that the Armour pool is being run by a "respectable" combination of operators and bankers and of course respectable people don't have to be investigated.

Frank Bailey—one of the large operators who is little known to the general public but whose operations in the past have matched those of such figures at Matthew Brush and Arthur Cutten—has more than an academic interest in Armour preferred.

STRATEGY

The Committee for the Nation is still up on its toes and has three nifty coups to its credit recently. One was stirring up Senator Thomas on the horrors of stabilization. The Committee had no delusions that stabilization was actually at hand but wanted to make sure its Congressional allies were ready to function if an emergency arose. The Committee does not intend to get caught napping.

Second was the feat of lining up the National Association of Manufacturers behind the President's monetary policy. Committeemen Rand, Frazier and Bendix were members of the Association's Resolutions Committee and what could have been sweeter? An eventual return to gold was included as a sop to conservatism and the resolution went through with hardly a dissenting murmur. That put the Manufacturers' Association one lap ahead of its rival the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Third was Frank Vanderlip's handling of the New York Board of Trade's sound money resolutions. He asked so many questions about what the Board meant by "sound money" and "gold standard" that it wound up by sending the resolutions back to the committee for further consideration instead of publishing them.

GOLD

Local inflation leaders are still working for a real free gold market and won't be happy till they get it. This is the one feature of their program that doesn't seem to make any progress in Washington.

DEFEAT

The crushing defeat of the Bolivian army was a bigger blow to Berlin than to La Paz. General Kundt—German commander of the Bolivian forces—is considered one of the ablest staff officers in Reichswehr circles and his South American activities were generally regarded as a preparation for bigger and better things on European soil.

On top of that Captain Ernst Roehm—generalissimo of Nazi storm troops—was the man who a few years ago reorganized the Bolivian army and reported upon his return to Germany that he had built up an invincible machine. Roehm's bitterest rival for the military leadership in Germany—General Goering—can be counted on to make much of the Paraguayan victory.

MUNICIPAL BOWL PROVES 'BREAD-WINNER' IN DIRE TIMES

While most organizations glance backward with trepidation on the most calamitous business year of memory, the city of Santa Ana cooly cuts a 6 per cent dividend on a "by-product" that was established primarily to give its unemployed something to do.

I refer to the Municipal Bowl at Sixth and Flower streets which yielded a surprising return on the investment for the period from January to January, rapidly drawing to a close. City Auditor Lloyd Bank's books show the city profiting to the extent of $1710.28 from various forms of sports conducted within the stadium, an amazing figure considering that the Bowl was used only on rare occasions except during the summer.

Even a rodeo which cost the promoters a pretty penny showed a nice return to the taxpayers, almost half of the total income coming from that source. The three-day carnival netted $878.30.

Football was the next biggest producer, swelling the revenue $388.28. Of this, the junior college contributed some $300 for four games—the U. S. C. and U. C. L. A. freshmen contests, and those with Urban and Fullerton. The high school's tussle with San Diego added $62.21. The remainder came home from the Spartans' "independent" season. The city confined itself to a 10 per cent rake-off on football.

Motorcycle racing, paying a flat rental fee of $50 a show, was good for $225. Night baseball, in the worst of its many campaigns here, came through with only $168.70, whereas in normal seasons it provides the bulk of the income. Wrestling brought in $75. The one night stand of auto polo completed the seasonal intake with its $50.

Watchdog Banks anticipates a better "take" for the city in 1934 if general business conditions pick up as expected. A big increase is likely from the source of night ball, especially if the Stars should shine once again. Football promises bigger and better things, as the Spartans propose a long schedule and the snooty Saints may come off their high horse and decide to play where—and when—they can be watched most advantageously. There will be other sports, too. Dog racing is an outside possibility, it being no secret that powerful interests are prepared to go into the stadium anytime they can secure the council's sanction. The city would profit handsomely from such an arrangement.

City officials are exultant over the situation as it pertains in the whole. Santa Ana has an investment of about $30,000 at the Bowl, including property from which a few years ago there was no revenue whatsoever. Spacious bleachers were built, largely for the purpose of putting men to work and at the same time having something to show for their efforts. Originally there was no reason to believe the investment would eventually pay for itself.

Harlan Hall, one time Santa Ana newspaperman, now secretary-manager of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, has been writing for a Pasadena paper a wonderfully interesting series about the annual New Year's Day classic, including the football games.

In his description of the now famed California-Georgia Tech game of 1929, Hall tells of standing beside Graham McNamee while Roy Riegels was "running the wrong way." McNamee had been imported from the East to lend a National flavor to a broadcast which was still something of a novelty.

"McNamee," explained Hall, "was not aware of what had occurred." Hall said he had to explain to McNamee that such a run was unprecedented in a game of major consequence.

Other Hall revelations: The Rose Bowl receipts record was established in the Coal Oil Johnnie period of 1930 when U. S. C. swamped Pitt, 47-14. That game grossed $303,073.50. . . . It is not unusual for the "house" to make a profit of $2000 on hot dogs, ice cream and similar concessions. . . . Miscellaneous expenses like ushers, parking staff, postage and printing run better than $12,000. . . . Ridiculed teams like Washington and Jefferson, Alabama—and Columbia — always have given Pasadena its biggest thrills. All highly touted invaders, with the exception of Notre Dame in '25, invariably have been the biggest flops.

Too short to classify:

Frank Petrich, San Diego Hi's star guard, has been in the U. S. less than three years. He emigrated from Jugo-Slavia. . . . Al Norgard, the Stanford end now in the headlines, captained that Menlo team of 1930 which came to Poly field and spanked Santa Ana's Dons. . . . "Moose" Hapes writes from Mississippi U. that he is "down to 242 pounds." The Garden Grove giant starred at tackle for the Mississippi frosh. . . . George Briggs' story of his latest big game expedition into Alaska begins in The Register tomorrow. Briggs describes this hunt as the most interesting and successful of his career. . . . "Chuck" Malbon, the classy miler who ran better than 4:45 under anything but advantageous track conditions at Garden Grove Hi, should win a lot of races for the Dons next spring. . . . While everybody and his brother prepares to fete Bill Cook's junior college football champions, those sinning Saints, cock o' the roost here in other years, may have to go without a banquet at all because of the low estate of the high school's treasury. . . . Los Angeles golf scribes predict a brilliant future for Mrs. George Decker, wife of the former Saint and Trojan linesman, calling her "one of the longest and straightest drivers in Southern California." . . . Santa Ana tennis fans will be watching how Lewis Wetherell, the city's No. 1 player, gets along in the Southern California Junior championships next week. . . . Irritated because San Diego's "official weights" were questioned, Coach Hobbs Adams settles a poundage controversy with Inglewood by putting his whole team on the scales before witnesses. Just an old meanie, I compared these new and authentic weights with those San Diego shipped here before its game with Santa Ana Hi. In the following list, the actual weights are quoted first, the "Santa Ana" weights second: Riveroll, 155, 147; Simons, 182, 172; McGann, 189, 175; Moore, 170, 168; Dunn, 170, 160; Grey, 170, 162; Schindler, 159, 150. And I used to argue with "Tex" Oliver!

CARDS BACK AT PRACTICE WITH SMITH AT END

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 22.—(INS)—Examinations will be over today at Stanford and that means two things for the Cardinal gridders—worries ended and resumption of football practice for the Rose Bowl game with Columbia New Year's Day in Pasadena.

Coach "Tiny" Thornhill posted a notice on the athletic bulletin board that a light practice would be held this afternoon—the first in more than a week.

The boys are conditioned mentally after a week's grind in the classroom, now they will have their chance on the scrimmage field," Thornhill said.

Every man on the Stanford squad, excluding Al Norgard, the end who was ruled ineligible, will report for practice today.

Despite the fine gesture of Coach Lou Little of Columbia, advising Stanford authorities no objection would be made if Norgard was included in the Cardinal lineup, it was definitely announced here that Norgard would not play. Lyle Smith, 170-pound substitute end from Bakersfield, will start at Norgard's former position.

Two days ago attention of Stanford officials was called to the fact that Norgard had played two minutes for St. Ignatius in 1929 against the West Coast Army.

Under Coast conference rules the two minutes of play was the same as an entire season. Norgard subsequently transferred to Menlo junior college in 1929 and played two years for that team. He also played two years for Stanford, and he was ineligible for competition this year.

BEARS, GAELS OPEN BASKETBALL SERIES

BERKLEY, Dec. 22.—California and St. Mary's open a three-game basketball series here tonight, the second game on the Golden Bear 1933-1934 cage schedule.

In previous years the Bears and the Gaels have confined their hoop rivalry to a single game, but this year for the first time they will meet in three, all at the big Berkeley pavilion. The second and third games will be Dec. 27 and January 22.

This year the Gaels present a free-scoring forward trio in Bill Meade, veteran forward; "Rocket" Rockwell, a newcomer to the Gael varsity, also a forward, and Elwood Lang, veteran center. These three tallied 39 of the 45 points scored by the Saints against the U. C. L. A. Bruins last Monday.

In opposition, the Bears present Captain Hal Eifert, all-coast forward last year who led the Southern division of the conference in scoring; Greg Engelhard, a sub last year who has claimed first-string honors this season in no uncertain fashion, paired with Eifert; and rangy "Bones" Coughlan, veteran of two campaigns at center.

With Eifert, Engelhard and Coughlan, Price has combined Milt Stansky and Steve McGaffey, giving the Bears an all-veteran, all-senior first string quintet.

DODGERS DENY DEAL FOR JIM BOTTOMLEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—(INS)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today set at rest rumors that they would trade Sam Leslie and Elmer Beck for Jim Bottomley of the Reds.

"We should have our heads examined," said Bob Quinn, business manager of the Dodgers, "if we swapped two young stars for a has-been."

SLOAN, ONCE WORTH MILLION, DIES BROKE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—(INS)—Funeral arrangements were being made today for Tod Sloan, 59, for many years the world's most famous jockey.

Death from cirrhosis of the liver yesterday wrote finis to the colorful career of the little man who wrote turf history on two continents, and lived gaily.

Sloan's will, made August 25, was to be filed for probate today.

U. S. Coaches To Consider Rule Changes

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—(UP)—More than 800 coaches from all over the nation will gather here next week for the thirteenth annual convention of the American Football Coaches' association. The coaches will meet Tuesday and Wednesday at the Hotel Sherman.

Football rules changes will be discussed by the coaches, with an eye toward making recommendation to the National Rules committee. Scouting and training tables also will be up for discussion.

DONS BID FOR FOURTH BASKET WIN TONIGHT

Making its fourth non-conference start of the season, Santa Ana junior college's undefeated basketball team opposes an independent squad from Long Beach in Andrews gymnasium tonight at 8 o'clock.

Despite the fact that several of their mainstays have not reported, the Dons already have defeated the Orange Concordia club reserves, 28-27; a Long Beach petroleum team, 27-26; and the First Methodists, first-half champions of the Community Church league, 47-34.

Ed Adams, Coach Bill Cook's blond assistant, will throw against the visitors a tentative varsity lineup of Ed Bragg and Reg Lake or Byron Stoddard, forwards; Horace Ritner, center; Alex Clark and Bob Schwarm or Palmer Stoddard, guards.

Frank Kroener, 6:4 center, and Walt Gunther, potential regular at forward, are working during the holidays, and it is not likely they will join the Dons until classes resume next month. Harold Welty, Santa Ana's all-conference backfield star in football and a '32 regular guard in basketball, may not play with the college this season. If he does report, it will be after the Christmas holidays.

U. S. NET COLLAPSE '33 DISAPPOINTMENT

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—(UP)—The dismal failure of the American Davis Cup team, and the absolute collapse of Ellsworth Vines' tennis form constituted the major disappointments in 1933, according to the votes of editors participating in the annual United Press sports poll.

Notre Dame's tumble from its long-standing football pedestal was a close second as a team disappointment, but Vines completely dominated the vote among the individuals.

Of the 149 editors who voted the team disappointment question, 66 listed the Davis Cup squad, 59 named Notre Dame, 12 chose the Washington Senators in the world series, 10 gave the nod to the Yankees, while single votes went to the U. S. Ryder Cup golf team and to the Duke football team in its final game with Georgia Tech.

A total of 13 2answered the individual disappointment questions, and 86 selected Vines. The distinction of being runner-up went to Helen Wills Moody who got 13 votes. Jack Sharkey was third with 10 votes, Babe Ruth fourth with 9.

SALEM-URBAN TILT SCHEDULED SUNDAY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—(INS)—The Salem, Mass., high school football squad of 17 players arrived here today to play Urban academy's eleven of Los Angeles an intersectional game at Wrigley field Sunday afternoon.

Troy's Frosh Show Promise On Track

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—University of Southern California's freshman track team is going to be strong in the distances this spring, results of the annual Trojan cross country championships reveal. Frosh runners won the team championship, with 17-year-old Ross Bush of the first year class taking the individual title. His time of 9 minutes, 17.8 seconds was a new record for the 1.9-mile course, breaking Dave Foore's 9:21.3 mark that was set last year.

Charles Hanshaw, Ray Cartwright and Frank Jennings helped win the championship for the Trobabes by taking fifth, sixth and eighth respectively. Freddie Lantz, sophomore, took second to Bush, and Everett Winn and Francis Benavidez, juniors and letter winners with the varsity last year, took third and fourth.

HITLER GREETS SCHMELING

BERLIN, Dec. 22.—(INS)—Max Schmeling, erstwhile world's champion heavyweight bover, and his movie actress bride, Anny Ondra, were the guests of Chancellor Hitler at tea today.

NEAR ANOTHER MILESTONE

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22.—Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, will be 71 tomorrow and still is a major league manager . . . . "I have no intention of retiring," he said. . . . Last Sept. 12, the "lean and kindly leader of the A's" rounded out a half-century in baseball . . . . a career that started as a gangling kid catcher with East Brookfield, Mass., in 1883 . . . . and took him through Meriden, Hartford, the Washington club of the old National league, six years with the Pirates, three of them as manager, four years as Milwaukee manager, and finally the Athletics in 1901. . . . Nine pennants and five world titles is his record . . . . four of the flags with that wonder team he broke up in 1914. . . . Old Matty is his greatest pitcher and Ty Cobb is his "greatest player that ever lived."

ROSENBLOOM'S WIN OVER GODWIN BOOED

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Dec. 22.—(UP) — Protests flew thick and fast today over Referee Joe Ricco's decision awarding Maxie Rosenbloom, New York's light heavyweight champion, a 10-round draw with Bob Godwin, Adel, Ga., challenger.

Boos echoed and cushions flew over the arena as Ricco announced his decision at the end of the non-title fight, the fourth of its kind between the two fighters. The United Press score sheet tallied with the crowd. It gave Godwin five rounds and Rosenbloom two, with three even.

S. A. WOMEN TRAIL MEADOWS, VIRGINIA

Official standings for Eastern division team matches today left Santa Ana Country club's women golfers in third place with 53 1-2 points, trailing Mountain Meadows, with 60 1-2, and Virginia, with 59. The Santa Anans will not play again until Jan. 8.

RUDOLPH NEW KING OF 'POOL' PLAYERS

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—(INS)—Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland, in addition to his new crown as world's pocket billiard champion today was presented with a check for $2200 as his share of the winnings.

Rudolph won the championship last night in one of the most thrilling titular games in the history of the pocket game when he came from behind to defeat Andrew Ponzi of Philadelphia, 125 to 113 in 19 innings.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—(UP)—Members of the Western team selected for the East-West Shrine game here Jan. 1 began to assemble today. Coaches "Babe" Hollingbery and Percy Locey will hold the first practice Saturday.

MACK PLANS FIRST PLANE TRIP AT 71

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22. — (INS) — Although an unrelenting fate has wrecked his second great ball club and reversed time 33 years to bequeath him another "white elephant," Connie Mack, indomitable manager of the Athletics, today ended perhaps the most heart-breaking of his 70 years with faith in the future unshaken and thoughts of the past strangely free of cynicism.

Tomorrow Connie will be 71. At the age when most men are willing to give up the struggle, he has visions of building another pennant-winning team.

"I don't feel a day older than I did a year ago and then I felt like 50," he said. "When I was a young man I thought a man of 50 was old. When I reached that age I felt young. At 60 I thought I had far to go. Now that I'm 71, I still think I have a future.

"Retirement? I haven't any plans to retire. The game to me is more interesting than ever. I still get just as excited at the plays as I did 40 years ago."

JEFFERS SHOOTS 72, HISER 73 AT OPEN

Two Santa Ana professionals—Dallas Jeffers of the country club and Harold Hiser of Willowick—finished among the leaders for the first 18 holes of the 54-hole Pasadena Open golf tournament yesterday.

Jeffers shot a 72, which tied him with six others for fourth place. He had a 35 going out and a 37 coming home. Hiser's round of 38-35-72 left him tied for fifth.

A sparkling 67 by MacDonald Smith seemed comparatively safe today from the thrusts of the field for only by clipping five strokes from par could opponents overtake the canny Scot. The leading hundred players and ties will engage in medal play tomorrow and Sunday for the championship.

Smith jumped into the lead after Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., established himself as the pacesetter with a par-cracking 69.

Sloan Death Revives Tale Of Nobility

One was that when Sloan decided to go to England, a friend told him: "A word of advice, Tod. Whenever a member of the nobility speaks to a jockey in England the jockey always removes his cap."

COAST TRIO ON OFFICIAL 1934 ALL-AMERICA

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Selections for Collier's All-America football team, which is a perpetuation of the original All-America founded by Walter Camp, were announced today.

The players chosen:

Ends: Skladany, Pittsburgh; Larson, Minnesota.
Tackles: Wistert, Michigan; Crawford, Duke.
Guards: Corbus, Stanford; Rosenberg, So. California.
Center: Bernard, Michigan.
Quarterback: Warburton, So. California.
Halfbacks: Purvis, Purdue; Feathers, Tennessee.
Fullback: Sauer, Nebraska.

Second Team

Third Team

Ends: Smith, Washington; Matal, Columia; Tackles: Ceppi, Princeton; Buss, Michigan State; Guards: Gallus, Ohio State; Hupke, Alabama; Center: Yuchnich, Ohio State; Quarterback: Grayson, Stanford; Halfbacks: Everhardus, Michigan; Franklin, Oregon State; Fullback: Mikulak, Oregon.

In awarding the Walter Camp gold footballs to these men, the judges declare that "for the first time in many years ths team represents a logical selection that is fairly obvious to anyone considering the full record of every candidate."

The first team has players from nine colleges. Michigan and Southern California have two each. Sectionally, Eastern colleges are represented only by Pittsburgh; the Midwest has 5 players, the Pacific 3, and the South 2.

"The season of 1933 was a golden autumn for defensive football. The defense, on general average, carried too many fangs for the attack.

"Schedule makers threw teams of equal class together: for the greater part, set-ups and push-overs were eliminated. As a result, football set a new record for close, low-score and no-score games.

"Walter Camp probably would turn in his grave at the knowledge that Eastern colleges, which were the football leaders in his day, have practically disappeared from the All-American records."

Princeton, however, gets a paragraph of praise in the judges' summing-up of the season, as follows: "Princeton, deep in the abyss two years ago, was the lone team of the upper crust to finish with a perfect record. But it was never called on to meet any strong opposition with the exception of Columbia. Facing none of the strong Western or Southern teams, Princeton cannot claim any mythical championship, as the Eastern area was far below normal strength."

TIGER FROSH CLICK

Princeton's freshman football squads of the last two years have had as much success as the varsity—they were undefeated.

BABE IN FINAL YEAR AS YANK; TO BE MANAGER

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I.N.S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Quite in the line of attending to my own business, which is minding other peoples', it might as well go into the records now, as later, that Babe Ruth will be given one more year with the Yankees and then, if sufficiently softened up on the money by that time, he'll get his chance to manage a club in the major leagues.

Just where, nobody now knows or even suspects. But wherever it is, Ruth will have to forget that he was ever in a position to say whether he would consent to accept more money than the president of the United States—or only as much.

That, briefly, is the tacit attitude of baseball and particularly the New York club in relation to the man who was once fool-proof at the box office but, with his still lofty notions about finance, is fast becoming a luxury.

These notions, I understand, are mostly the answer to the fact that American league managerial jobs were recently filled in Detroit and Boston while Ruth's status remained as is. It also is my understanding that he was closer to the Detroit job at one time than was "Mickey" Cochrane, the man who ultimately got it, and while I don't profess to know what happened in this connection, it seems reasonable to suspect that Navin finally felt that, in talking terms to a man who received $52,000 last year for subjecting himself to a touch of the sun during a few hours of each day, he, Navin, was liable to get nowhere in 10 seconds flat.

In short, Ruth is still getting too much as an employe to seriously consider the matter of placing him in charge anywhere. The softening-up process, of course, is progressing but it hasn't yet reached the point where, outside New York, he is felt to be within reach of those who finance this comical pastime.

I might add that Col. Jacob Ruppert can be thoroughly relied on to see that nothing lavish is attempted in Ruth's case this year and I'll also say that in the matter of economic surgery, the colonel's hand, as they say in the beer ads, has never lost its cunning.

He, for instance, cut Ruth from $80,000 to $75,000 in 1932 and from $75,000 to $52,000 in 1933 and the trend naturally is still downward. At a guess, L'd say it will be downward by at least $12,000 to $15,000.

Without guessing at all, I'd further state that Col. Ruppert will be most irked to have what he calls his private affairs thus publicly discussed. The colonel, it seems, irks very readily. In fact, he's liable to irk right in your face.

SPORT NOTABLES TO BE HEARD ON KREG

KREG, Santa Ana radio station, will put on the air tonight a KMTR sports program featuring such celebrities as Howard Jones, Bill Spaulding, Ellsworth Vines, MacDonald Smith, Craig Wood, Bill Henry, Braven Dyer and Paul Lowrey. The broadcast begins at 9 and continues until 10:30.

Tomorrow, KREG will broadcast between 3 and 4 o'clock, and again between 4:45 and 5 the Pasadena Open golf tournament.

BAILEY MUCH IMPROVED

BOSTON, Dec. 22.—(INS)—The phenomenal recovery made from the brink of death by "Ace" Bailey, injured Toronto hockey player, progressed so much today that his physicians at City hospital removed him from a restricted diet.

Smiles in SPORTS

It wouldn't have been so bad if Fred Schulte hadn't been there—but there was big Fred, listening to Dave Harris talk about how good the Senators would be if they played a certain Harris every day.

The two were seated in the lobby of a Washington hotel just after the Senators had won the American league pennant.

MUNICIPAL BOWL PROVES 'BREAD-WINNER' IN DIRE TIMES

While most organizations glance backward with trepidation on the most calamitous business year of memory, the city of Santa Ana cooly cuts a 6 per cent dividend on a "by-product" that was established primarily to give its unemployed something to do.

I refer to the Municipal Bowl at Sixth and Flower streets which yielded a surprising return on the investment for the period from January to January, rapidly drawing to a close. City Auditor Lloyd Bank's books show the city profiting to the extent of $1710.28 from various forms of sports conducted within the stadium, an amazing figure considering that the Bowl was used only on rare occasions except during the summer.

Even a rodeo which cost the promoters a pretty penny showed a nice return to the taxpayers, almost half of the total income coming from that source. The three-day carnival netted $878.80.

Football was the next biggest producer, swelling the revenue $888.28. Of this, the junior college contributed some $300 for four games—the U. S. C. and U. C. L. A. freshmen contests, and those with Urban and Fullerton. The high school's tussle with San Diego added $62.21. The remainder came home from the Spartans' "independent" season. The city confined itself to a 10 per cent rake-off on football.

Motorcycle racing, paying a flat rental fee of $50 a show, was good for $225. Night baseball, in the worst of its many campaigns here, came through with only $168.70, whereas in normal seasons it provides the bulk of the income. Wrestling brought in $75. The one night stand of auto polo completed the seasonal intake with its $50.

Watchdog Banks anticipates a better "take" for the city in 1934 if general business conditions pick up as expected. A big increase is likely from the source of night ball, especially if the Stars should shine once again. Football promises bigger and better things, as the Spartans propose a long schedule and the snooty Saints may come off their high horse and decide to play where—and when—they can be watched most advantageously. There will be other sports, too. Dog racing is an outside possibility, it being no secret that powerful interests are prepared to go into the stadium anytime they can secure the council's sanction. The city would profit handsomely from such an arrangement.

City officials are exultant over the situation as it pertains in the whole. Santa Ana has an investment of about $30,000 at the Bowl, including property from which a few years ago there was no revenue whatsoever. Spacious bleachers were built, largely for the purpose of putting men to work and at the same time having something to show for their efforts. Originally there was no reason to believe the investment would eventually pay for itself.

Harlan Hall, one time Santa Ana newspaperman, now secretary-manager of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses, has been writing for a Pasadena paper a wonderfully interesting series about the annual New Year's Day classic, including the football games.

In his description of the now famed California-Georgia Tech game of 1929, Hall tells of standing beside Graham McNamee while Roy Riegels was "running the wrong way." McNamee had been imported from the East to lend a National flavor to a broadcast which was still something of a novelty.

"McNamee," explained Hall, "was not aware of what had occurred." Hall said he had to explain to McNamee that such a run was unprecedented in a game of major consequence.

Other Hall revelations: The Rose Bowl receipts record was established in the Coal Oil Johnnie period of 1930 when U. S. C. swamped Pitt, 47-14. That game grossed $303,073.50. . . . It is not unusual for the "house" to make a profit of $2000 on hot dogs, ice cream and similar concessions. . . . Miscellaneous expenses like ushers, parking staff, postage and printing run better than $12,000. . . . Ridiculed teams like Washington and Jefferson, Alabama—and Columbia — always have given Pasadena its biggest thrills. All highly touted invaders, with the exception of Notre Dame in '25, invariably have been the biggest flops.

Too short to classify:

Frank Petrich, San Diego Hi's star guard, has been in the U. S. less than three years. He emigrated from Jugo-Slavia. . . . Al Norgard, the Stanford end now in the headlines, captained that Menlo team of 1930 which came to Poly field and spanked Santa Ana's Dons. . . . "Moose" Hapes writes from Mississippi U. that he is "down to 242 pounds." The Garden Grove giant starred at tackle for the Mississippi frosh. . . . George Briggs' story of his latest big game expedition into Alaska begins in The Register tomorrow. Briggs describes this hunt as the most interesting and successful of his career. . . . "Chuck" Malbon, the classy miler who ran better than 4:45 under anything but advantageous track conditions at Garden Grove Hi, should win a lot of races for the Dons next spring. . . . While everybody and his brother prepares to fete Bill Cook's junior college football champions, those sinning Saints, cock o' the roost here in other years, may have to go without a banquet at all because of the low estate of the high school's treasury. . . . Los Angeles golf scribes predict a brilliant future for Mrs. George Decker, wife of the former Saint and Trojan linesman, calling her "one of the longest and straightest drivers in Southern California." . . . Santa Ana tennis fans will be watching how Lewis Wetherell, the city's No. 1 player, gets along in the Southern California Junior championships next week. . . . Irritated because San Diego's "official weights" were questioned, Coach Hobbs Adams settles a poundage controversy with Inglewood by putting his whole team on the scales before witnesses. Just an old meanie, I compared these new and authentic weights with those San Diego shipped here before its game with Santa Ana Hi. In the following list, the actual weights are quoted first, the "Santa Ana" weights second: Riveroll, 155, 147; Simons, 182, 172; McGann, 189, 175; Moore, 170, 168; Dunn, 170, 160; Grey, 170, 162; Schindler, 159, 150. And I used to argue with "Tex" Oliver!

RUTH TO TAKE $15,000 PAY CUT

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 22.—(INS)—Examinations will be over today at Stanford and that means two things for the Cardinal gridders—worries ended and resumption of football practice for the Rose Bowl game with Columbia New Year's Day in Pasadena.

Coach "Tiny" Thornhill posted a notice on the athletic bulletin board that a light practice would be held this afternoon—the first in more than a week.

The boys are conditioned mentally after a week's grind in the classroom, now they will have their chance on the scrimmage field," Thornhill said.

Every man on the Stanford squad, excluding Al Norgard, the end who was ruled ineligible, will report for practice today.

Despite the fine gesture of Coach Lou Little of Columbia, advising Stanford authorities no objection would be made if Norgard was included in the Cardinal lineup, it was definitely announced here that Norgard would not play. Lyle Smith, 170-pound substitute end from Bakersfield, will start at Norgard's former position.

Two days ago attention of Stanford officials was called to the fact that Norgard had played two minutes for St. Ignatius in 1929 against the West Coast Army.

Under Coast conference rules the two minutes of play was the same as an entire season. Norgard subsequently transferred to Menlo junior college in 1929 and played two years for that team. He also played two years for Stanford, and he was ineligible for competition this year.

BEARS, GAELS OPEN BASKETBALL SERIES

BERKLEY, Dec. 22.—California and St. Mary's open a three-game basketball series here tonight, the second game on the Golden Bear 1933-1934 cage schedule.

In previous years the Bears and the Gaels have confined their hoop rivalry to a single game, but this year for the first time they will meet in three, all at the big Berkeley pavilion. The second and third games will be Dec. 27 and January 22.

This year the Gaels present a free-scoring forward trio in Bill Meade, veteran forward; "Rocket" Rockwell, a newcomer to the Gael varsity, also a forward, and Elwood Lang, veteran center. These three tallied 39 of the 45 points scored by the Saints against the U. C. L. A. Bruins last Monday.

In opposition, the Bears present Captain Hal Eifert, all-coast forward last year who led the Southern division of the conference in scoring; Greg Engelhard, a sub last year who has claimed first-string honors this season in no uncertain fashion, paired with Eifert; and rangy "Bones" Coughlan, veteran of two campaigns at center.

With Eifert, Engelhard and Coughlan, Price has combined Milt Stansky and Steve McGaffey, giving the Bears an all-veteran, all-senior first string quintet.

DODGERS DENY DEAL FOR JIM BOTTOMLEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—(INS)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today set at rest rumors that they would trade Sam Leslie and Elmer Beck for Jim Bottomley of the Reds.

"We should have our heads examined," said Bob Quinn, business manager of the Dodgers, "if we swapped two young stars for a has-been."

SLOAN, ONCE WORTH MILLION, DIES BROKE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—(INS)—Funeral arrangements were being made today for Tod Sloan, 59, for many years the world's most famous jockey.

Death from cirrhosis of the liver yesterday wrote finis to the colorful career of the little man who wrote turf history on two continents, and lived gaily.

Sloan's will, made August 25, was to be filed for probate today.

WALKER CUP MATCH DATES MOVED AHEAD

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, Dec. 22.—(INS)—Dates for the Walker Cup matches with the United States have been moved up from June 14-15 to May 11-12 and the British Amateur from May 28 to May 21. The Royal and Ancient Golf club said today the changes had been made in response to many requests.

U. S. Coaches To Consider Rule Changes

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—(UP)—More than 800 coaches from all over the nation will gather here next week for the thirteenth annual convention of the American Football Coaches' association. The coaches will meet Tuesday and Wednesday at the Hotel Sherman.

Football rules changes will be discussed by the coaches, with an eye toward making recommendation to the National Rules committee. Scouting and training tables also will be up for discussion.

DONS BID FOR FOURTH BASKET WIN TONIGHT

Making its fourth non-conference start of the season, Santa Ana junior college's undefeated basketball team opposes an independent squad from Long Beach in Andrews gymnasium tonight at 8 o'clock.

Despite the fact that several of their mainstays have not reported, the Dons already have defeated the Orange Concordia club reserves, 28-27; a Long Beach petroleum team, 27-26; and the First Methodists, first-half champions of the Community Church league, 47-34.

Ed Adams, Coach Bill Cook's blond assistant, will throw against the visitors a tentative varsity lineup of Ed Bragg and Reg Lake or Byron Stoddard, forwards; Horace Rtiner, center; Alex Clark and Bob Schwarm or Palmer Stoddard, guards.

Frank Kroener, 6:4 center, and Walt Gunther, potential regular at forward, are working during the holidays, and it is not likely they will join the Dons until classes resume next month. Harold Welty, Santa Ana's all-conference backfield star in football and a '32 regular guard in basketball, may not play with the college this season. If he does report, it will be after the Christmas holidays.

U. S. NET COLLAPSE '33 DISAPPOINTMENT

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—(UP)—The dismal failure of the American Davis Cup team, and the absolute collapse of Ellsworth Vines' tennis form constituted the major disappointments in 1933, according to the votes of editors participating in the annual United Press sports poll.

Notre Dame's tumble from its long-standing football pedestal was a close second as a team disappointment, but Vines completely dominated the vote among the individuals.

Of the 149 editors who voted the team disappointment question, 66 listed the Davis Cup squad, 59 named Notre Dame, 12 chose the Washington Senators in the world series, 10 gave the nod to the Yankees, while single votes went to the U. S. Ryder Cup golf team and to the Duke football team in its final game with Georgia Tech.

A total of 13 2answered the individual disappointment questions, and 86 selected Vines. The distinction of being runner-up went to Helen Wills Moody who got 13 votes. Jack Sharkey was third with 10 votes, Babe Ruth fourth with 9.

SALEM-URBAN TILT SCHEDULED SUNDAY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—(INS)—The Salem, Mass., high school football squad of 17 players arrived here today to play Urban academy's eleven of Los Angeles an intersectional game at Wrigley field Sunday afternoon.

Troy's Frosh Show Promise On Track

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—University of Southern California's freshman track team is going to be strong in the distances this spring, results of the annual Trojan cross country championships reveal. Frosh runners won the team championship, with 17-year-old Ross Bush of the first year class taking the individual title. His time of 9 minutes, 17.8 seconds was a new record for the 1.9-mile course, breaking Dave Foore's 9:21.3 mark that was set last year.

Charles Hanshaw, Ray Cartwright and Frank Jennings helped win the championship for the Trobabes by taking fifth, sixth and eighth respectively. Freddie Lantz, sophomore, took second to Bush, and Everett Winn and Francis Benavidez, juniors and letter winners with the varsity last year, took third and fourth.

HITLER GREETS SCHMELING

BERLIN, Dec. 22.—(INS)—Max Schmeling, erstwhile world's champion heavyweight boxer, and his movie actress bride, Anny Ondra, were the guests of Chancellor Hitler at tea today.

NEAR ANOTHER MILESTONE

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22.—Connie Mack, veteran manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, will be 71 tomorrow and still is a major league manager . . . . "I have no intention of retiring," he said. . . . Last Sept. 12, the "lean and kindly leader of the A's" rounded out a half-century in baseball . . . . a career that started as a gangling kid catcher with East Brookfield, Mass., in 1883 . . . . and took him through Meriden, Hartford, the Washington club of the old National league, six years with the Pirates, three of them as manager, four years as Milwaukee manager, and finally the Athletics in 1901. . . . Nine pennants and five world titles is his record . . . . four of the flags with that wonder team he broke up in 1914. . . . Old Matty is his greatest pitcher and Ty Cobb is his "greatest player that ever lived."

ROSENBLOOM'S WIN OVER GODWIN BOOED

Boos echoed and cushions flew over the arena as Ricco announced his decision at the end of the non-title fight, the fourth of its kind between the two fighters. The United Press score sheet tallied with the crowd. It gave Godwin five rounds and Rosenbloom two, with three even.

S. A. WOMEN TRAIL MEADOWS, VIRGINIA

Official standings for Eastern division team matches today left Santa Ana Country club's women golfers in third place with 53 1-2 points, trailing Mountain Meadows, with 60 1-2, and Virginia, with 59. The Santa Anans will not play again until Jan. 8.

RUDOLPH NEW KING OF 'POOL' PLAYERS

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—(INS)—Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland, in addition to his new crown as world's pocket billiard champion today was presented with a check for $2200 as his share of the winnings.

Rudolph won the championship last night in one of the most thrilling titular games in the history of the pocket game when he came from behind to defeat Andrew Ponzi of Philadelphia, 125 to 113 in 19 innings.

Western All-Star Squad Assembles

MACK PLANS FIRST PLANE TRIP AT 71

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22. — (INS) — Although an unrelenting fate has wrecked his second great ball club and reversed time 33 years to bequeath him another "white elephant," Connie Mack, indomitable manager of the Athletics, today ended perhaps the most heart-breaking of his 70 years with faith in the future unshaken and thoughts of the past strangely free of cynicism.

Tomorrow Connie will be 71. At the age when most men are willing to give up the struggle, he has visions of building another pennant-winning team.

"I don't feel a day older than I did a year ago and then I felt like 50," he said. "When I was a young man I thought a man of 50 was old. When I reached that age I felt young. At 60 I thought I had far to go. Now that I'm 71, I still think I have a future.

"Retirement? I haven't any plans to retire. The game to me is more interesting than ever. I still get just as excited at the plays as I did 40 years ago."

JEFFERS SHOOTS 72, HISER 73 AT OPEN

Two Santa Ana professionals—Dallas Jeffers of the country club and Harold Hiser of Willowick—finished among the leaders for the first 18 holes of the 54-hole Pasadena Open golf tournament yesterday.

Jeffers shot a 72, which tied him with six others for fourth place. He had a 35 going out and a 37 coming home. Hiser's round of 38-35-72 left him tied for fifth.

A sparkling 67 by MacDonald Smith seemed comparatively safe today from the thrusts of the field for only by clipping five strokes from par could opponents overtake the canny Scot. The leading hundred players and ties will engage in medal play tomorrow and Sunday for the championship.

Sloan Death Revives Tale Of Nobility

COAST TRIO ON OFFICIAL 1934 ALL-AMERICA

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Selections for Collier's All-America football team, which is a perpetuation of the original All-America founded by Walter Camp, were announced today.

The players chosen:

Ends: Skladany, Pittsburgh; Larson, Minnesota.
Center: Bernard, Michigan.
Halfbacks: Purvis, Purdue; Feathers, Tennessee.
Fullback: Sauer, Nebraska.

Second Team

Third Team

Ends: Smith, Washington; Matal, Columia; Tackles: Ceppi, Princeton; Buss, Michigan State; Guards: Gallus, Ohio State; Hupke, Alabama; Center: Vuchinich, Ohio State; Quarterback: Grayson, Stanford; Halfbacks: Everhardus, Michigan; Franklin, Oregon State; Fullback: Mikulak, Oregon.

In awarding the Walter Camp gold footballs to these men, the judges declare that "for the first time in many years the team represents a logical selection that is fairly obvious to anyone considering the full record of every candidate."

The first team has players from nine colleges. Michigan and Southern California have two each. Sectionally, Eastern colleges are represented only by Pittsburgh; the Midwest has 5 players, the Pacific 3, and the South 2.

"The season of 1933 was a golden autumn for defensive football. The defense, on general average, carried too many fangs for the attack.

"Schedule makers threw teams of equal class together: for the greater part, set-ups and push-overs were eliminated. As a result, football set a new record for close, low-score and no-score games.

"Walter Camp probably would turn in his grave at the knowledge that Eastern colleges, which were the football leaders in his day, have practically disappeared from the All-American records."

Princeton, however, gets a paragraph of praise in the judges' summing-up of the season, as follows: "Princeton, deep in the abyss two years ago, was the lone team of the upper crust to finish with a perfect record. But it was never called on to meet any strong opposition with the exception of Columbia. Facing none of the strong Western or Southern teams, Princeton cannot claim any mythical championship, as the Eastern area was far below normal strength."

TIGER FROSH CLICK

Princeton's freshman football squads of the last two years have had as much success as the varsity—they were undefeated.

BABE IN FINAL YEAR AS YANK; TO BE MANAGER

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
(I.N.S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Quite in the line of attending to my own business, which is minding other peoples', it might as well go into the records now, as later, that Babe Ruth will be given one more year with the Yankees and then, if sufficiently softened up on the money by that time, he'll get his chance to manage a club in the major leagues.

Just where, nobody now knows or even suspects. But wherever it is, Ruth will have to forget that he was ever in a position to say whether he would consent to accept more money than the president of the United States—or only as much.

That, briefly, is the tacit attitude of baseball and particularly the New York club in relation to the man who was once fool-proof at the box office but, with his still lofty notions about finance, is fast becoming a luxury.

These notions, I understand, are mostly the answer to the fact that American league managerial jobs were recently filled in Detroit and Boston while Ruth's status remained as is. It also is my understanding that he was closer to the Detroit job at one time than was "Mickey" Cochrane, the man who ultimately got it, and while I don't profess to know what happened in this connection, it seems reasonable to suspect that Navin finally felt that, in talking terms to a man who received $52,000 last year for subjecting himself to a touch of the sun during a few hours of each day, he, Navin, was liable to get nowhere in 10 seconds flat.

In short, Ruth is still getting too much as an employe to seriously consider the matter of placing him in charge anywhere. The softening-up process, of course, is progressing but it hasn't yet reached the point where, outside New York, he is felt to be within reach of those who finance this comical pastime.

I might add that Col. Jacob Ruppert can be thoroughly relied on to see that nothing lavish is attempted in Ruth's case this year and I'll also say that in the matter of economic surgery, the colonel's hand, as they say in the beer ads, has never lost its cunning.

He, for instance, cut Ruth from $80,000 to $75,000 in 1932 and from $75,000 to $52,000 in 1933 and the trend naturally is still downward. At a guess, L'd say it will be downward by at least $12,000 to $15,000.

Without guessing at all, I'd further state that Col. Ruppert will be most irked to have what he calls his private affairs thus publicly discussed. The colonel, it seems, irks very readily. In fact, he's liable to irk right in your face.

SPORT NOTABLES TO BE HEARD ON KREG

KREG, Santa Ana radio station, will put on the air tonight a KMTR sports program featuring such celebrities as Howard Jones, Bill Spaulding, Ellsworth Vines, MacDonald Smith, Craig Wood, Bill Henry, Braven Dyer and Paul Lowrey. The broadcast begins at 9 and continues until 10:30.

Tomorrow, KREG will broadcast between 3 and 4 o'clock, and again between 4:45 and 5 the Pasadena Open golf tournament.

BAILEY MUCH IMPROVED

BOSTON, Dec. 22.—(INS)—The phenomenal recovery made from the brink of death by "Ace" Bailey, injured Toronto hockey player, progressed so much today that his physicians at City hospital removed him from a restricted diet.

Smiles in SPORTS

It wouldn't have been so bad if Fred Schulte hadn't been there—but there was big Fred, listening to Dave Harris talk about how good the Senators would be if they played a certain Harris every day.

The two were seated in the lobby of a Washington hotel just after the Senators had won the American league pennant.

"Well, no, I'm not Cronin, but I'm Dave Harris," the ball player hastened to reply, at the same time reaching for the card and pencil.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

The reindeer that wee Coppy led had great big horns upon his head. "They look just like a hat-rack," said the Tiny, with a smile.

An elf replied, "I wouldn't try to hang my hat on them if I were you. You would be tossed so high you'd travel for a mile."

"Aw, Santa's reindeers are real kind," said Coppy. "This one wouldn't mind, but I guess I won't take a chance. Let's go back to the shed."

It wasn't any time at all until the beast was in its stall. "All of the deers are ready for their sky trip," Dotty said.

* * *

"Now, what else is there we can do to please old Santa when he's through with his long nap? I'm strong enough to work some more today.

"We've wrapped all of his toys up tight, and I am sure they're quite all right." Then Windy cried, "I know, lads! We can pack old Santa's sleigh.

"Gee, when he wakes up from his snooze, he will not have much time to lose, and, if his sleigh is ready, it will help him quite a bit." "He's right," yelled Goldy, to the bunch. "I'm sure that is a dandy hunch. Let's pull the sleigh right out so we can start in packing it!"

The bunch found there was heaps to do. From shop to shop each Tiny flew, except wee Duncy. He stayed by the sleigh, to pack it right.

He shouted, "Bring the things and I will see that they are stocked up high. When everything is loaded, it will be a pretty sight."

"Be careful how you're doing it. Leave Santa Claus a place to sit," said Dotty, as she scampered up with pretty dolls galore.

Just as the packing was all done, ol' Santa came up, on the run. "Well, well, this is a fine surprise," the Tinies heard him roar.

County Water Board Seeks Employment Of Engineer

WIDOW SEEKS $25,000 FOR DEATH IN JAIL

Suit for $25,000 was filed against the city of Orange in superior court late yesterday by Mrs. Dora Rout, widow of William Rout and her two children, Cecil, aged nine years and Wilma Marie, 10. Damages are asked for the death of Rout who was smothered to death in the Orange city jail.

In addition to the city of Orange, Chief of Police B. F. Richards, Patrolmen Homer Davis, G. W. Coltrane and E. A. Shaffer and the Pacific Indemnity Corporation were named as defendants.

The complaint alleges that on Christmas Eve last year Rout was arrested by Orange police and lodged in the city where he smothered to death when fire destroyed his cell bunk. It is also alleged in the complaint that Rout's body was not discovered and removed until several hours after his death.

Rout's death, according to allegations in the complaint, left his widow and children destitute. Carelessness and negligence, lack of proper care and attention of the jail and failure to properly patrol the jail and remove the prisoners when the fire started are given as causes for Rout's death.

WANT FIGURES ON SPREADING ON UPPER RIVER

A request that the board of supervisors supply funds for the employment of G. A. Elliott, water engineer who drafted a report to the board of supervisors in 1931 for control and conservation of flood waters in Orange county, to continue studies in the upper reaches of the Santa Ana river will be made by directors of the Orange County Water District next Tuesday.

This was decided at a meeting of the water board yesterday afternoon in the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce office. Members of the water board desire to obtain expert information regarding exact figures on the amount of water being spread in tributaries to the Santa Ana river in the upper basin so that a definite engineering basis can be established for terms of negotiations regarding the amount of water Orange county should receive, or, how much water should be spread.

The Orange County Water District has no funds as yet to expend, and therefore the request will be made of the supervisors to advance money for the employment of Elliott to continue studies in the tributaries.

Bonds For Dam?

Directors discussed the possibility of holding a bond election for the construction of a dam in the Santa Ana river. It was brought out that this might be a favorable time to construct a dam in the river for flood control and incidental water conservation because it would be likely that the government would furnish part of the money. Whether or not it would be a good idea to incorporate the entire Elliott plan was discussed. Construction of a dam would cost around $7,000,000 or less, depending on the size of the dam, it was said.

It was indicated at the meeting that at the next meeting the board will adopt an official protest directed to CWA officials protesting the use of government funds on private property in the upper reaches of the Santa Ana river for spreading water which otherwise would come to Orange county.

Director Roy Browning told members of the board that as soon as publicity was given to the intention of the board to protest the matter that 350 men who were working on water spreading operations on Lytle Creek were taken off the work. Work was continued, he said, by the granting of an easement to the county of San Bernardino by water interests, with the water rights retained by the water interests, making it possible to continue the work.

It is expected that the proposed protest will result in a government hearing on the matter, when Orange county can present its side of the water spreading program and how it affects this area.

A letetr was read which came from the Orange County Farm Bureau, expressing interest in the work being done by the directors and offering to co-operatet in any way p ssible.

IT'S TO BE THE VERY MERRIEST CHRISTMAS AT THE WHITE HOUSE SINCE T. R.'S YOUNGSTERS' DAYS

One visitor who'll arrive unannounced at the White House is Santa Claus. "Buzzie" (left) and "Sistie" (right) Dall are awaiting to make him welcome, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt (center) is helping the white-bearded old gentleman with his work by frequent visits to Washington toy shops.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—A complete old-fashioned Christmas, including Kris Kringle with the pack of gifts, such as the White House has not seen since the days of another Roosevelt—the great Theodore—is now getting under way from cellar to attic in the historic mansion.

Its inspiration and guiding spirit is the gaiety of President Franklin Roosevelt. Both the Chief Executive and his wife have confided that they love Christmas, and that their wish is that everybody in the land could be as happy on that day as they always have been and as they will be on December 25, 1933.

Children and young people, a happy father and mother, a proud grandmother, and a little official family which is devoted to its Chief—here is the perfect human material for the construction of a merry Christmas.

THE AIR of excitement which already pervades Sixteen Hundred Pennsylvania avenue hints boldly of plans underfoot. A dozen gift turkeys have already arrived.

Mrs. Roosevelt, laughing and hurrying about, has been busy for weeks, sorting and marking and wrapping her gifts—she buys them through the year, but this year has found that many last minute trips to the shops were necessary to remember this dear friend, that new acquaintance, a child Christmas would have been blank without the intervention of the First Lady, a boy whom she has befriended and placed in a job.

"Johnnie" Roosevelt, the most enthusiastic horseman and polo player in the family, and Franklin Junior are to come from Groton and Harvard. The boys, together with their sister, Anna Roosevelt Dall, will be hosts at a White House dance and party for youngsters of their own age on the evening of December thirtieth.

* * *

CHRISTMAS would not be Christmas without little children, so: "Buzzie" and "Sistie"—Anna's two children—occupy important places in the Christmas plans of America's first family. Ana's problem, in fact, would seem to be to keep their Christmas from becoming too elaborate, for when there are White House children, the gifts which arrive for them from near and far are apt to become somewhat overwhelming.

The children have seen other Christmases somewhat like this one. The fact that this one takes place in the White House will probably mean more to them in future years than it does today.

ALL the Roosevelt children have been taught to believe in Santa Claus. That Santa will come to the White House and will fill every Roosevelt's and the President's body's stocking — from Grandma right down to Buzzie's—is already a established fact.

The Roosevelt stockings will be hung "by the chimney with care" in the President's bedroom. Early in the morning, Mrs. Roosevelt will see that open fires are lighted, and that the windows are closed. She will slip out of bed very early to perform this task, because Christmas excitement gets children up before sunrise on the morning of December twenty-fifth.

So when Buzzie and Sistie and Johnnie and Brother and Anna and Mother Roosevelt come dashing into the President's room there to sit around his bed or on his bed, opening up the Christmas stockings, there will occur the first party of the day. It is customary in the Roosevelt household for the youngest children, one at a time, to open their presents first—everybody must wait his turn, because everybody wants to see what everybody else gets—so it will take quite a while to go down the line and finish these ceremonies with the President and the President's mother, Mrs. Sarah Roosevelt, being patient until the very last.

"Oh, my yes," said Mrs. Roosevelt, when asked about this important matter. A very big tree for the upstairs living room to be decorated probably under the direction of President Roosevelt himself on Christmas eve, will be the most important of the White House Christmas trees.

Oh, the gifts which will load down this important piece of greenery! Candles, real candles, will light it—no electric doo-dads. These latter may be all right for those as likes 'em, but Pseident Roosevelt wants the real thing. He loves to sit like a czar and direct the placing of the gay dolls, the bright stars, the red, green, silver and gold baubles on the green branches. Mrs. Roosevelt, Anna and the boys usually do the actual work of decorating.

This year, Steve Early, Marvin McIntyre, Malvina Thompson Scheider, and others of the White House secretariat, may also assist.

WOMEN TAKE CHARGE OF S. A. LIONS' MEETING

Lionesses invaded the lion's den yesterday noon, when wives of the Santa Ana Lions paid a surprise visit to James' cafe and took entire charge of the club meeting.

Proving, after all, that women can keep a secret, the Lionesses made their plans carefully and their husbands were properly surprised when they arrived at the meeting place and were greeted by the ladies, many of them in costume of the "gay nineties."

Mrs. Carson Smith, wife of the Lion president, immediately took entire charge of the gathering and provided a program both novel and entertaining, with Mrs. Bill Wells acting as program chairman of the day.

Musical numbers were provided by the Belcanto trio, consisting of Mrs. Wells, Mrs. E. M. Waycott and Miss Alda Weaver, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Hackelton.

Near the close of the meal, a lighted birthday cake was brought in and set in front of Lion Ernest Winbigler, then cut and shared by all with their dessert.

As a Christmas feature, Miss Lula Minter, dressed in the native costume of Bethlehem, gave an interesting account of her trip through Palestine, and much hilarity ensued when Lions Andy Anderson and Rodney Bacon were dressed in the costumes which are worn in the Holy Land.

Palestine, Miss Minter said, is about the size of the state of Vermont, some 200 miles from south to north, and from 60 to 75 miles from east to west. She described briefly her trip to such historic spots as the plains of Sharon, Hills of Carmel, the Dead Sea, Damascus, the Sea of Galilee, the river Jordan, the Virgin's well at Nazareth, Jacob's well, and Jerusalem.

Palestine produces some of the finest oranges in the world, Miss Minter said, and ships more than a million boxes of the golden fruit each year to England alone.

Next week's Lions meeting will be held at the Ebell clubhouse Thursday, when the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs also unite in a joint meeting to honor the junior college football team, Southern California champions. The speaker will be Bill Henry, sports editor of the Los Angeles Times and a college classmate of Lion John A. Henderson, who secured his consent to speak at the joint football meeting.

Rev. Matson To Attend Seminar

WINTERSBURG, Dec. 22.—The local pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, the Rev. W. A. Matson, has been honored by appointment as one of the 35 ministers of the 500 ministers serving in the Southern California Methodist Episcopal conference to attend the seminar which convenes in January for 10 days in Santa Barbara.

Big Sweet Potatoes Grown Here

"Get the scales" was the immediate thought at The Register offices yesterday when four immense sweet potatoes were brought in by Mrs. Ella I. Ault, 702 West Third street.

The Santa Ana home-grown vegetables were each weighed, with the largest scaling seven pounds and the next largest slightly under six pounds. They were all firm and fully formed and are now on display in the front window of The Register building.

Mrs. Ault explained that the sweet potatoes were planted this year by her son Alfred Ault, before he went east to study in Washington D. C. They were forgotten during his absence and grew to abnormal size.

WANT FIGURES ON SPREADING ON UPPER RIVER

A request that the board of supervisors supply funds for the employment of G. A. Its inspiration and guiding spirit is the gaiety of President Franklin Roosevelt. Both the Chief Executive and his wife have confided that they love Christmas, and that their wish is that everybody in the land could be as happy on that day as they always have been and as they will be on December 25, 1933.

Children and young people, a happy father and mother, a proud grandmother, and a little official family which is devoted to its Chief—here is the perfect human material for the construction of a merry Christmas.

THE AIR of excitement which already pervades Sixteen Hundred Pennsylvania avenue hints boldly of plans underfoot. A dozen gift turkeys have already arrived.

Mrs. Roosevelt, laughing and hurrying about, has been busy for weeks, sorting and marking and wrapping her gifts—she buys them through the year, but this year has found that many last minute trips to the shops were necessary to remember this dear friend, that new acquaintance, a child Christmas would have been blank without the intervention of the First Lady, a boy whom she has befriended and placed in a job.

"Johnnie" Roosevelt, the most enthusiastic horseman and polo player in the family, and Franklin Junior are to come from Groton and Harvard. The boys, together with their sister, Anna Roosevelt Dall, will be hosts at a White House dance and party for youngsters of their own age on the evening of December thirtieth.

* * *

CHRISTMAS would not be Christmas without little children, so: "Buzzie" and "Sistie"—Anna's two children—occupy important places in the Christmas plans of America's first family. Ana's problem, in fact, would seem to be to keep their Christmas from becoming too elaborate, for when there are White House children, the gifts which arrive for them from near and far are apt to become somewhat overwhelming.

The children have seen other Christmases somewhat like this one. The fact that this one takes place in the White House will probably mean more to them in future years than it does today.

ALL the Roosevelt children have been taught to believe in Santa Claus. That Santa will come to the White House and will fill every Roosevelt's and the President's body's stocking — from Grandma right down to Buzzie's—is already a established fact.

The Roosevelt stockings will be hung "by the chimney with care" in the President's bedroom. Early in the morning, Mrs. Roosevelt will see that open fires are lighted, and that the windows are closed. She will slip out of bed very early to perform this task, because Christmas excitement gets children up before sunrise on the morning of December twenty-fifth.

So when Buzzie and Sistie and Johnnie and Brother and Anna and Mother Roosevelt come dashing into the President's room there to sit around his bed or on his bed, opening up the Christmas stockings, there will occur the first party of the day. It is customary in the Roosevelt household for the youngest children, one at a time, to open their presents first—everybody must wait his turn, because everybody wants to see what everybody else gets—so it will take quite a while to go down the line and finish these ceremonies with the President and the President's mother, Mrs. Sarah Roosevelt, being patient until the very last.

"Oh, my yes," said Mrs. Roosevelt, when asked about this important matter. A very big tree for the upstairs living room to be decorated probably under the direction of President Roosevelt himself on Christmas eve, will be the most important of the White House Christmas trees.

Oh, the gifts which will load down this important piece of greenery! Candles, real candles, will light it—no electric doo-dads. These latter may be all right for those as likes 'em, but President Roosevelt wants the real thing. He loves to sit like a czar and direct the placing of the gay dolls, the bright stars, the red, green, silver and gold baubles on the green branches. Mrs. Roosevelt, Anna and the boys usually do the actual work of decorating.

This year, Steve Early, Marvin McIntyre, Malvina Thompson Scheider, and others of the White House secretariat, may also assist.

Lionesses invaded the lion's den yesterday noon, when wives of the Santa Ana Lions paid a surprise visit to James' cafe and took entire charge of the club meeting.

Proving, after all, that women can keep a secret, the Lionesses made their plans carefully and their husbands were properly surprised when they arrived at the meeting place and were greeted by the ladies, many of them in costume of the "gay nineties."

Mrs. Carson Smith, wife of the Lion president, immediately took entire charge of the gathering and provided a program both novel and entertaining, with Mrs. Bill Wells acting as program chairman of the day.

Musical numbers were provided by the Belcanto trio, consisting of Mrs. Wells, Mrs. E. M. Waycott and Miss Alda Weaver, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Hackelton.

Near the close of the meal, a lighted birthday cake was brought in and set in front of Lion Ernest Winbigler, then cut and shared by all with their dessert.

As a Christmas feature, Miss Lula Minter, dressed in the native costume of Bethlehem, gave an interesting account of her trip through Palestine, and much hilarity ensued when Lions Andy Anderson and Rodney Bacon were dressed in the costumes which are worn in the Holy Land.

Palestine, Miss Minter said, is about the size of the state of Vermont, some 200 miles from south to north, and from 60 to 75 miles from east to west. She described briefly her trip to such historic spots as the plains of Sharon, Hills of Carmel, the Dead Sea, Damascus, the Sea of Galilee, the river Jordan, the Virgin's well at Nazareth, Jacob's well, and Jerusalem.

Palestine produces some of the finest oranges in the world, Miss Minter said, and ships more than a million boxes of the golden fruit each year to England alone.

Next week's Lions meeting will be held at the Ebell clubhouse Thursday, when the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs also unite in a joint meeting to honor the junior college football team, Southern California champions. The speaker will be Bill Henry, sports editor of the Los Angeles Times and a college classmate of Lion John A. Henderson, who secured his consent to speak at the joint football meeting.

Rev. Matson To Attend Seminar

WINTERSBURG, Dec. 22.—The local pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, the Rev. W. A. Matson, has been honored by appointment as one of the 35 ministers serving in the Southern California Methodist Episcopal conference to attend the seminar which convenes in January for 10 days in Santa Barbara.

Big Sweet Potatoes Grown Here

"Get the scales" was the immediate thought at The Register offices yesterday when four immense sweet potatoes were brought in by Mrs. Ella I. Ault, 702 West Third street.

The Santa Ana home-grown vegetables were each weighed, with the largest scaling seven pounds and the next largest slightly under six pounds. They were all firm and fully formed and are now on display in the front window of The Register building.

Mrs. Ault explained that the sweet potatoes were planted this year by her son Alfred Ault, before he went east to study in Washington D. C. They were forgotten during his absence and grew to abnormal size.

Hosts Follow Dinner With Surprise Affair

Entertaining in their home, 1122 Kilson drive, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil M. Hanson complimented Mrs. C. V. Hurlburt at a surprise affair honoring her birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurlburt had been dinner guests in the Hanson home, and were surprised indeed when other guests arrived to join with them in an evening of bridge. Two tables of cards were in session, with Emery Faulkner and Mrs. Vincent Horian scoring high and low. At the same time that prizes were distributed, Mrs. Hurlburt was showered with dainty handkerchiefs from her friends.

Table centerpieces at the refreshment hour were tapers and poinsettias effectively arranged. Bouquets of poinsettias had been placed about the rooms.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Hurlburt, Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner and Mr. and Mrs. Horian.

Sewing Club Meets In Los Angeles

Santa Ana X. N. O. Sewing club members took part in a meeting of special interest recently, going to the Los Angeles home of Mrs. O. E. Klockenteger, 5912 Miramonte boulevard, for a Christmas party. Mrs. William Powers was co-hostess.

Luncheon was served at one o'clock at a decorated table lighted with tall red tapers. Poinsettias and a Christmas tree aglow with colored lights added to the attractiveness of the home. Members took enjoyment in an exchange of gifts, all of which were embroidered articles.

Calumpit Auxiliary

Mrs. Winifred Ketchum of Oakland, department president of the Auxiliary to U. S. W. V., made her official visit at the latest meeting of Calumpit Auxiliary held in Knights of Columbus hall. Other visitors were Carrie Heard, past department secretary, and Sarah Green, past Auxiliary president, both of Los Angeles. Six members from Long Beach and two from Warwick auxiliary, Fullerton, were present.

The hall was decorated with cotoneaster and poinsettias for the occasion. Forty-six members were present. Five new members were taken in, including Mrs. C. Stein, Mrs. Netta Weekly, Mrs. Susan Wine, Mrs. Ruth Garst and Mrs. Maude Shill.

Mrs. Hazel Hall, chaplain, reported that $102.45 had been expended on veterans during the past year. All officers gave annual reports at this time.

Plans were made to have a Christmas party for camp and auxiliary members only Tuesday, December 26, at 6:30 p. m. in the hall; and to have a banquet for incoming and outgoing officers Tuesday, January 2, at 6:30 p. m. at the Green Cat cafe. Reservations for the latter event are to be made with Mrs. Jack Shaw.

Mrs. Charles Reagan, president, conducted the meeting.

Yule Spirit Expressed In Pleasant Manner At Informal Tea

A Christmas tea, that very charming adaptation of holiday hospitality, was the manner in which Mrs. Edmund C. West chose to express the season's good will, receive little group of friends yesterday afternoon in her home, 726 Kilson Drive.

Plumy branches of evergreens, come of pine with the cones attached, were arranged in jars and bowls to complement the beautiful silver fir tree, whose branches drooped gracefully beneath their silver rain and softly brilliant lights. Mrs. West's father, J. B. Stephenson of Descanso, sent the greens in accordance with his annual custom. The tree especially, was unique, as few homes may boast a silver fir for their Christmas joys.

At the tea hour, Mrs. Terry Stephenson, aunt of the hostess, and Miss Rosa Boyd took their places at a table spread with handsome Italian linen and centered with the fairy bubbles of Christmas balls nested in evergreen, sparkling like jewels in the candlelight. Mrs. Stephenson poured tea, using deep red glass cups and plates awaiting beside the silver tea service. Miss Boyd served the "snowballs", those delectable little iced round cakes in each of which a single scarlet candle bloomed.

Invited to share the friendly affair with Mrs. West were Mrs. Terry Stephenson, Mrs. Robert Northcross, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Cood Adams, Mrs. Hugh Plumb, Miss Rosa Boyd, Mrs. W. B. Hellis, Mrs. M. B. Wellington, Mrs. Samuel Nau, Mrs. M. A. Yarnell, Mrs. Z. B. West jr., Mrs Frankini West, Mrs. Bernard Parker, Mrs. W. B. Williams, Miss Stella Groff, Miss Boyd Joplin and Mrs. Emmett Elliott.

Interesting Meeting Concludes Year's Activities

The meeting with which Wrycende Maegdenu club members of the Y. W. closed their activities for 1933 on Tuesday evening of this week in the Y. W. C. A. clubrooms, had much of special interest.

Present as honor guest was Faith Hoople, Southern California business girls' representative on the national Y. W. C. A. council. She gave an interesting after dinner talk on her recent trip to Chicago, where a meeting of the council was held.

Miss Lucille Robinson led Christmas carols, with Miss Clara Spelman playing piano accompaniment. Members presented gifts to Miss Nancy Elder, Y. W. director, and to Mrs. Susie B. Bryant, who fills the role of housemother at the Y. W. Instead of having a gift exchange, members contributed food and money for Christmas baskets, distribution of which is to be under the direction of Miss Hattie Bell Wall.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to a party for which Miss Catherine Spicer and her losing side in a recent membership contest acted as hostesses to Miss Dorothy Dresser and her winning team. Court whist was played. Prize winners were Miss Beulah Dudgeon and Miss Hazel Lee, scoring first and second high.

Meetings of the club will be resumed January 2.

Hostesses Entertain Sorority at Gala Affair

A gayly decorated Christmas tree and large baskets of holly and poinsettias were appointments enhancing the pleasure of the evening. Games were played with Mrs. Dorothy Harbert winning the prize in a holiday guessing game and Miss Val Isboccson scoring high at cootie.

Santa Claus then appeared to distribute gifts which guests had provided for an exchange.

Plum pudding and coffee were served by Mrs. Harman and Mrs. Melton.

Flying Needle Club

It was for a pleasant Christmas observance that members of the Flying Needle club met this week as guests in the home of Mrs. William Kintz, 1204 South Parton street.

The morning was spent in sewing, and at noon an inviting luncheon was served at a table gay with red and green appointments. There was a Christmas tree, and gifts were exchanged. Miss Verena Bailey was fortunate in winning the hostess prize in addition to a special box made up of many packages. Mrs. Frank Brown also won a special prize.

Those present were Mrs. Kintz, Mrs. Adolph Erickson, Miss Verena Bailey, Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. F. W. Bergendorff, Mrs. Bernard Snee and Mrs. Erroll Barnes. Mrs. Barnes is to be hostess at the next meeting.

Boot and Spur Club Spends Evening In Orange

Boot and Spur club members took part in a holiday event as guests in the home of their president, Miss Mildred Kinney, North Olive street in Orange. Miss Alice Koessel and Miss Delphina Lopez joined with the hostess in arranging for the party.

Tables were placed for bridge in which prize winners were Miss Juanita Fowler and Mrs. John Ortiz. In serving refreshments, the hostess trio centered tables with red tapers, and used Santa Claus figures made of apples and marshmallows as favors.

Those present were Mrs. John Ortiz, Mrs. Delbert Lewis, Mrs. T. Allen jr., and Mrs. George Vance, the Misses Juanita Fowler, Mildred Kinney, Alice Koessel, Farrel Mulligan, Marie La Brucherie, Lillie Forsberg, Delphina Lopez, Dolly Alvord and Louise Pee.

You and your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. Francis G. Graves of Berkeley and Mrs. Alice Gibbons Graves of Alameda are arriving tonight at the home of Mrs. Mary Page Bruner, 527 South Birch street to celebrate the Christmas holidays. They plan to return to Northern California Tuesday morning.

M. R. Kellogg, 408 Roe drive, is entertaining as a houseguest, his brother, G. C. Kellogg of Conneaut, Ohio. The two had not met for 25 years. G. C. Kellogg paid his last visit to his brother when M. R. Kellogg lived in Spokane, Wash.

Mrs. Loren Cannon, formerly of this city but now of Hollywood, left Los Angeles today for Boise, Idaho, to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Tatro. She will be matron of honor at her brother's wedding on New Year's Eve.

Harmony Bridge Club

Mrs. Walter Wright and Mrs. Augusta Whisennan took over their duties as new president and secretary of Harmony Bridge club at the latest meeting of the social organization held in Masonic temple. Mrs. C. S. Ryan and Mrs. H. H. Dimmitt are retiring president and secretary.

Luncheon was served at tables made gay with red and green appointments. Hostesses were Mrs. Al Adrian and Mrs. Helen Umberham.

Those present were Mesdames James Austin, B. E. Dawson, W. J. Dean, H. H. Dimmitt, Max Gowdy, Joe Hershiser, Sam Jernigan, William Kesemann, Roland Kloess, C. E. Morse, C. L. Neuschwanger, C. S. Ryan, George Shipe, R. L. Spaugh, Joe Steele, Maude Swarthout, Augusta Whisennan, Nellie Young and Walter Wright.

Mothers' Club

American Legion Auxiliary Mother's club held a Christmas party Monday in the home of Mrs. John Faught, 720 East Third street. A noonday covered dish luncheon was served at two large tables brightened with flowers. Two birthday celebrants, Mrs. Edith Getty and Mrs. Alma Kellogg, provided decorated cakes for the occasion.

A Christmas tree and other holiday appointments made a pleasant setting for exchange of gifts. During a short business meeting in charge of the president, Mrs. Elma McKay, it was decided to have the next meeting Monday, January 22 with Mrs. Ralph Mitchell, 922 West Camille street.

Those present, other than Mrs. Faught, were Mesdames Elma McKay, Cora Adams, Annabelle Young, Sarah Marvin, Susie Lamb, Alma Kellogg, Mary Crissman, Dora Sweeney, Fannie Reeves, Martha Elliott, Fanny Rose, Iona Sharp, Anna Gale, Hattie Stowe, Amy Stewart, Edith Getty, Margaret Hill, Bertha Cassiday, Mabel S. Leach, members, and special guests, Daisy Jeter of this city, Lillian Janisch of St. Paul, Minn., and Mr. Faught and Miss Helen Faught, of the home.

Mrs. Harry Chapman told a Christmas story, The Lost Melody;" "Billie Ruoff of Fullerton, played a piano number, "Phantasy Impromptu" by Chopin; Richard Guthrie Dunham, who is visiting here from Rhode Island, played cornet selections, Christmas carols and "The Rosary," accompanied by Miss Tompkins.

Two Events

Two pleasant affairs were enjoyed recently by members of the T. N. T. club of First Christian church, the most recent party coming as a surprise compliment to the club advisor, Miss Blanch Cartmell.

The home of Miss Naomi Hawkins, 1138 West First street, was setting for the event. The time was spent in playing bunco with prizes for high and low scores going to Miss Muriel Greene and to the honor guest. In addition, Miss Cartmell received a gift from the asembled group. All members brought toys which are to be wrapped and distributed to needy children on Christmas eve.

At the close of the card games refreshments were served in a pretty Christmas setting.

Members present were the Misses Corrine Hamilton, Nell Laub, Lucile Dunn, Edna Downey, Karla Nielsen, Ruth Williams, Ethel Manning, Muriel Greene, Dorothy Hackelton and the hostess, Naomi Hawkins; the advisor, Miss Cartmell, and a special guest, Miss Virginia Wilson of Fullerton.

T. N. T. club members made a recent overnight stay at Big Bear in the cabin of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Greene. Winter sports were enjoyed by the group, including Billie Greene, George Taylor and the club members, Ruth Williams, Corrine Hamilton, Kristine Nielsen, Karla Nielsen, Muriel Greene, Lucile Dunn, Nell Laub, Dorothy Hackelton, Edna Downey, Ethel Manning, Margaret Haskell and Naomi Hawkins, with the chaperones, Mrs. Greene, Mr. and Mrs. Croal, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Brown and Mrs. Hagthrop.

Dorcas Choral Club

Dorcas Choral club members of First Methodist church held a covered dish luncheon Tuesday noon following a morning rehearsal and program in the home of Mrs. Thelma Hein, Magnolia and Ball road, Anaheim.

The rehearsal of Christmas numbers was followed by a business meeting conducted by Mrs. Cleo Hein, president. At this time programs were planned for the new year, with the first to be presented late in January. Members of the Anaheim Conservatory of Music put on a Christmas play for the club.

Plans were made to hold the next meeting January 2 in the church. Members are asked to note that there will be no meeting on the Tuesday following Christmas.

Club Dinner

Participating in a dinner and program, a large percetnage of the membership of Messiah Men's club of the Episcopal Church of the Messia met recently in the church. The president, Leonard Swales, was gratified at the large attendance.

Speaker of the evening was Lieutenant James B. Carter, U. S. N., who gave an interesting talk on his experiences. His appearance was of special interest to the group since he is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. T. Taylor, members of the church.

J. O. C. Class

Devoting part of their Christmas meeting to a business interval during which new officers were elected and installed, members of the First Baptist J. O. C. class met this week in the church dining room for a 6:30 o'clock dinner. The room was brightened with a decorated tree and tables were appointed in red and green.

Election was held during the business meeting in charge of the president, Mrs. Amy Baird. Elected and installed were Mabel Cole, president; Gertrude Minor, Amy Baird and Oda Coulter, vice presidents; Ida Nay, secretary; Mary Higday, corresponding secretary; Effie White, treasurer. The pastor, the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, conducted installation.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Lucille Hill, program chairman, Carol Miller and Ardith Hellberg gave readings; a trio composed of Frank Mar, Elbert Stewart and Horace Evans sang Christmas carols; Elbert Stewart read Lincoln Steffens' "A Miserable Merry Christmas."

Amistad Class

Tables were prettily decorated with greenery, red tapers, bright-hued baskets and place cards. The committee in charge of the dinner included Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Brown, Mr. and Mrs. George Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Vale.

The group adjourned to the social hall, where four large trees served as decorations. Following a program Santa Claus appeared to distribute presents to all. For the teacher, George Townsend, there was a potted plant as a special gift. Mrs. George Lawrence, president, gave corsage bouquets to each of the feminine participants. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hein had arranged the program and decorations for the social hall.

Plans were made to take a Christmas basket to a needy family.

Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames George Lawrence, Gilbert Brown and children, Marrieta and Dickey, Charles Fox and son Bobby, Charles Yance and son Charles jr., J. B. Robinson and son Donald, R. J. Howland and daughters, Flora, Margaret and Grace, Fred Hein and son Donald, Edward Burns, John H. Ebersole, Elmer Fowler, J. F. Vale and daughter Vivian, Gale Harmon and children, Eugene and Carol, Delbert Lewis, C. A. Rowe, George Townsend and daughter Ruth, Mrs. Earle F. Kent, Mrs. C. J. Marks, Mrs. Nellie Hughes, Mrs. J. B. Smith and daughter Carolyn, and special guests, Dr. and Mrs. George Warmer, Mrs. Gastron and Mr. and Mrs. Benson.

Well Known Shriner Will Enjoy Yule Visit

Colonel Henry C. Akin, 422 South Birch street, Santa Ana's "Grand Old Man" in Masonry, a past imperial potentate of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, plans to leave Sunday morning for Los Angeles to spend Christmas with his three nieces, Miss Lilla Agor, Mrs. Nellie Dorn and Mrs. Harry Parker and their families.

Colonel Akin celebrated his 90th birthday anniversary on August 19, at which time his nieces were joint hostesses at a gala affair for which all members of the family circle, old and young, gathered in Griffith park for a day's outing and a wonderful birthday feast.

Gala Affair Shared By Members of Comus Club

One of the gayest and most enjoyable of their many successive Christmas dances was that enjoyed last night by Comus club members, who danced at Orange Woman's clubhouse as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gould, Miss Virginia Berry and Richard Ewert.

Enthusiasm aroused at previous dances by the quality of music played by Joe Lindibaum's orchestra, was even more pronounced last night for the dance program seemed to express all the gayety, the geniality and merriment of the season. There was the added spirit of an unusually large attendance for with so many young people home from college for the holidays, there were many guests.

Shortly after midnight there was a pause in the dancing while a light supper course was served.

Hosts Follow Dinner With Surprise Affair

Entertaining in their home, 1122 Kilson drive, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil M. Hanson complimented Mrs. C. V. Hurlburt at a surprise affair honoring her birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurlburt had been dinner guests in the Hanson home, and were surprised indeed when other guests arrived to join with them in an evening of bridge. Two tables of cards were in session, with Emery Faulkner and Mrs. Vincent Horian scoring high and low. At the same time that prizes were distributed, Mrs. Hurlburt was showered with dainty handkerchiefs from her friends.

Table centerpieces at the refreshment hour were tapers and poinsettias effectively arranged. Bouquets of poinsettias had been placed about the rooms.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. Hurlburt, Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner and Mr. and Mrs. Horian.

Sewing Club Meets In Los Angeles

Santa Ana X. N. O. Sewing club members took part in a meeting of special interest recently, going to the Los Angeles home of Mrs. O. E. Klockenteger, 5912 Miramonte boulevard, for a Christmas party. Mrs. William Powers was co-hostess.

Luncheon was served at one o'clock at a decorated table lighted with tall red tapers. Poinsettias and a Christmas tree aglow with colored lights added to the attractiveness of the home. Members took enjoyment in an exchange of gifts, all of which were embroidered articles.

Calumpit Auxiliary

Mrs. Winifred Ketchum of Oakland, department president of the Auxiliary to U. S. W. V., made her official visit at the latest meeting of Calumpit Auxiliary held in Knights of Columbus hall. Other visitors were Carrie Heard, past department secretary, and Sarah Green, past Auxiliary president, both of Los Angeles. Six members from Long Beach and two from Warwick auxiliary, Fullerton, were present.

The hall was decorated with cotoneaster and poinsettias for the occasion. Forty-six members were present. Five new members were taken in, including Mrs. C. Stein, Mrs. Netta Weekly, Mrs. Susan Wine, Mrs. Ruth Garst and Mrs. Maude Shill.

Mrs. Hazel Hall, chaplain, reported that $102.45 had been expended on veterans during the past year. All officers gave annual reports at this time.

Plans were made to have a Christmas party for camp and auxiliary members only Tuesday, December 26, at 6:30 p. m. in the hall; and to have a banquet for incoming and outgoing officers Tuesday, January 2, at 6:30 p. m. at the Green Cat cafe. Reservations for the latter event are to be made with Mrs. Jack Shaw.

Mrs. Charles Reagan, president, conducted the meeting.

Yule Spirit Expressed In Pleasant Manner At Informal Tea

A Christmas tea, that very charming adaptation of holiday hospitality, was the manner in which Mrs. Edmund C. West chose to express the season's good will, receive little group of friends yesterday afternoon in her home, 726 Kilson Drive.

Plumy branches of evergreens, come of pine with the cones attached, were arranged in jars and bowls to complement the beautiful silver fir tree, whose branches drooped gracefully beneath their silver rain and softly brilliant lights. Mrs. West's father, J. B. Stephenson of Descanso, sent the greens in accordance with his annual custom. The tree especially, was unique, as few homes may boast a silver fir for their Christmas joys.

At the tea hour, Mrs. Terry Stephenson, aunt of the hostess, and Miss Rosa Boyd took their places at a table spread with handsome Italian linen and centered with the fairy bubbles of Christmas balls nested in evergreen, sparkling like jewels in the candlelight. Mrs. Stephenson poured tea, using deep red glass cups and plates awaiting beside the silver tea service. Miss Boyd served the "snowballs", those delectable little iced round cakes in each of which a single scarlet candle bloomed.

Invited to share the friendly affair with Mrs. West were Mrs. Terry Stephenson, Mrs. Robert Northcross, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Cood Adams, Mrs. Hugh Plumb, Miss Rosa Boyd, Mrs. W. B. Hellis, Mrs. M. B. Wellington, Mrs. Samuel Nau, Mrs. M. A. Yarnell, Mrs. Z. B. West jr., Mrs Franklni West, Mrs. Bernard Parker, Mrs. W. B. Williams, Miss Stella Groff, Miss Boyd Joplin and Mrs. Emmett Elliott.

Interesting Meeting Concludes Year's Activities

The meeting with which Wryconde Maegdenu club members of the Y. W. closed their activities for 1933 on Tuesday evening of this week in the Y. W. C. A. clubrooms, had much of special interest.

Present as honor guest was Faith Hoople, Southern California business girls' representative on the national Y. W. C. A. council. She gave an interesting after dinner talk on her recent trip to Chicago, where a meeting of the council was held.

Miss Lucille Robinson led Christmas carols, with Miss Clara Spelman playing piano accompaniment. Members presented gifts to Miss Nancy Elder, Y. W. director, and to Mrs. Susie B. Bryant, who fills the role of housemother at the Y. W. Instead of having a gift exchange, members contributed food and money for Christmas baskets, distribution of which is to be under the direction of Miss Hattie Bell Wall.

The remainder of the evening was devoted to a party for which Miss Catherine Spicer and her losing side in a recent membership contest acted as hostesses to Miss Dorothy Dresser and her winning team. Court whist was played. Prize winners were Miss Beulah Dudgeon and Miss Hazel Lee, scoring first and second high.

Meetings of the club will be resumed January 2.

Hostesses Entertain Sorority at Gala Affair

A gayly decorated Christmas tree and large baskets of holly and poinsettias were appointments enhancing the pleasure of the evening. Games were played with Mrs. Dorothy Harbert winning the prize in a holiday guessing game and Miss Val Isboccson scoring high at cootie.

Santa Claus then appeared to distribute gifts which guests had provided for an exchange.

Plum pudding and coffee were served by Mrs. Harman and Mrs. Melton.

Flying Needle Club

It was for a pleasant Christmas observance that members of the Flying Needle club met this week as guests in the home of Mrs. William Kintz, 1204 South Parton street.

The morning was spent in sewing, and at noon an inviting luncheon was served at a table gay with red and green appointments. There was a Christmas tree, and gifts were exchanged. Miss Verena Bailey was fortunate in winning the hostess prize in addition to a special box made up of many packages. Mrs. Frank Brown also won a special prize.

Those present were Mrs. Kintz, Mrs. Adolph Erickson, Miss Verena Bailey, Mrs. Frank Brown, Mrs. F. W. Bergendorff, Mrs. Bernard Snee and Mrs. Erroll Barnes. Mrs. Barnes is to be hostess at the next meeting.

Boot and Spur Club Spends Evening In Orange

Boot and Spur club members took part in a holiday event as guests in the home of their president, Miss Mildred Kinney, North Olive street in Orange. Miss Alice Koessel and Miss Delphina Lopez joined with the hostess in arranging for the party.

Tables were placed for bridge in which prize winners were Miss Juanita Fowler and Mrs. John Ortiz. In serving refreshments, the hostess trio centered tables with red tapers, and used Santa Claus figures made of apples and marshmallows as favors.

Those present were Mrs. John Ortiz, Mrs. Delbert Lewis, Mrs. T. Allen jr., and Mrs. George Vance, the Misses Juanita Fowler, Mildred Kinney, Alice Koessel, Farrel Mulligan, Marie La Brucherie, Lillie Forsberg, Delphina Lopez, Dolly Alvord and Louise Pee.

Church Societies

First Methodist

A Christmas program was given in a charming holiday setting of poinsettias, a decorated tree and other appointments Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of First Methodist Women's Foreign Missionary society held in the church social hall.

Mrs. O. R. Matthew conducted a business session. Mrs. T. C. Gardner gave devotionals on "Gardens," after which Mrs. H. W. Guthrie took charge of the program.

A trio composed of Mrs. Harry Hayes, Mrs. Thursa Snow and Marie Stanton Eyerly sang "Silent Night" and "Oh, Holy Night," accompanied at the piano by Miss Eva Ramsey. Mrs. John Clarkson read Van Dyke's story of "The Other Wise Man;" Marquis Hare sang "'Twas the Birthday of the King," accompanied by Miss Leonora Tompkins.

Mrs. Harry Chapman told a Christmas story, The Lost Melody;" "Billie Ruoff of Fullerton, played a piano number, "Phantasy Impromptu" by Chopin; Richard Guthrie Dunham, who is visiting here from Rhode Island, played cornet selections, Christmas carols and "The Rosary," accompanied by Miss Tompkins.

Two Events

Two pleasant affairs were enjoyed recently by members of the T. N. T. club of First Christian church, the most recent party coming as a surprise compliment to the club advisor, Miss Blanch Cartmell.

The home of Miss Naomi Hawkins, 1138 West First street, was setting for the event. The time was spent in playing bunco with prizes for high and low scores going to Miss Muriel Greene and to the honor guest. In addition, Miss Cartmell received a gift from the asembled group. All members brought toys which are to be wrapped and distributed to needy children on Christmas eve.

At the close of the card games refreshments were served in a pretty Christmas setting.

Members present were the Misses Corrine Hamilton, Nell Laub, Lucile Dunn, Edna Downey, Karla Nielsen, Ruth Williams, Ethel Manning, Muriel Greene, Dorothy Hackelton and the hostess, Naomi Hawkins; the advisor, Miss Cartmell, and a special guest, Miss Virginia Wilson of Fullerton.

T. N. T. club members made a recent overnight stay at Big Bear in the cabin of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Greene. Winter sports were enjoyed by the group, including Billie Greene, George Taylor and the club members, Ruth Williams, Corrine Hamilton, Kristine Nielsen, Karla Nielsen, Muriel Greene, Lucile Dunn, Nell Laub, Dorothy Hackelton, Edna Downey, Ethel Manning, Margaret Haskell and Naomi Hawkins, with the chaperones, Mrs. Greene, Mr. and Mrs. Croal, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Brown and Mrs. Hagthrop.

Dorcas Choral Club

Dorcas Choral club members of First Methodist church held a covered dish luncheon Tuesday noon following a morning rehearsal and program in the home of Mrs. Thelma Hein, Magnolia and Ball road, Anaheim.

The rehearsal of Christmas numbers was followed by a business meeting conducted by Mrs. Cleo Hein, president. At this time programs were planned for the new year, with the first to be presented late in January. Members of the Anaheim Conservatory of Music put on a Christmas play for the club.

Plans were made to hold the next meeting January 2 in the church. Members are asked to note that there will be no meeting on the Tuesday following Christmas.

Club Dinner

Participating in a dinner and program, a large percetnage of the membership of Messiah Men's club of the Episcopal Church of the Messia met recently in the church. The president, Leonard Swales, was gratified at the large attendance.

Speaker of the evening was Lieutenant James B. Carter, U. S. N., who gave an interesting talk on his experiences. His appearance was of special interest to the group since he is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. T. Taylor, members of the church.

J. O. C. Class

Devoting part of their Christmas meeting to a business interval during which new officers were elected and installed, members of the First Baptist J. O. C. class met this week in the church dining room for a 6:30 o'clock dinner. The room was brightened with a decorated tree and tables were appointed in red and green.

Election was held during the business meeting in charge of the president, Mrs. Amy Baird. Elected and installed were Mabel Cole, president; Gertrude Minor, Amy Baird and Oda Coulter, vice presidents; Ida Nay, secretary; Mary Higday, corresponding secretary; Effie White, treasurer. The pastor, the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, conducted installation.

The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Lucille Hill, program chairman, Carol Miller and Ardith Hellberg gave readings; a trio composed of Frank Mar, Elbert Stewart and Horace Evans sang Christmas carols; Elbert Stewart read Lincoln Steffens' "A Miserable Merry Christmas."

Amistad Class

Tables were prettily decorated with greenery, red tapers, bright-hued baskets and place cards. The committee in charge of the dinner included Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Brown, Mr. and Mrs. George Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Robinson and Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Vale.

The group adjourned to the social hall, where four large trees served as decorations. Following a program Santa Claus appeared to distribute presents to all. For the teacher, George Townsend, there was a potted plant as a special gift. Mrs. George Lawrence, president, gave corsage bouquets to each of the feminine participants. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hein had arranged the program and decorations for the social hall.

Plans were made to take a Christmas basket to a needy family.

Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames George Lawrence, Gilbert Brown and children, Marrieta and Dickey, Charles Fox and son Bobby, Charles Yance and son Charles jr., J. B. Robinson and son Donald, R. J. Howland and daughters, Flora, Margaret and Grace, Fred Hein and son Donald, Edward Burns, John H. Ebersole, Elmer Fowler, J. F. Vale and daughter Vivian, Gale Harmon and children, Eugene and Carol, Delbert Lewis, C. A. Rowe, George Townsend and daughter Ruth, Mrs. Earle F. Kent, Mrs. C. J. Marks, Mrs. Nellie Hughes, Mrs. J. B. Smith and daughter Carolyn, and special guests, Dr. and Mrs. George Warmer, Mrs. Gastron and Mr. and Mrs. Benson.

Well Known Shriner Will Enjoy Yule Visit

Colonel Henry C. Akin, 422 South Birch street, Santa Ana's "Grand Old Man" in Masonry, a past imperial potentate of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, plans to leave Sunday morning for Los Angeles to spend Christmas with his three nieces, Miss Lilla Agor, Mrs. Nellie Dorn and Mrs. Harry Parker and their families.

Colonel Akin celebrated his 90th birthday anniversary on August 19, at which time his nieces were joint hostesses at a gala affair for which all members of the family circle, old and young, gathered in Griffith park for a day's outing and a wonderful birthday feast.

Gala Affair Shared By Members of Comus Club

One of the gayest and most enjoyable of their many successive Christmas dances was that enjoyed last night by Comus club members, who danced at Orange Woman's clubhouse as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gould, Miss Virginia Berry and Richard Ewert.

Enthusiasm aroused at previous dances by the quality of music played by Joe Lindibaum's orchestra, was even more pronounced last night for the dance program seemed to express all the gayety, the geniality and merriment of the season. There was the added spirit of an unusually large attendance for with so many young people home from college for the holidays, there were many guests.

Shortly after midnight there was a pause in the dancing while a light supper course was served.

SANTA ANA CHURCHES PLAN SPECIAL EVENTS REFLECTING THE TRUE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

Churches of Santa Ana will present the Christmas story in song and pageantry this year in programs stressing the dignity of simplicity. The musical programs are being presented, for the most part on Sunday, the day before Christmas. The regular childrens' parties are being held on other occasions, and some of the special programs occur tonight.

Methodist

At the First Methodist church soloists and a vested choir of more than 50 voices will present Handel's majestic oratorio "The Messiah" at a 4 o'clock Vesper service Sunday afternoon. The oratorio will be under the direction of Mrs. F. W. Slabaugh.

Soloists taking part in the oratorio will be Mrs. Marguerite Baker, Mrs. Lorena Goodman, Mrs. Irma Rutter, sopranos; Mrs. Blanche Owens, Mrs. George A. Warmer and Mrs. Slabaugh, altos; Edwin Biddle and Mark Hare, tenors, and Harry Abrams, bass. Accompanists will be Mrs. W. B. Snow, organist and Mrs. Dodley Page Harper, pianist.

First Christian

At the First Christian church both services Sunday will be devoted to Christmas programs. The morning service will mark presentation of a program of Christmas music and the Rev. Walter Scott Buchanan will give his Christmas message. This year the subject will be "Why the Babe Came."

The evening service will be held at 5:30 p. m. with a program presented by the children under direction of Frank Pierce, music director at the church. The children will be greeted by Santa Claus. This will be a White Christmas program for the Old People's Home at San Gabriel. The program will open with "Gloria in Excelsis," played as an organ prelude by Mrs. R. S. Briggs. Silvia White, violinist will play "Ari Vari" with David Creighead accompanying her at the piano. The Christmas story, found in Luke 2:8-20 will be told by Betty Jane Kennedy after which the Cradle Roll department will welcome Santa Claus. The Beginners' department, under direction of Mrs. Harold Holman also will take part in this feature. Children in the welcome will be Dicky Holman, Audrey Harrell, Charles Mills, Rosemary Rose, Skippy Lassiter, Donny Marker and William Hagthrop.

The Primary department will present a reading and the song "Ring Out Sweet Bells," assisted by Bobby Riehl, Shirley Edgar and the Dixon Children's quartet. The Junior department will present two songs "There is a Beautiful Star" and "Lullaby Song." Betty Hanson, Junior Hagthrop and Max Rash will give Christmas readings and Sammy Campbell will sing.

At the morning service special music will be presented by Mrs. Briggs, organist and the vested choir under direction of Frank Pierce. Miss Elizabeth Morgan will sing "The Infant Jesus" and Pierce will sing "The Christ Child." Fourteen members of the choir will sing "There Were Shepherds" and the entire chorus will sing "The Angels' Song" with Mrs. Edward Greene singing a soprano solo and R. S. Briggs playing a flute obligato.

Presbyterian

Tomorrow night the First Presbyterian church will present "The Coming of Christ" in shadow pictures and music under direction of Miss Abby Chapman. This program will be at 7 p. m.

Christmas music will be featured at the morning service Sunday when the Elks' double quartet will sing and again at Vesper service at 4:30 p. m. At the morning service the quartet will sing "While Sherherds Watched Their Flocks," "Today is Born Immanuel," "There Were Shepherds" and "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee." Miss Florence Martin will sing "Cantique de Noel" as a soprano solo.

Vesper service music will be presented under direction of Miss Ruth Armstrong, music director and organist for the church. She will be assisted by Miss Georgia Belle Walton, violinist, Edward Burns, 'cellist, and Earl Fraser, piano. The following program will be presented:

"Ave Maria," Bach-Gounod, organ, violin, 'cello, piano; instrumental trio, "Aria," Bach, organ, violin and 'cello; instrumental duo, "Kamennoi - Ostrow," Rubinstein, Ruth Armstrong, Earl Fraser; a vested choir of 20 voices will sing the following numbers: "Break Forth, O Beauteous, Heav'nly Light," Bach; "The Christ of the Snow," Hungarian carol; "Still Grows the Evening Over Bethlehem Town," Bohemian Cradle song; "Hallelujah Chorus," Handel; soprano solo, "There's a Song in the Air," Speaks, Sally Lee Scales; contralto solo, "O Thou That Tellest Good Tidings to Zion," Handel, Cecile Fross Willits; vocal trio, "He Shall Feed His Flock Like a Shepherd," Handel, Mary Steffensen, Edith Clark, Laura Joiner.

Episcopal

"The Messiah" by Handel and other selections in keeping with the program will be offered by the choir and soloists at the Episcopal Church of the Messiah on Friday, December 29.

The choir of the church, directed by Halstead McCormac, will sing "The Messiah" with the leading parts being sung by Sally Coe Mueller, soprano, Laura Joiner, contralto, James Hughes, tenor and Edwin Dunning, bass, guest soloists. Piano accompaniment will be offered by Duncan Harnois and Mrs. Winifred Dunning.

Further accompaniment for the program will be provided by an instrumenta trio, consisting of Simon Pias, violinist, Richard Robbins, cellist, and Philip Hood, flutist. They will present a prelude recital of fragments from several of Handel's seldom performed works.

Baptist

Supplementing the Christmas service at the First Baptist church, Halstead McCormac, organist and Elwood Bear's junior violin ensemble will be featured Sunday evening at 7 o'clock in a vesper musical program, it was announced today by the Rev. Harry Evans Owings, pastor.

The program will be opened by the violin group offering a short program of string music in keeping with the Christmas season. Two anthems will be sung by the First Baptist church choir, under the direction of Mrs. Chares G. Nalle, director of the music at the church.

McCormac, choirmaster and organist at the Church of the Messiah, will offer a program of Christmas numbers, including a Bach pastorale, a Christmas fantasy by Calver, and a Woodgate arrangement of an old French Christmas carol.

Last night the Faholo class of the First Baptist Bible school presented the Christmas story in three-fold manner. The story was told by a reader, Mrs. William Ewart Denniss. It was sung by the choir and presented in pageantry.

United Presbyterian

The United Presbyterian church will present Christmas programs Saturday and Sunday. The first is scheduled for 7 o"clock tomorrow night and will be the annual church school and congregation Christmas entertainment. A group from the Young People's and Junior departments of the church school will present the Christmas operetta "Aunt Jane's Christmas." There also will be a treat for the children.

On Sabbath morning at 9:30 o'clock all the departments of the church school will meet in the church auditorium for a Christmas program, largely in the hands of the Beginners and Primary departments. This will be featured by a beautiful White Gift Service when all present will present their Christmas missionary offerings. At the hour of morning worship there will be the public reception of new members. The chorus choir, Harry Warne directing, will sing "The First Christmas Morn" (Newton). The sermon by the pastor, the Rev. Albert E. Kelly, will have for its theme "When the Gates of Glory Swung Outward."

There will be a Christmas Eve Vesper service at 5 o'clock. The chorus will present the Christmas Cantata "The Light of Ages" (Peace). The solo parts in this musical rendition of the story of the Saviour's birth will be taken by Hugh Tolley, tenor, Verna Helm, soprano, Aubrey Dunbar, and James Lukens, baritones.

The Young People's and High School Christian Endeavor groups will hold their Christmas services at 10 p. m. Saturday and later visit homes of the congregation to sing the Christmas carols.

Spurgeon M. E.

At the Spurgeon Memorial church programs will be presented both tonight and Sunday night. Friday night there will be a Christmas tree, visit from Santa Claus and a White Gift program starting at 7:30 p. m. A program featuring readings and songs by the various classes in the Sunday school is being prepared by the following committee: Mrs. Laura McNaught, K. E. Morrison, Vena Jones, Mrs. George Wright and Mrs. Walter Fine. Santa Claus will distribute gifts from the tree at the close of the program.

The pageant "The Coming of the Christ Child" will be presented at the Sunday evening service. The pageant will be in eight scenes depicting: (1) The Prophecy, (2) The Annuciation, (3) The Visit of Mary to Elizabeth, (4) Announcement to the Shepherds, (5) The Visit of the Wise Men, (6) The Nativity Scene, (7) Presentation in the Temple, (8) The Celebration of the Birth of the Christ-Child. ARMY AND NAVY NEEDS TOLD BY POST SPEAKER

Donnelly advocated a regular army of 14,000 officers and 165,000 enlisted men and a national guard of 210,000 enlisted men and a proportionate number of officers, with 48 drills weekly for the group or 15 days of training annually for each man.

The speaker declared that in order to have adequate defense forces, reserve officers should number 120,000 and that reserve officers' training corps should be established in each qualified college. Citizens' military training corps should include not less than 500,000 a year, Donnelly said he believed.

Adequate navy defense, Donnelly said, should include a treaty navy and men to man it and construction of sufficient ships to bring the navy up to treaty strength. He urged the immediate increase of enlisted men from the present naval personnel of 79,900 to 91,400. The speaker said he was strongly opposed to any curtailment of aeronautical forces and urged rather an increase in air service.

Joint W. C. T. U. Meeting Slated

ORANGE, Dec. 22.—A joint meeting of the Orange and El Modena Women Christian Temperance unions will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church, when the 60th anniversary of the crusade for temperance will be held. The meeting will take the place of the regular meeting of the Orange union, which was to have been held December 26.

The public is welcome to attend the meeting, it was announced by Mrs. Minnie Neville, president of the Orange organization. The theme of the meeting will be based on the 146th Psalm and the crusade hymn, "Give to the Winds Thy Fear," will be sung.

ROTARY CLUB MEMBERS IN ANNUAL CHRISTMAS AFFAIR

ORANGE, Dec. 22.—With C. H. Robinson as master of ceremonies the annual Rotary club Christmas meeting was held yesterday. Rotary Anns were guests and special guests of the day were Sallie Lee Scales, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reed, of Whittier, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clark, of Rogers, Ark.

Donald Smiley, president of the club, introduced the guests and extended greetings while Walter Weimer led the group singing, with Mrs. Jess Coe at the piano. Mrs. Scales who has sung for Rotarians on many occasions, was presented with a box of candy at the close of the meeting while Mrs. Coe, who is the pianist of the organization, was presented with a box of candy and a sum of money.

A number of Rotarians received gifts presented by Robinson. W. S. Crist, who has done much to aid in the distribution of milk to undernourished children of the community was presented with a quart of milk, Otto Gunther, whose son, Walter Gunther, was a member of the Santa Ana Junior college football squad the last season, was given a football. Walter Weimer was presented with an Ed Wynne's fireman's helmet, while E. M. Chapman was given a Standard Oil station banner. Others receiving gifts were Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, N. T. Edwards, Mrs. Arch Burkett, Louis Koth, Marion Flippen, Mrs. B. D. Stanley, C. E. Lush and V. D. Johnson.

One of the cleverest numbers on the program was a buck and wing dance by E. H. Smith, who received a toy, a dancing darky, for his efforts. Robinson's gift from the club was presented to him by the president, Donald Smiley.

Sallie Lee Scales sang a French noel and "No Candle and No Fire." She was accompanied by Mrs. Coe. The most elaborate gift was that received by Keller Watson sr., who was given a small barber's chair, commemorating the mock trial in which he was the defendant a few weeks ago at a club meeting when he was charged with the operation of a barber shop in the basement of his drug store.

REPORTS GIVEN AT SESSION OF CHURCH GROUP

ORANGE, Dec. 22.—An outstanding program was given Thursday afternoon by the members of the First Presbyterian church Missionary society, when missions with a Christmas theme formed the basis of talks and musical numbers. Mrs. W. J. Sutherland presided and the opening devotional service was in charge of Mrs. F. M. Gulick. Mrs. W. C. Ahlman, treasurer, announced that the full amount of the appropriation set for the third quarter of the church year had been sent to headquarters.

Reports of a recent meeting of the Presbyterial at Los Angeles was given by Mrs. Ahlman, Mrs. Roy Snodgrass and Miss Flo Scarritt. Church conditions in a community in Kansas were revealed by Mrs. Irwin Meyer. Mrs. Hollister read a letter from a missionary in China who had been presented by Mrs. F. E. Harrison.

A nominating committee was appointed, with Mrs. Elmer Hayward and Mrs. Earl Crawford as its members and a report of officers selected for the coming year will be given at a meeting to be held in January. While the Christmas offering was taken, Mrs. Carl Pister, accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Ockles sang, "Take My Silver and My Gold," Later Mrs. Pister sang, "Song of the Angels."

Miss Hannah Gardner conducted a devotional period and Mrs. B. D. Stanley gave an interesting talk on "Persian Women and their Social and Religious Life." Miss Flo Scarritt was program chairman and she related an original story of three missionaries in Persia.

The rooms were beautifully decorated under the direction of Mrs. Donald Smiley, while Mrs. John Hirst had charge of the refreshments. Assisting were Mrs. Wilfred Ligon, Mrs. Smiley, Mrs. Gardner, Mrs. Pister, Miss Doris Asher and Mrs. Frances Hippard.

GIRL RESERVES IN YULE PARTY FOR CHILDREN

ORANGE, Dec. 22.—One of the happiest Christmas parties of the season was given last night in the Y. W. C. A. building by members of the high school Girl Reserves, when they entertained more than 125 small Mexican children.

Games were led by Miss Lavinia Compton and J. B. Wilbur, local Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. secretaries.

Later in the evening, lights were turned low, while the children sat in circles, waiting for Santa Claus, who appeared with several enormous boxes filled with gifts for each child. During Santa's visit little Miss Carolina Luna played several violin solos. Before leaving each child was given a large pop corn ball.

Committees making the evening a success were Miss Clara Frazier; games, Miss Lavinia Compton, and J. B. Wilbur; transportation, Miss Mildred Moore; refreshments, Miss Miriam Powell, and Mrs. C. H. Adams. Contact with the Mexican children was made through Felicitas Alcanter.

JUNIOR CHOIR MEMBERS ARE PARTY GUESTS

The rooms were beautifully decorated with mountain holly, cypress branches, small winter scenes, and the miniature presentation of Bethlehem, which has been in the Fiene home for 20 years. This year a little church, made by Mr. Fiene, was added to the Christmas decorations, which with its snow covered roof, stained glass windows, bell in the tower, all electrically illumniated, accentuated the Christmas atmosphere.

The junior choir presented a program of Christmas numbers, and little Irene Fluegge sang a solo in German. All the guests joined in singing the well known Christmas carols, accompanied on the piano by Miss Alice Fiene, assisted by Herschel Schwendeman, clarinet, and Bernard Cook, violin. Mrs. C. A. Fiene and Miss Alice Fiene gave several piano solos and duets, and the latter gave several musical readings, all especially suited to the occasion.

Following the program, Miss Fiene presented choir pins to all members who had obtained 100 points for faithful attendance at rehearsals, church services, and other functions in which the choir participated. After this, Santa Claus entered, bringing with him a sack filled with gifts for each child present.

Refreshments of cocoa, coffee, sandwiches and Christmas cookies were served to about 80 guests. Mrs. Fiene was assisted in her duties as hostess by Mrs. E. Schroeder, Miss Irene Schroeder, Mrs. Rex Shannon and Mrs. E. Craemer.

The following members of the choir were present: Keith Presson, Donald Dutzi, Billy Burdorf, Marvin Fluegge, Mildred and Myrtle Geissler, Marjorie Fellbaum, Aline and Catharine Schroeder, Elaine Winger, Elaine Maass, Kathryn Stern, Irene Fluegge, Juanita and Alberta Bauman.

Absent on account of illness were Alice Schroeder, Dorothy Clasen and Ruth Bastian. Other children present were Marjorie Schuette, Bobbie Fellbaum, Bobbie, Billy, Frankie and Ella Ziegelmann and Virginia Fick.

Mrs. Scales who has sung for Rotarians on many occasions, was presented with a box of candy at the close of the meeting while Mrs. Coe, who is the pianist of the organization, was presented with a box of candy and a sum of money.

A number of Rotarians received gifts presented by Robinson. W. S. Crist, who has done much to aid in the distribution of milk to undernourished children of the community was presented with a quart of milk, Otto Gunther, whose son, Walter Gunther, was a member of the Santa Ana Junior college football squad the last season, was given a football. Walter Weimer was presented with an Ed Wynne's fireman's helmet, while E. M. Chapman was given a Standard Oil station banner. Others receiving gifts were Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, N. T. Edwards, Mrs. Arch Burkett, Louis Koth, Marion Flippen, Mrs. B. D. Stanley, C. E. Lush and V. D. Johnson.

One of the cleverest numbers on the program was a buck and wing dance by E. H. Smith, who received a toy, a dancing darky, for his efforts. Robinson's gift from the club was presented to him by the president, Donald Smiley.

Sallie Lee Scales sang a French noel and "No Candle and No Fire." She was accompanied by Mrs. Coe. The most elaborate gift was that received by Keller Watson sr., who was given a small barber's chair, commemorating the mock trial in which he was the defendant a few weeks ago at a club meeting when he was charged with the operation of a barber shop in the basement of his drug store.

REPORTS GIVEN AT SESSION OF CHURCH GROUP

ORANGE, Dec. 22.—An outstanding program was given Thursday afternoon by the members of the First Presbyterian church Missionary society, when missions with a Christmas theme formed the basis of talks and musical numbers. Mrs. W. J. Sutherland presided and the opening devotional service was in charge of Mrs. F. M. Gulick. Mrs. W. C. Ahlman, treasurer, announced that the full amount of the appropriation set for the third quarter of the church year had been sent to headquarters.

Reports of a recent meeting of the Presbyterial at Los Angeles was given by Mrs. Ahlman, Mrs. Roy Snodgrass and Miss Flo Scarritt. Church conditions in a community in Kansas were revealed by Mrs. Irwin Meyer. Mrs. Hollister read a letter from a missionary in China who had been presented with a cook book compiled by Mrs. F. E. Harrison.

A nominating committee was appointed, with Mrs. Elmer Hayward and Mrs. Earl Crawford as its members and a report of officers selected for the coming year will be given at a meeting to be held in January. While the Christmas offering was taken, Mrs. Carl Pister, accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Ockles sang, "Take My Silver and My Gold," Later Mrs. Pister sang, "Song of the Angels."

Miss Hannah Gardner conducted a devotional period and Mrs. B. D. Stanley gave an interesting talk on "Persian Women and their Social and Religious Life." Miss Flo Scarritt was program chairman and she related an original story of three missionaries in Persia.

The rooms were beautifully decorated under the direction of Mrs. Donald Smiley, while Mrs. John Hirst had charge of the refreshments. Assisting were Mrs. Wilfred Ligon, Mrs. Smiley, Mrs. Gardner, Mrs. Pister, Miss Doris Asher and Mrs. Frances Hippard.

GIRL RESERVES IN YULE PARTY FOR CHILDREN

ORANGE, Dec. 22.—One of the happiest Christmas parties of the season was given last night in the Y. W. C. A. building by members of the high school Girl Reserves, when they entertained more than 125 small Mexican children.

Games were led by Miss Lavinia Compton and J. B. Wilbur, local Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. secretaries.

Later in the evening, lights were turned low, while the children sat in circles, waiting for Santa Claus, who appeared with several enormous boxes filled with gifts for each child. During Santa's visit little Miss Carolina Luna played several violin solos. Before leaving each child was given a large pop corn ball.

Committees making the evening a success were Miss Clara Frazier; games, Miss Lavinia Compton, and J. B. Wilbur; transportation, Miss Mildred Moore; refreshments, Miss Miriam Powell, and Mrs. C. H. Adams. Contact with the Mexican children was made through Felicitas Alcanter.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with mountain holly, cypress branches, small winter scenes, and the miniature presentation of Bethlehem, which has been in the Fiene home for 20 years. This year a little church, made by Mr. Fiene, was added to the Christmas decorations, which with its snow covered roof, stained glass windows, bell in the tower, all electrically illumniated, accentuated the Christmas atmosphere.

The junior choir presented a program of Christmas numbers, and little Irene Fluegge sang a solo in German. All the guests joined in singing the well known Christmas carols, accompanied on the piano by Miss Alice Fiene, assisted by Herschel Schwendeman, clarinet, and Bernard Cook, violin. Mrs. C. A. Fiene and Miss Alice Fiene gave several piano solos and duets, and the latter gave several musical readings, all especially suited to the occasion.

Following the program, Miss Fiene presented choir pins to all members who had obtained 100 points for faithful attendance at rehearsals, church services, and other functions in which the choir participated. After this, Santa Claus entered, bringing with him a sack filled with gifts for each child present.

Refreshments of cocoa, coffee, sandwiches and Christmas cookies were served to about 80 guests. Mrs. Fiene was assisted in her duties as hostess by Mrs. E. Schroeder, Miss Irene Schroeder, Mrs. Rex Shannon and Mrs. E. Craemer.

The following members of the choir were present: Keith Presson, Donald Dutzi, Billy Burdorf, Marvin Fluegge, Mildred and Myrtle Geissler, Marjorie Fellbaum, Aline and Catharine Schroeder, Elaine Winger, Elaine Maass, Kathryn Stern, Irene Fluegge, Juanita and Alberta Bauman.

Absent on account of illness were Alice Schroeder, Dorothy Clasen and Ruth Bastian. Other children present were Marjorie Schuette, Bobbie Fellbaum, Bobbie, Billy, Frankie and Ella Ziegelmann and Virginia Fick.

News Of Fullerton and Vicinity

DISCUSSION IS HELD ON THREE FORUM TALKS

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—Open discussion was held at the forum meeting in the old auditorium of the Fullerton union high school last night on the talks given at the Orange County forum Tuesday night when "The Coming Struggle for Power" was discussed.

James Anderson of Santa Ana presented a resume of the speech by Dr. Rufus Von KleinSmid, who talked on "Democracy"; S. W. McColloch brought a brief resume of the talk by Chester Rowell on "Fascism" and Charles Ruby brought a short report on the talk on "Communism," by V. F. Calverton.

Anderson outlined Dr. Von KleinSmid's talk as sounding a warning that "Democracy, in order to be retained as a government by the people, must be a government where the people grant powers and retain rights to withdraw those powers; where the public must direct the business, and study and vote wisely; where all people to lend an influence must have knowledge of the fundamentals of history; and government must be operated by people and not by private interest."

The question that followed from the floor was "Have we ever had a democracy?" After the three talks were concluded, it was stated that "because of lobbying and private interference with legislative bodies, we have never had a real democracy."

Another question that drew considerable attention was "Is it really a democracy, so long as we have unseen government?" This Anderson answered by saying that it is a democracy so long as the people have the right to take away the power from those elected, and when that time ceases, government is either Communism or Fascism.

The fault of the United States government, according to McColloch's decision based on Rowell's talk, is that "where decision has been required, and action consummated, debate has entered in and on that basis of government, democracy is failing, and Fascism is walking in. Failure to face realities, following the world war, and of the people to place competent men in office, is the chief difficulty." Wisdom in voting is the answer, he said, and not just voting according to propaganda that is presented is needed. The Roosevelt program is Fascistic in its essence, for Fascism is the restoring of business to the small business men, he said.

Ruby, in his talk, said that Calverton outlined Communism as having the same objectives as Socialism, but have different means of obtaining objectives. The chief points made by Ruby were that Calverton outlined Communism as an economic planning program placed in operation for the welfare of peoples, and the elimination of the profit system, making a point, he said, that there is no chance for recovery so long as the profit system is maintained.

Norman Hapgood will be the next speaker on January 9 at the Orange County forum meeting, Miss Morley, director of the forum announced. On Thursday, January 4, Walter Thomas Mills, famous lecturer, will talk at the weekly forum, held under Ruby and his high school law classes.

ARRANGE SERVICES FOR MRS. STROOPE

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—Funeral services for Mrs. Maude Stanford Stroope, 57, who passed away at her home in Buena Park yesterday, will be held from the McAulay and Suters Funeral home in Fullerton Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, with the Rev. D. F. Meyers of Santa Ana officiating. Interment will be in Loma Vista cemetery.

Mrs. Stroope, who had been ill for a long period, is survived by her husband, Joseph H. Stroope; daughter, Mrs. Rose L. Waer of Santa Ana; son, Edwin H. Stroope of Newhall; mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanford, Buena Park; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Nelson, San Bernardino; Mrs. Etta Linday, Hollywood, and Mrs. Ada Bandy, Buena Park, and four brothers, Walter Stanford, Mineral Wells, Tex.; Ernest Stanford, Fullerton; Bruce Stanford, La Habra, and George Stanford, Whittier.

KIWANIS CLUB TO CONVENE TUESDAY

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—Fullerton Kiwanians will meet Tuesday at 12:10 o'clock instead of Monday, the usual meeting day, at McFarland's cafe, according to announcements sent out today.

The announcements were printed on a beautiful Christmas greeting card and included the information that Walter Humphreys and his stunt committee are to be in charge of the program. In addition to regular business, new members are to be accepted.

VESPER SERVICE ARRANGED BY FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

FULLERTON, Dec. 22. — "A Christmas Peace Pageant" will be presented Christmas eve as a vesper service at 5 p. m. at the Fullerton Methodist church, an offering of the young people of the church in the high school and junior college departments. Mrs. C. W. O'Flyng will direct the production.

The choir, under direction of Glenn Lewis, and the Angels' choir, directed by Mrs. Frances Montague, with Miss Mildred Gage, celloist, Ronald Collis, violinist, and Mrs. Harold Neilson, organist, are to assist with the programs.

A gift, including offerings of gold, gold plate, sterling silver or platinum, in forms of jewelry, cufflinks, ornaments of all kinds, to be added to the melting pot, is to be collected as offering.

The pageant will conclude the Christmas offerings of the church. There is to be no evening sermon.

PARISH SCHOOL STUDENTS GIVE YULE PROGRAM

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—Children of St. Mary's Parish school this morning held their annual Christmas party and presented an entertainment as a closing school program, opening at 11 o'clock. The classes closed today for Christmas vacation, to reopen January 9 for the balance of the year.

During the program, which was held about a Christmas tree, the orchestra played "The First Noel." After a short introduction to the play, the second act of "The Birds' Christmas Carol," written by Ramona Basabe, where the Ruggles family is preparing for Christmas at the Birds' home, was presented. The characters participating were Mary Glass., playing Mrs. Ruggles; Kathryn Eddy, playing Sarah Maud; Michael Glass, playing Peter; Joan Eadington, playing Peoria; James Sesma, playing Cornelius; Maxine Kraemer, Kitty; Thomas O'Hanlon, Clement; Marjorie O'Hanlon, Larry; Bernard Pospisil, Uncle Jack Bird, and Grace Eadington, Elfrida Clifford.

GRACE PARLOR HOLDS DINNER IN CLUBHOUSE

Mrs. Erna Watts, president, was chairman of the dinner and Mrs. Christine McFarland was chairman of entertainment.

At the business session Mrs. Nelle Cline announced that plans are under way to have a marker placed on the Placentia Fruit ranch, operated under S. W. McColloch, indicating it as the first commercial fruit ranch in Southern California, planted 60 years ago by R. L. Gilman, who resides at Redondo.

The program included an accordion solo by Anna May Hawkins, a group of piano numbers by Helen Hill and Betty Hasson; carols sung by groups of boys and girls, and community singing led by Johanna Lemke. Mrs. Mary Belle Chapman, who with Mr. Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Norenburg, of Los Angeles, was a special guest, sang a group of Spanish numbers.

A dinner is to be served at the American Legion hall February 1, honoring the grand president, Irma Laird, of Alturas, who will visit the parlor. Plans were made for a public card party for January 11 at the clubhouse.

BAPTIST CLASSES ARE ENTERTAINED

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—The Rev. and Mrs. Francis E. Hawes and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sitton entertained last night for Mrs. Hawes' and Mr. Sitton's Sunday school classes of the Baptist church at a party at the parsonage, where, after a time of games, gifts were exchanged about a tree, and refreshments were served.

Besides the hostesses and hostess, attending were Mrs. Ada Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Comstock, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Manual, Kenneth Hoar, Thelma Gunst, Roye Boyer, Lydia Gage, Eleanor Tate, Wilma Strom, Hayden Bolander, Esther Gregory, Elsworth Gregory, Edith Hinds, Beatrice McMahon, Rebecca Nichols, Charles Bissitt, Robert Carter and Flora McVeigh.

Christian Church Program Tonight

FULLERTON, Dec. 22—A change in the program for the Fullerton Christian church for this evening has been made. Instead of the play, "These Are My Friends," presented by the high school department, the primary, junior and intermediate departments will present "On Christmas Day," consisting of three parts, as follows:

Part one, Christmas songs and recitations; part two, a play in two scenes, with scenes laid in Bethlehem; part three, presentation of white gifts for aged in California Christian home; Sunday school treat.

IRVINE

IRVINE, Dec. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Staples and Lynn Watkins, of Laguna Beach, spent several days at Fallbrook on a hunting trip.

Mrs. Orville Daugherty has returned from a several weeks vacation with friends and relatives in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stone were guests Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnston in Huntington Park.

Tommy Lancaster and Mary Shearer, of Los Angeles, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Whitehead and daughter, Hazel.

Mrs. Kate Bassham, of Inglewood, spent the week end in the Vernon Bassham home.

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—Gifts were exchanged and presents of candy presented to all present at the business session and Christmas party of the Fullerton W. R. C. yesterday afternoon at Odd Fellows' temple.

Mrs. Sally Putney, Mrs. Clara Bryon, Mrs. Bertha Durland and Mrs. Ida Bowman were initiated. A report of the relief committee revealed the corps has presented $7.75 in clothing, many bouquets and has made 24 personal calls during the past two weeks.

The Christmas program, given by children of members, with Mrs. Anna Dorn as program chairman, included community singing; a reading by Marjorie Dorn; a readinb by Eleanor Dalessi; a violin solo by Margaret Cariker; a reading by Melba Jeanne Zieglar and a group of dance numbers by a class trained by Dorothy Kuhns and including Beryl Lyles, Shirley Jean Miller, Wilma Wilber, Beverly Lotterle, Harold Roth, Wilhelmina Schultz, Virginia Yager and Marvis Tedford.

In addition to the gifts exchanged, special gifts were presented for the old soldiers and widows of the soldiers. Comrade Stuelke of the G. A. R. was a guest.

An invitation was read inviting the W. R. C. members to the installation of officers of the Daughters of Veterans January 15 at Odd Fellows' hall. The next meeting of the corps will be January 4.

CHURCHES PLAN SPECIAL EVENTS FOR CHRISTMAS

Mexican Methodist

Tomorrow night the Mexican Methodist mission will present a Christmas program at the Delhi mission to be followed Sunday at 5 p. m. with a children's pageant at the church. This afternoon children of the church were guests at a party held in the church and last night young people of the church presented a Christmas pageant at the Ebell clubhouse.

Misionary Alliance

The program Sunday night at the Christian and Missionary Alliance church will be in two parts, according to the Rev. C. D. Hicks, pastor. The program will open with a welcome by Betty Valentine. Other numbers are as follows:

The second part of the program will be by the senior department of the Sunday school and will be the songalogue "In Quest of the King," presented in five chapters by readers, soloists and the chorus choir. As a prologue the choir will sing "Christmas Glory Song" and "Ring Ye Bells of Bethlehem."

Chapter one, "The Wise Men From Afar" will be told by Gracie Lee Marriott and Wyoma Mark, who will sing "Shine Beautiful Star" as a solo number. Chapter two, "Joseph and Mary at Bethlehem" will be told by Alta Rhinard with Gaylord Hicks singing the solo "Bethlehem the Lowly," the choir will sing "Gates of Light."

Chapter three, "The Holy Night" will be told by Ina Hicks with Rebecca Mudget and Elizabeth Garlock singing "In a Manger Lying" as a duet. The choir will sing "Echos of Bethlehem." "King Herod's Palace" is the title of chapter four which will be told by Ilene Schrock with Carlton Rhinard singing "Led by a Christmas Star." The concluding chapter will be "The Wise Men Find the King of Kings." This chapter will be told by Esther Hoar with the chorus choir singing two numbers, "Christmas in the Heart" and "The Star."

Work Of Hospitals In Syria Outlined At Society Meeting

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—The Rev. Samuel Edgar of Santa Ana Reformed Presbyterian church yesterday presented an entertaining and instructive talk to members of the Presbyterian Missionary society concerning work in hospitals in Syria.

Mrs. Hannah Johnson, of Hillcrest, at whose home the meeting was held, with her assisting hostess, Mrs. S. N. Fuller served refreshments at the session. Mrs. J. P. LaRue presided. Gifts for the Fullerton needy were presented as the guests and members arrived.

News Of Fullerton and Vicinity

DISCUSSION IS HELD ON THREE FORUM TALKS

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—Open discussion was held at the forum meeting in the old auditorium of the Fullerton union high school last night on the talks given at the Orange County forum Tuesday night when "The Coming Struggle for Power" was discussed.

James Anderson of Santa Ana presented a resume of the speech by Dr. Rufus Von KleinSmid, who talked on "Democracy"; S. W. McColloch brought a brief resume of the talk by Chester Rowell on "Fascism" and Charles Ruby brought a short report on the talk on "Communism," by V. F. Calverton.

Anderson outlined Dr. Von KleinSmid's talk as sounding a warning that "Democracy, in order to be retained as a government by the people, must be a government where the people grant powers and retain rights to withdraw those powers; where the public must direct the business, and study and vote wisely; where all people to lend an influence must have knowledge of the fundamentals of history; and government must be operated by people and not by private interest."

The question that followed from the floor was "Have we ever had a democracy?" After the three talks were concluded, it was stated that "because of lobbying and private interference with legislative bodies, we have never had a real democracy."

Another question that drew considerable attention was "Is it really a democracy, so long as we have unseen government?" This Anderson answered by saying that it is a democracy so long as the people have the right to take away the power from those elected, and when that time ceases, government is either Communism or Fascism.

The fault of the United States government, according to McColloch's decision based on Rowell's talk, is that "where decision has been required, and action consummated, debate has entered in and on that basis of government, democracy is failing, and Fascism is walking in. Failure to face realities, following the World war, and of the people to place competent men in office, is the chief difficulty." Wisdom in voting is the answer, he said, and not just voting according to propaganda that is presented is needed. The Roosevelt program is Fascistic in its essence, for Fascism is the restoring of business to the small business men, he said.

Ruby, in his talk, said that Calverton outlined Communism as having the same objectives as Socialism, but have different means of obtaining objectives. The chief points made by Ruby were that Calverton outlined Communism as an economic planning program placed in operation for the welfare of peoples, and the elimination of the profit system, making a point, he said, that there is no chance for recovery so long as the profit system is maintained.

Norman Hapgood will be the next speaker on January 9 at the Orange County forum meeting, Miss Morley, director of the forum announced. On Thursday, January 4, Walter Thomas Mills, famous lecturer, will talk at the weekly forum, held under Ruby and his high school law classes.

ARRANGE SERVICES FOR MRS. STROOPE

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—Funeral services for Mrs. Maude Stanford Stroope, 57, who passed away at her home in Buena Park yesterday, will be held from the McAulay and Suters Funeral home in Fullerton Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, with the Rev. D. F. Meyers of Santa Ana officiating. Interment will be in Loma Vista cemetery.

Mrs. Stroope, who had been ill for a long period, is survived by her husband, Joseph H. Stroope; daughter, Mrs. Rose L. Waer of Santa Ana; son, Edwin H. Stroope of Newhall; mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanford, Buena Park; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Nelson, San Bernardino; Mrs. Etta Linday, Hollywood, and Mrs. Ada Bandy, Buena Park, and four brothers, Walter Stanford, Mineral Wells, Tex.; Ernest Stanford, Fullerton; Bruce Stanford, La Habra, and George Stanford, Whittier.

KIWANIS CLUB TO CONVENE TUESDAY

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—Fullerton Kiwanians will meet Tuesday at 12:10 o'clock instead of Monday, the usual meeting day, at McFarland's cafe, according to announcements sent out today.

The announcements were printed on a beautiful Christmas greeting card and included the information that Walter Humphreys and his stunt committee are to be in charge of the program. In addition to regular business, new members are to be accepted.

VESPER SERVICE ARRANGED BY FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

FULLERTON, Dec. 22. — "A Christmas Peace Pageant" will be presented Christmas eve as a vesper service at 5 p. m. at the Fullerton Methodist church, an offering of the young people of the church in the high school and junior college departments. Mrs. C. W. O'Flyng will direct the production.

The choir, under direction of Glenn Lewis, and the Angels' choir, directed by Mrs. Frances Montague, with Miss Mildred Gage, celloist, Ronald Collis, violinist, and Mrs. Harold Neilson, organist, are to assist with the programs.

A gift, including offerings of gold, gold plate, sterling silver or platinum, in forms of jewelry, cufflinks, ornaments of all kinds, to be added to the melting pot, is to be collected as offering.

The pageant will conclude the Christmas offerings of the church. There is to be no evening sermon.

PARISH SCHOOL STUDENTS GIVE YULE PROGRAM

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—Children of St. Mary's Parish school this morning held their annual Christmas party and presented an entertainment as a closing school program, opening at 11 o'clock. The classes closed today for Christmas vacation, to reopen January 9 for the balance of the year.

During the program, which was held about a Christmas tree, the orchestra played "The First Noel." After a short introduction to the play, the second act of "The Birds' Christmas Carol," written by Ramona Basabe, where the Ruggles family is preparing for Christmas at the Birds' home, was presented. The characters participating were Mary Glass, playing Mrs. Ruggles; Kathryn Eddy, playing Sarah Maud; Michael Glass, playing Peter; Joan Eadington, playing Peoria; James Sesma, playing Cornelius; Maxine Kraemer, Kitty; Thomas O'Hanlon, Clement; Marjorie O'Hanlon, Larry; Bernard Pospisil, Uncle Jack Bird, and Grace Eadington, Elfrida Clifford.

CLASS MEMBERS IN CHRISTMAS PARTY

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—Mrs. Louis J. Hopkins was hostess Thursday night to the Home Makers' class of the Fullerton Christian church. Gifts were exchanged about a Christmas tree and games were played.

Prizes were won by Mr. Smith, Merle Rayne and Charles Peckham and Lysle Schryock, with prizes given groups led by Smith and J. O. Rayne.

Mrs. Ed Hover and Mrs. Hopkins assisted Mrs. J. O. Rayne in serving fruit cake, cocoa and candy.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Hover, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Roth, Mr. and Mrs. Denver Kane, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Rayne, Lysle Schryock, Hortense Schryock, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Ernestine Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Rayne, Charles Peckham, Cecil Schryock, Mrs. Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Culp and the Rev. and Mrs. Geo. Tinsley.

SUNDAY SCHOOL IN EXERCISES TONIGHT

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—Sunday school pupils of the Methodist church will have as their Christmas program in the church auditorium tonight, besides songs and exercises by the children, a play, "Joyful and Triumphant."

The price of admission for the event is to be an apple, an onion or a potato, or all three, and these gifts are to be distributed among those who need them. Each class is to bring gifts suitable for presentation at the David and Margaret home, the Frances DePauw home, the Spanish American institute or for local welfare work, it was announced. Everyone is invited.

ADVENTIST CHURCH SERVICE ARRANGED

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—William Abbott, officer of the local Seventh Day Adventist church, will deliver the sermon Saturday at 11 a. m. at the regular service, it was announced today by the Rev. J. Walter Rich, pastor of the church.

GRACE PARLOR HOLDS DINNER IN CLUBHOUSE

Mrs. Erna Watts, president, was chairman of the dinner and Mrs. Christine McFarland was chairman of entertainment.

At the business session Mrs. Nelle Cline announced that plans are under way to have a marker placed on the Placentia Fruit ranch, operated under S. W. McColloch, indicating it as the first commercial fruit ranch in Southern California, planted 60 years ago by R. L. Gilman, who resides at Redondo.

The program included an accordion solo by Anna May Hawkins, a group of piano numbers by Helen Hill and Betty Hasson; carols sung by groups of boys and girls, and community singing led by Johanna Lemke. Mrs. Mary Belle Chapman, who with Mr. Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Norenburg, of Los Angeles, was a special guest, sang a group of Spanish numbers.

A dinner is to be served at the American Legion hall February 1, honoring the grand president, Irma Laird, of Alturas, who will visit the parlor. Plans were made for a public card party for January 11 at the clubhouse.

BAPTIST CLASSES ARE ENTERTAINED

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—The Rev. and Mrs. Francis E. Hawes and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Sitton entertained last night for Mrs. Hawes' and Mr. Sitton's Sunday school classes of the Baptist church at a party at the parsonage, where, after a time of games, gifts were exchanged about a tree, and refreshments were served.

Besides the hostesses and hostess, attending were Mrs. Ada Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Comstock, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Manual, Kenneth Hoar, Thelma Gunst, Roye Boyer, Lydia Gage, Eleanor Tate, Wilma Strom, Hayden Bolander, Esther Gregory, Elsworth Gregory, Edith Hinds, Beatrice McMahon, Rebecca Nichols, Charles Bissitt, Robert Carter and Flora McVeigh.

Party Held For Baptist Classes

LA HABRA, Dec. 22.—Mrs. Felix Neveaux and Mrs. Archie Colley united to give a Christmas party for their Sunday school classes of the Baptist Sunday school this week. Games appropriate to the holiday season and informal music were enjoyed.

Christian Church Program Tonight

FULLERTON, Dec. 22—A change in the program for the Fullerton Christian church for this evening has been made. Instead of the play, "These Are My Friends," presented by the high school department, the primary, junior and intermediate departments will present "On Christmas Day," consisting of three parts, as follows:

Part one, Christmas songs and recitations; part two, a play in two scenes, with scenes laid in Bethlehem; part three, presentation of white gifts for aged in California Christian home; Sunday school treat.

IRVINE

IRVINE, Dec. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Staples and Lynn Watkins, of Laguna Beach, spent several days at Fallbrook on a hunting trip.

Mrs. Orville Daugherty has returned from a several weeks vacation with friends and relatives in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stone were guests Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Johnston in Huntington Park.

Tommy Lancaster and Mary Shearer, of Los Angeles, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. William Whitehead and daughter, Hazel.

Mrs. Kate Bassham, of Inglewood, spent the week end in the Vernon Bassham home.

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—Gifts were exchanged and presents of candy presented to all present at the business session and Christmas party of the Fullerton W. R. C. yesterday afternoon at Odd Fellows' temple.

Mrs. Sally Putney, Mrs. Clara Bryon, Mrs. Bertha Durland and Mrs. Ida Bowman were initiated. A report of the relief committee revealed the corps has presented $7.75 in clothing, many bouquets and has made 24 personal calls during the past two weeks.

The Christmas program, given by children of members, with Mrs. Anna Dorn as program chairman, included community singing; a reading by Marjorie Dorn; a readinb by Eleanor Dalessi; a violin solo by Margaret Cariker; a reading by Melba Jeanne Zieglar and a group of dance numbers by a class trained by Dorothy Kuhns and including Beryl Lyles, Shirley Jean Miller, Wilma Wilber, Beverly Lotterle, Harold Roth, Wilhelmina Schultz, Virginia Yager and Marvis Tedford.

In addition to the gifts exchanged, special gifts were presented for the old soldiers and widows of the soldiers. Comrade Stuelke of the G. A. R. was a guest.

An invitation was read inviting the W. R. C. members to the installation of officers of the Daughters of Veterans January 15 at Odd Fellows' hall. The next meeting of the corps will be January 4.

Mexican Methodist

Tomorrow night the Mexican Methodist mission will present a Christmas program at the Delhi mission to be followed Sunday at 5 p.m. with a children's pageant at the church. This afternoon children of the church were guests at a party held in the church and last night young people of the church presented a Christmas pageant at the Ebell clubhouse.

Misionary Alliance

The program Sunday night at the Christian and Missionary Alliance church will be in two parts, according to the Rev. C. D. Hicks, pastor. The program will open with a welcome by Betty Valentine. Other numbers are as follows:

The second part of the program will be by the senior department of the Sunday school and will be the songalogue "In Quest of the King," presented in five chapters by readers, soloists and the chorus choir. As a prologue the choir will sing "Christmas Glory Song" and "Ring Ye Bells of Bethlehem."

Chapter one, "The Wise Men From Afar" will be told by Gracie Lee Marriott and Wyoma Mark, who will sing "Shine Beautiful Star" as a solo number. Chapter two, "Joseph and Mary at Bethlehem" will be told by Alta Rhinard with Gaylord Hicks singing the solo "Bethlehem the Lowly," the choir will sing "Gates of Light.'

Chapter three, "The Holy Night" will be told by Ina Hicks with Rebecca Mudget and Elizabeth Garlock singing "In a Manger Lying" as a duet. The choir will sing "Echos of Bethlehem." "King Herod's Palace" is the title of chapter four which will be told by Ilene Schrock with Carlton Rhinard singing "Led by a Christmas Star." The concluding chapter will be "The Wise Men Find the King of Kings." This chapter will be told by Esther Hoar with the chorus choir singing two numbers, "Christmas in the Heart" and "The Star."

Work Of Hospitals In Syria Outlined At Society Meeting

FULLERTON, Dec. 22.—The Rev. Samuel Edgar of Santa Ana Reformed Presbyterian church yesterday presented an entertaining and instructive talk to members of the Presbyterian Missionary society concerning work in hospitals in Syria.

Mrs. Hannah Johnson, of Hillcrest, at whose home the meeting was held, with her assisting hostess, Mrs. S. N. Fuller served refreshments at the session. Mrs. J. P. LaRue presided. Gifts for the Fullerton needy were presented as the guests and members arrived.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Luncheon

Lettuce Salad with tomato dressing
1 toasted English muffin
1 tsp. butter

Open and tear apart a heart of lettuce for the salad. Skin one or two small tomatoes, dice them and mix with a little French dressing, in this case the dressing to be made of mineral oil. Add minced green pepper and shredded celery to the dressing. It is very good. Cut the muffin in three slices, discarding the center bready slice. Plenty of muffins, and fairly rich dessert and each one's favorite beverage will convert this diet menu into the family luncheon, if they are at home. Don't bother to make special dressing for the salad—the mineral oil won't hurt them just once.

Pecan Pralines

2 rounded tbsps. butter
4 tbsps. water

• • •

Rub the candy kettle well with cold butter—as far up as the syrup is apt to boil. This prevents the sugar crystals from falling back into hot syrup, the cause of "graining" in candies.

• • •

Put the sugar with ½ cup of water to melt over a brisk flame. Add the butter and as the syrup boils briskly add the chopped pecans. Test frequently by dropping in cold water—as soon as the test syrup makes a hard ball, the candy is cooked.

Have pans rubbed with butter, drop the candy by spoonfuls, just as if you were making little hot cakes, press perfect pecans into the center of each praline.

Molasses Candy

1 cup dark cooking molasses
1 cup white sugar
2 tbsps. butter
2 tbsps. vinegar
1 tsp. powdered ginger

I wish I had a dollar today for every batch of molasses candy I made when I was a youngster: that was our main indoor-sport in winter.

• • •

Combine all ingredients but soda and cook until the syrup makes a brittle ball in cold water, then add the pinch of soda, stir quickly and let partially cool on buttered pans. Turn in the edges, roll up the half cooled candy and with buttered hands twist and pull it until it takes on a waxy opaqueness. Twist into ropes, mark for cutting, and let cool.

• • •

• • •

PATTERN 1712
By ANNE ADAMS

Some women will make several of this attractive apron as Christmas gifts for friends; some will make it for themselves—one can never have too many; still others know it offers one of the most delightful opportunities to learn to do home sewing! It's really pretty as can be, as well as comfortable, with the seamings accented by colored binding, and those cute little pockets so efficiently placed. Saves many a good frock, from splashes, too. Choose a gay cotton print, a remnant perhaps, and it will be fresh, and crisp-looking.

Pattern 1712 is available in sizes small, medium and large. Small size takes 1½ yards 36-inch fabric, and 7⅞ yards binding. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

THE CURRENT EDITION OF THE ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK WILL HELP YOU SAVE MONEY. ORDER YOUR COPY TODAY! PRICE FIFTEEN CENTS. CATALOG AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Luncheon

Lettuce Salad with tomato dressing
1 toasted English muffin
1 tsp. butter
Pot of tea, no cream or sugar
Calory total....260.

Open and tear apart a heart of lettuce for the salad. Skin one or two small tomatoes, dice them and mix with a little French dressing, in this case the dressing to be made of mineral oil. Add minced green pepper and shredded celery to the dressing. It is very good. Cut the muffin in three slices, discarding the center bready slice. Plenty of muffins, and fairly rich dessert and each one's favorite beverage will convert this diet menu into the family luncheon, if they are at home. Don't bother to make special dressing for the salad—the mineral oil won't hurt them just once.

* * *

Pecan Pralines

1 pound brown sugar
½ pound shelled pecan nuts
2 rounded tbsps. butter
4 tbsps. water

A pound of pecans in the shell will make half a pound after shelling. Save a few of the choicest halves for the candies, chop up the rest.

* * *

Rub the candy kettle well with cold butter—as far up as the syrup is apt to boil. This prevents the sugar crystals from falling back into hot syrup, the cause of "graining" in candies.

* * *

PATTERN 1712
By ANNE ADAMS

Some women will make several of this attractive apron as Christmas gifts for friends; some will make it for themselves—one can never have too many; still others know it offers one of the most delightful opportunities to learn to do home sewing! It's really pretty as can be, as well as comfortable, with the seamings accented by colored binding, and those cute little pockets so efficiently placed. Saves many a good frock, from splashes, too. Choose a gay cotton print, a remnant perhaps, and it will be fresh, and crisp-looking.

Pattern 1712 is available in sizes small, medium and large. Small size takes 1½ yards 36-inch fabric, and 7⅞ yards binding. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

THE CURRENT EDITION OF THE ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK WILL HELP YOU SAVE MONEY. ORDER YOUR COPY TODAY! PRICE FIFTEEN CENTS. CATALOG AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Address orders to Register Pattern Department.

Add the butter and as the syrup boils briskly add the chopped pecans. Test frequently by dropping in cold water—as soon as the test syrup makes a hard ball, the candy is cooked.

Have pans rubbed with butter, drop the candy by spoonfuls, just as if you were making little hot cakes, press perfect pecans into the center of each praline.

* * *

Molasses Candy

1 cup dark cooking molasses
1 cup white sugar
2 tbsps. butter
2 tbsps. vinegar
1 tsp. powdered ginger
pinch of soda

I wish I had a dollar today for every batch of molasses candy I made when I was a youngster: that was our main indoor-sport in winter.

* * *

Combine all ingredients but soda and cook until the syrup makes a brittle ball in cold water, then add the pinch of soda, stir quickly and let partially cool on buttered pans. Turn in the edges, roll up the half cooled candy and with buttered hands twist and pull it until it takes on a waxy opaqueness. Twist into ropes, mark for cutting, and let cool.

* * *

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

Radio News

GOLF TOURNEY RESULTS TO BE HEARD ON KREG

Stroke by stroke report of the 4000 Pasadena Open Golf tournament will be broadcast over the California Broadcasting system tomorrow afternoon from 3 until 4 o'clock. It will be released over station KREG.

The results of the tournament also will be broadcast between 4:45 and 5 o'clock.

The Pasadena tournament is one of the major golfing events of the winter season in Southern California and numbers among its contestants a majority of the leading professionals of the nation. Many of the leading amateurs of the Southland also are competing.

KREG NOTES

"Centering a Line of Typing" will be the subject of the talk by Mrs. Helen Walden, instructor in typing, Adult Education, Department, Santa Ana City Schools, this evening on KREG at 5:30.

For the first time in over two years, the regularity of schedule of the Spanish Program on KREG will be broken, for tonight only. Senor Enrique Laurent will conduct the Spanish hour from 8 until 9 o'clock, instead of from 9 until 10, to make way for the inauguration broadcast tonight.

Tonight's dramatization at 7:45 on KREG, entitled "The Christmas Eve Ghost" is an unusual sketch of a story with plenty of action concerning the simple faith of the New England mariners and the dramatic return of a ghost that could be seen only through the believing eyes of a child. The playlet will feature Mark Smith, radio star.

GAJESKI'S MUSIC ALBUM ON TONIGHT

This week's broadcast of Gajeski's Music Album," tonight at 7:30, KREG, is to offer four of the greatest musical favorites which will be played and sung by noted artists. Strange as it seems, the program will not include a "Christmas" number exactly classified as such, but the entire broadcast will be dedicated to the theme of Christmas and its meanings.

The program will be as follows: "Love Everlasting," Friml, Brunswick Salon Orchestra; "Minuet," Mozart, Yovanovitch Bratza, 'cellist; "The Rosary," Nevin, Rosa Ponselle, and "Trees," Kilmer-Rasbach, John Charles Thomas.

GIRL MAKES HOLE-IN-ONE

TONAWANDA, N. Y.—(UP)—A woman, Miss Helen Alliger, has joined Tonawanda's hole-in-one golf club. She scored the ace on the ninth hole of the local course, a distance of 155 yards.

RADIO FEATURES

Time References Are Pacific Standard Time

Leopold Stokowski will conduct the Philadelphia Orchestra in the second movement of Schubert's Symphony No. 8 during the concert to be broadcast over the Columbia network including KHJ at 6 tonight. This will complete the playing of the famous "Unfinished Symphony."

SATURDAY

A mass meeting and carol sing by the combined personnel of the National Broadcasting company, Radio City Music Hall, RKO Center theater and other occupants of the RCA, RKO, British Empire and French buildings which are part of Rockfeller Center, will be broadcast over KGO and KECA at 8 a. m. Saturday.

Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper will be the chief speaker at the National Press club Christmas party to be held over the Columbia network including KHJ at 10:30 a. m. Saturday. The 1933 ceremonies will mark the third successive year that Columbia has transmitted the Washington newspaper fraternity's Yuletide greetings to the country. Other speakers will be Raymond B. Brandt, president of the National Press club, and Strickland Gillilan, noted humorist. The musical portion of the program will consist in a Christmas carol service by the National Capital Choir under the direction of Dr. Albert Harned.

Immigrants from many countries who find themselves detained on Ellis Island in New York harbor during the Christmas season, will enjoy a bit of the flavor of Yuletide in the homeland when they are entertained by NBC artists and Metropolitan Opera stars in a one-hour program, staged in the assembly hall at the famous immigration gateway to the United States, which will be broadcast from 11:15 a. m. to 12:15 p. m. Saturday, over an NBC transcontinental network including KPO and KECA.

A British version of black-face wit and song will be heard in America when the British Broadcasting Corporation's "Kentucky Minstrels" present a program to be relayed over the Columbia network including KHJ at 12:30 p. m. Saturday. The NBC minstrels are a weekly feature of the English network and are said to be among its most popular programs. The broadcast will originate in London.

George H. Dern, Secretary of War; Claude A. Swanson, Secretary of the Navy, and Edward A. Hayes, National Commander of the American Legion, will deliver Christmas messages to disabled veterans through the facilities of the Columbia network including KHJ at 1 p. m. Saturday.

CHANGE IS MADE IN POPULAR FEATURE

"Our Romantic Presidents," usually scheduled at 8 p. m. on Fridays, a popular C. B. S. feature, will be heard at 7 o'clock tonight because of the change in schedule. Tonight's episode will dramatize George Washington facing desertion of his men. Continued criticism following the hanging of three deserters finally leads to Washington's resignation from the army. This intense drama, together with the death of the man whose widow later became Martha Washington, has been woven into a half-hour revealing dialogue to be interpreted by the usual cast of eminent radio players.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

GOLF TOURNEY RESULTS TO BE HEARD ON KREG

Stroke by stroke report of the 1933 Pasadena Open Golf tournament will be broadcast over the California Broadcasting system tomorrow afternoon from 3 until 4 o'clock. It will be released over station KREG.

The results of the tournament also will be broadcast between 4:45 and 5 o'clock.

The Pasadena tournament is one of the major golfing events of the winter season in Southern California and numbers among its contestants a majority of the leading professionals of the nation. Many of the leading amateurs of the Southland also are competing.

KREG NOTES

"Centering a Line of Typing" will be the subject of the talk by Mrs. Helen Walden, instructor in typing, Adult Education, Department, Santa Ana City Schools, this evening on KREG at 5:30.

For the first time in over two years, the regularity of schedule of the Spanish Program on KREG will be broken, for tonight only. Senor Enrique Laurent will conduct the Spanish hour from 8 until 9 o'clock, instead of from 9 until 10, to make way for the inauguration broadcast tonight.

Tonight's dramatization at 7:45 on KREG, entitled "The Christmas Eve Ghost" is an unusual sketch of a story with plenty of action concerning the simple faith of the New England mariners and the dramatic return of a ghost that could be seen only through the believing eyes of a child. The playlet will feature Mark Smith, radio star.

GAJESKI'S MUSIC ALBUM ON TONIGHT

This week's broadcast of Gajeski's Music Album," tonight at 7:30, KREG, is to offer four of the greatest musical favorites which will be played and sung by noted artists. Strange as it seems, the program will not include a "Christmas" number exactly classified as such, but the entire broadcast will be dedicated to the theme of Christmas and its meanings.

The program will be as follows: "Love Everlasting," Friml, Brunswick Salon Orchestra; "Minuet," Mozart, Yovanovitch Bratza, 'cellist; "The Rosary," Nevin, Rosa Ponselle, and "Trees," Kilmer-Rasbach, John Charles Thomas.

GIRL MAKES HOLE-IN-ONE

TONAWANDA, N. Y.—(UP)—A woman, Miss Helen Alliger, has joined Tonawanda's hole-in-one golf club. She scored the ace on the ninth hole of the local course, a distance of 155 yards.

RADIO FEATURES

Time References Are Pacific Standard Time

Leopold Stokowski will conduct the Philadelphia Orchestra in the second movement of Schubert's Symphony No. 8 during the concert to be broadcast over the Columbia network including KHJ at 6 tonight. This will complete the playing of the famous "Unfinished Symphony."

SATURDAY

A mass meeting and carol sing by the combined personnel of the National Broadcasting company, Radio City Music Hall, RKO Center theater and other occupants of the RCA, RKO, British Empire and French buildings which are part of Rockfeller Center, will be broadcast over KGO and KECA at 8 a. m. Saturday.

Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper will be the chief speaker at the National Press club Christmas party to be held over the Columbia network including KHJ at 10:30 a. m. Saturday. The 1933 ceremonies will mark the third successive year that Columbia has transmitted the Washington newspaper fraternity's Yuletide greetings to the country. Other speakers will be Raymond B. Brandt, president of the National Prerss club, and Strickland Gillilan, noted humorist. The musical portion of the program will consist in a Christmas carol service by the National Capital Choir under the direction of Dr. Albert Harned.

Immigrants from many countries who find themselves detained on Ellis Island in New York harbor during the Christmas season, will enjoy a bit of the flavor of Yuletide in the homeland when they are entertained by NBC artists and Metropolitan Opera stars in a one-hour program, staged in the assembly hall at the famous immigration gateway to the United States, which will be broadcast from 11:15 a. m. to 12:15 p. m. Saturday, over an NBC transcontinental network including KPO and KECA.

A British version of black-face wit and song will be heard in America when the British Broadcasting Corporation's "Kentucky Minstrels" present a program to be relayed over the Columbia network including KHJ at 12:30 p. m. Saturday. The NBC minstrels are a weekly feature of the English network and are said to be among its most popular programs. The broadcast will originate in London.

George H. Dern, Secretary of War; Claude A. Swanson, Secretary of the Navy, and Edward A. Hayes, National Commander of the American Legion, will deliver Christmas messages to disabled veterans through the facilities of the Columbia network including KHJ at 1 p. m. Saturday.

CHANGE IS MADE IN POPULAR FEATURE

"Our Romantic Presidents," usually scheduled at 8 p. m. on Fridays, a popular C. B. S. feature, will be heard at 7 o'clock tonight because of the change in schedule. Tonight's episode will dramatize George Washington facing desertion of his men. Continued criticism following the hanging of three deserters finally leads to Washington's resignation from the army. This intense drama, together with the death of the man whose widow later became Martha Washington, has been woven into a half-hour revealing dialogue to be interpreted by the usual cast of eminent radio players.

WINTERSBURG

Mrs. Ray Lacy is ill at her home. A nurse is caring for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sowers and son, Bobbie, spent Sunday in Long Beach as guests of Mrs. Sowers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Horn.

Miss Nellie McIntosh, who was at home from school in Los Angeles over th eweek end, entertained as her guest, her roommate, Miss Katherine Baerz. John McIntosh also was home from Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Sowers and family, with Mr. Sowers' brothers Lee Sowers, and family as their guests, motored recently to Culver City where all were dinner guests of Mrs. O. A. Sowers' mother, Mrs E. A. Ritter.

Dawn Treece, who has been very ill, is convalescing satisfactorily and it is expected she will be able to return to her classes with the reopening of the school term after the holidays.

The first meeting of a new Sunday school class of married couples of the First Baptist church of Huntington Beach, held Tuesday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph at Huntington Beach, was attended by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McIntosh. Mr. McIntosh is teacher of the class.

Mr and Mrs. Eaton and daughter, Mrs. Veda Lewis, who have been with relatives at Riverside for 10 days have returned home.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Gaskill and family of San Jacinto spent the week end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Clay Kellogg.

Kenyon Moody, a student at U. C. L. A., who is spending his holiday vacation in El Bodena, was a dinner guest one evening recently in the home of Mrs. G. R. Reyburn, and his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Moody.

Mrs. Stella Cooley, Mrs. G. L. Beardsley, Mrs. Bess Mott, Mrs. Cora Coloun and Mrs. Minnie Lockman attended a silver tea given in the home of Mrs. Marguerite Harris in Anaheim.

Members of the W. R. C. and their families enjoyed a pot luck dinner followed by a gift exchange in the Legion hall Friday evening.

Mrs. Ray Beardsley has returned from Hollywood, where she visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Benedict for several weeks. Mrs. Benedict, a sister, of Mrs. Beardsley, recently submitted to a major operation at the Angeles hospital.

Members of the Home department of the Garden Grove Farm center met in the home of Mrs. D. S. Jordon Tuesday afternoon. Members exchanged ideas in making gifts out of small bits of material. Those present were Mrs. W. L. Bortz and Mrs. Robbins, of Olive; Mrs. Charles George, Mrs. W. O. Broady, Mrs. C. W. Musser, Mrs. T. Clark and Mrs. Carl Nichols.

DENTAL CLINIC PLAN APPROVED AT CONFERENCE

ANAHEIM, Dec. 22.—The plan to turn over more than $1200 to the elementary schools to be used towards the establishment of a dental clinic met with unanimous approval last night when a meeting of school, city and dental representatives was held at the city hall and presided over by Mayor Charles H. Mann.

The following committee was appointed to see if the elementary school board will accept this money and take the responsibility of establishing a dental clinic for school children, a plan that has been carefully cherished over a period of ten years. The committee includes Miss E. Kate Rea, chairman, and representative of the school board, O. E. Steward, representing the original committee, Leo Sheridan, representing the city council and Dr. Max M. Henderson and Dr. C. P. Tompkins, representing the dentists.

The committee was empowered to turn over the money to the school if that body will accept it but in case of its refusal the committee will formulate a new plan of procedure. As soon as the school accepts the money the committee will cease to function.

Mrs. Mona Price, head of the welfare department, lead the discussion that included ways and means and together with Mrs. Eva Boyd, Mrs. Harry Jayne and O. E. Steward, all members of the original committee named 10 years ago, traced the history of the $1200 placed with the city in trust when the welfare department was made a part of the city work.

Mrs. Price stated this morning that the plan met with no contention whatever and that it is extremely likely that Anaheim will soon have a dental clinic. The dentists were particularly enthusiastic over the project, feeling that school children should be given this necessary care that is too often neglected.

MEXICANS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

ANAHEIM, Dec. 22.—Two Mexicans were injured in a traffic mishap early this morning when the automobile in which they were riding collided at Los Angeles and Cypress with one driven by Mrs. Anna Tomblin of 409 Elm street. The two injured were Louis Martinez and Pete Calbo. The car was driven by H. Urtardo.

Police were unable to say how badly the two Mexicans were injured, but they were advised to be taken to a doctor or to the Orange county hospital.

MRS. DARNELL HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

ANAHEIM, Dec. 22.—Reports were made in the police station yesterday morning showing that Mrs. Jennie Darnell, proprietor of the Mission Studios, 314 West Center street, was injured Wednesday evening as she was crossing the street in the 300 block on West Center. She was struck by an automobile belonging to Charles L. Gifford, rancher living near Anaheim.

Mrs. Darnell was removed to the Anaheim Sanitarium where her wounds were treated, including a tractured wrist.

Anaheim Police Notes

ANAHEIM, Dec. 22. — Charles R. Brown was arrested last night for drunk driving following an accident at Philadelphia and Center streets in which he was involved. The other car was driven by Burton Allen of Garden Grove who was expected to sign a complaint today. No one was injured in the accident. Brown was booked and lodged in the local jail last night.

Floyd Overstreet of Buena Park arraigned yesterday in the police court on a mayhem charge had his preliminary hearing set for December 27 at 9 a. m. He was released on a $500 property bail bond.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Dec. 22.—W. Wildman suffered a painful injury when a flying nail struck one of his eyes, cutting a gash which required several stitches to close. As Mr. Wildman is awaiting an operation for cataract on the other eye the accident has incapacitated him from all work for the present. The injury will not prove permanent as the iris of the eye was untouched.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Dell were entertained at 7 o'clock dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Day Monday evening.

CIGAR INDIAN STOLEN

HAVERHILL, Mass. — (UP)—Theft of a wood nIndian, such as those without which cigar store fronts of two or three decades ago were incomplete, was reported to police by William Hiley. The antique redskin had stood for years outside his tobacco shop.

Live Poultry Comment

LOS ANGELES—The live poultry market was in a steady position today with local receipts no more than equal to demand. There was no change in the white and colored hen market. Broiler receipts were equal to demand. A steady undertone prevailed on colored fryers with local receipts not equal to demand in some quarters. Live ducks were in a firm position with f. o. b. price advanced two cents on prime quality. One car of live poultry was reported from Iowa. TURKEYS: The turkey situation continued in an unsettled condition this morning with buying from the retail trade reported as very slow. Butchers were holding up orders until later in the week. Live hen turkeys were in a firmer position this morning with 16c to 18c reported being paid for them, and with majority purchased at inside figure. Local receipts of dressed prime turkeys were in a firm position with 18 to 19c being paid for same and with dealers not very enthusiastic about taking on undergrades.

DENTAL CLINIC PLAN APPROVED AT CONFERENCE

ANAHEIM, Dec. 22.—The plan to turn over more than $1200 to the elementary schools to be used towards the establishment of a dental clinic met with unanimous approval last night when a meeting of school, city and dental representatives was held at the city hall and presided over by Mayor Charles H. Mann.

The following committee was appointed to see if the elementary school board will accept this money and take the responsibility of establishing a dental clinic for school children, a plan that has been carefully cherished over a period of ten years. The committee includes Miss E. Kate Rea, chairman, and representative of the school board, O. E. Steward, representing the original committee, Leo Sheridan, representing the city council and Dr. Max M. Henderson and Dr. C. F. Tompkins, representing the dentists.

The committee was empowered to turn over the money to the school if that body will accept it but in case of its refusal the committee will formulate a new plan of procedure. As soon as the school accepts the money the committee will cease to function.

Mrs. Mona Price, head of the welfare department, lead the discussion that included ways and means and together with Mrs. Eva Boyd, Mrs. Harry Jayne and O. E. Steward, all members of the original committee named 10 years ago, traced the history of the $1200 placed with the city in trust when the welfare department was made a part of the city work.

Mrs. Price stated this morning that the plan met with no contention whatever and that it is extremely likely that Anaheim will soon have a dental clinic. The dentists were particularly enthusiastic over the project, feeling that school children should be given this necessary care that is too often neglected.

MEXICANS INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

ANAHEIM, Dec. 22.—Two Mexicans were injured in a traffic mishap early this morning when the automobile in which they were riding collided at Los Angeles and Cypress with one driven by Mrs. Anna Tomblin of 409 Elm street. The two injured were Louis Martinez and Pete Calbo. The car was driven by H. Urtardo.

Police were unable to say how badly the two Mexicans were injured, but they were advised to be taken to a doctor or to the Orange county hospital.

MRS. DARNELL HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

ANAHEIM, Dec. 22.—Reports were made in the police station yesterday morning showing that Mrs. Jennie Darnell, proprietor of the Mission Studios, 314 West Center street, was injured Wednesday evening as she was crossing the street in the 300 block on West Center. She was struck by an automobile belonging to Charles L. Gifford, rancher living near Anaheim.

Mrs. Darnell was removed to the Anaheim Sanitarium where her wounds were treated, including a tractured wrist.

Anaheim Police Notes

ANAHEIM, Dec. 22. — Charles R. Brown was arrested last night for drunk driving following an accident at Philadelphia and Center streets in which he was involved. The other car was driven by Burton Allen of Garden Grove who was expected to sign a complaint today. No one was injured in the accident. Brown was booked and lodged in the local jail last night.

Floyd Overstreet of Buena Park arraigned yesterday in the police court on a mayhem charge had his preliminary hearing set for December 27 at 9 a. m. He was released on a $500 property bail bond.

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, Dec. 22.—W. Wildman suffered a painful injury when a flying nail struck one of his eyes, cutting a gash which required several stitches to close. As Mr. Wildman is awaiting an operation for cataract on the other eye the accident has incapacitated him from all work for the present. The injury will not prove permanent as the iris of the eye was untouched.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Dell were entertained at 7 o'clock dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Day Monday evening.

CIGAR INDIAN STOLEN

HAVERHILL, Mass. — (UP)—Theft of a wood nIndian, such as those without which cigar store fronts of two or three decades ago were incomplete, was reported to police by William Hiley. The antique redskin had stood for years outside his tobacco shop.

Live Poultry Comment

LOS ANGELES—The live poultry market was in a steady position today with local receipts no more than equal to demand. There was no change in the white and colored hen market. Broiler receipts were equal to demand. A steady undertone prevailed on colored fryers with local receipts not equal to demand in some quarters. Live ducks were in a firm position with f. o. b. price advanced two cents on prime quality. One car of live poultry was reported from Iowa. TURKEYS: The turkey situation continued in an unsettled condition this morning with buying from the retail trade reported as very slow. Butchers were holding up orders until later in the week. Live hen turkeys were in a firmer position this morning with 16c to 18c reported being paid for them, and with majority purchased at inside figure. Local receipts of dressed prime turkeys were in a firm position with 18 to 19c being paid for same and with dealers not very enthusiastic about taking on undergrades.

Chicago Bd. of Trade

CHICAGO, Dc. 22.— (UP) — Grain prices soared today in response to the government's silver proclamation. Bullish crop news added impetus to the rise.

After rising the limit of 5 cents a bushel, wheat encountered considerable profit takin⅞ and eased from the highs, but held gains of 3 and 4 cents until the close.

At the close wheat was 3½ to 3⅝c higher, corn was up 2 to 2⅜c and oats were 1¾ to 2 cents higher.

Legal Notice

JOHN CLARKSON, Atty.

No. 31161
NOTICE OF COMMISSIONER'S SALE

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF TUSTIN, a corporation, Plaintiff,
H. R. TAYLOR AND BERTHA TAYLOR, husband and wife; THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF SANTA ANA, a corporation; ALFRED A. APPLING and JESSIE H. APPLING, co-partners doing business under name of Appling Collection Company; REID FALKMAN; JOE A. CLEMMONS THE IRVINE COMPANY, a corporation; E. TUCKER; STANDARD PIPE AND SUPPLY COMPANY, a corporation; PASADENA NATIONAL BANK, a corporation; JOHN M. ASHCRAFT and RUTH K. ASHCRAFT; INTERSTATE FINANCE COMPANY, a corporation; FOX-WOODSUM LUMBER COMPANY, a corporation; S. R. BOWEN CO., a corporation; HELEN S. RICHARDS, Defendants.

Under and by virtue of an order of sale and decree of foreclosure and writ for the enforcement of judgment issued out of the above entitled Court in the above-entitled action on the 22nd day of December, 1933, wherein the above named plaintiff obtained a judgment and decree on the 1st day of December, 1933, which said judgment and decree was on the 12th day of December, 1933, entered and recorded in Judgment Book 31, at Page 285, et seq., to which judgment and decree reference is hereby made, I am commanded to sell at public auction all that certain real property situate in the County of Orange, State of California, and described as follows, to-wit:

Lot Twelve (12), in Block "C" of Martin's Addition to the Town of Tustin City, as per Map thereof recorded in Book 19, Page 79, of Miscellaneous Records of Los Angeles County, California.

EXCEPT that portion thereof, if any, included within the strip of land 100 feet in width conveyed to the Southern Pacific Railroad by Deed recorded in Book 270, Page 289 of Deeds, Records of Los Angeles County, California.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on the 13th day of January, 1934, at 11:55 A. M. of that day, at the South Front Door of the County Court House in the City of Santa Ana, California, in obedience to said order of sale and decree of foreclosure and writ for the enforcement of judgment, I will sell the above described property or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said judgment with interest and costs and expenses of sale, at public auction to the highest and best bidder for cash, in lawful money of the United States.

D. D. PATTERSON,
Commissioner appointed by said Court.
JOHN CLARKSON, Esq.,
Santa Ana, California.
Attorney for Plaintiff.

Legal Notice

JOHN CLARKSON, Atty.

No. 31161
NOTICE OF COMMISSIONER'S SALE

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF TUSTIN, a corporation, Plaintiff,
H. R. TAYLOR AND BERTHA TAYLOR, husband and wife; THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF SANTA ANA, a corporation; ALFRED A. APPLING AND JESSIE H. APPLING, co-partners doing business under name of Appling Collection Company; REID FALKMAN; JOE A. CLEMMONS THE IRVINE COMPANY, a corporation; E. TUCKER; STANDARD PIPE AND SUPPLY COMPANY, a corporation; PASADENA NATIONAL BANK, a corporation; JOHN M. ASHCRAFT and RUTH K. ASHCRAFT; INTERSTATE FINANCE COMPANY, a corporation; FOX-WOODSUM LUMBER COMPANY, a corporation; S. R. BOWEN CO., a corporation; HELEN S. RICHARDS, Defendants.

Under and by virtue of an order of sale and decree of foreclosure and writ for the enforcement of judgment issued out of the above entitled Court in the above-entitled action on the 22nd day of December, 1933, wherein the above named plaintiff obtained a judgment and decree on the 1st day of December, 1933, which said judgment and decree was on the 12th day of December, 1933, entered and recorded in Judgment Book 31, at Page 285, et seq., to which judgment and decree reference is hereby made, I am commanded to sell at public auction all that certain real property situate in the County of Orange, State of California, and described as follows, to-wit:

Lot Twelve (12), in Block "C" of Martin's Addition to the Town of Tustin City, as per Map thereof recorded in Book 19, Page 79, of Miscellaneous Records of Los Angeles County, California.

EXCEPT that portion thereof, if any, included within the strip of land 100 feet in width conveyed to the Southern Pacific Railroad by Deed recorded in Book 270, Page 289 of Deeds, Records of Los Angeles County, California.

Together with the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging, or in anywise appertaining.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on the 13th day of January, 1934, at 11:55 A. M. of that day, at the South Front Door of the County Court House in the City of Santa Ana, California, in obedience to said order of sale and decree of foreclosure and writ for the enforcement of judgment, I will sell the above described property or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said judgment with interest and costs and expenses of sale, at public auction to the highest and best bidder for cash, in lawful money of the United States.

D. D. PATTERSON,
Commissioner appointed by said Court.
JOHN CLARKSON, Esq.,
Santa Ana, California.
Attorney for Plaintiff.

THE MEANING OF THE NEW POLICY

Roosevelt today by proclamation directs that the mints of the United States accept for coinage all silver mined in the United States. The price of silver is set at 64 1-2 cents an ounce.

It was agreed by the London Economic Conference treaty that these governments would refrain from the policy and practice of melting up and debasing silver coins; it was also agreed that these governments would replace low-valued paper money with silver coins; and that they would not enact any legislation that would depreciate the value of silver in the world market.

The result of this international agreement on silver will most certainly lead to an increased demand for silver. The peoples of the world are convinced of two things; one that there is not enough gold in the world to do business at the present level of prices, as is evidenced by all nations being off the gold standard and second that paper money not backed by any metal is an experiment so dangerous that it might at anytime lead to wholesale inflation. In anticipation perhaps of such an increase in value the price established for the present time is 64 1-2 cents an ounce, or 19 cents above the market price of silver.

For two hundred years prior to the establishment of gold as the sole monetary metal, gold and silver exchanged at a ratio of about fifteen to one. When silver was discarded in 1873 its price in terms of gold dropped steadily until all nations except France, Holland and Switzerland were off the gold standard. Now with an international treaty looking towards its re-establishment as a monetary metal its price in terms of all other things will be governed by the increased demand that will be made upon it for coinage purposes.

Those nations who have a large supply of silver are regarded as the chief beneficiaries of the silver agreement. The United States is regarded as fortunate because a great deal of silver is produced in the United States: India, and China, in fact all the Asiatic peoples are regarded as being fortunate because these people have been accumulating and doing business in terms of silver money for many, many centuries. Their purchasing power, owing to the increase in the value of their money, is expected to stimulate business in all nations that do business with them. In this regard the location of California in respect to these peoples is very advantageous indeed.

No one today can predict how far the nations of the world will go towards the re-establishment of silver as a monetary metal. The late London Conference is only the first of a series of agreements that have as their purpose the establishment of the dollar, the pound, the franc and every other unit of coinage in a permanent relation to each other such as prevailed prior to the world war. This for the purpose of facilitating world trade; which is now becoming rapidly impossible owing largely to unstable money values.

Every nation now off the gold standard is an evidence of the fact that so far as that nation is concerned, the gold standard is a failure. The triumph of "sound money" in 1896 sustained by newly discovered gold at that time, was despoiled by the World war, and the nations of the world are again looking to silver which served so admirably as a monetary metal for hundreds of years prior to its sudden eclipse by gold.

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF LARGE SCALE COINAGE OF SILVER

The President's proclamation for the purchase of silver and the coining of the same at a certain price, is the startling news in the financial world today. This act of the President does two things. It of course increases the market for silver and causes jubilation throughout the silver states and the silver advocates. It leads the way to bi-metallism, which many have advocated here, and many of the nations of the world have been insisting upon.

It is another step toward greater inflation, and yet controlled inflation, which will unquestionably raise the prices of all commodities. Indeed, this morning at the opening of the stock exchange and the commodity exchanges, prices shot up in the matter of gold and wheat, to their limit.

This act by the President, just before Congress convenes, tends to place the President in an extremely impregnable position with Congress. A few months ago there was considerable criticism leveled at the President by the anti-inflation or so-called "sound money" people. There was also a hue and cry raised by the extreme inflationists, and the President was finding himself between two hostile forces. However, the planned opposition by the reactionaries, breaking over the country, drove the President a little farther toward the radicals, and brought the radicals entirely to the support of the President. It indicated, if that kind of campaign was going to be carried on, that the so-called "hard money" group would be left stranded, relatively few in number, and without support in the country.

In the meantime, business has been picking up; the CWA is bringing millions of dollars into circulation; the people are being employed, and take it on the whole, the future is brighter than it has been for some two years. We are among those who believe that the President is wisely leading, and that he is wisely advised. He has had to take some extreme attitudes, and he may have to take more of them in the future. But he is going only as far as public opinion will support him in going, and public opinion is solidly at his back now.

There is only one move left, and that is to actually "peg" the price of the dollar, and we will soon see silver and gold doing their work hand in hand, at the ratio probably of approximately 16 to 1, both of them freely coined. From any point you look at it, there were a great many people given a Christmas present by this proclamation of Mr. Roosevelt.

"ROUGH STUFF" IN THE ARMY

According to the surgeon general of the United States Army, Major General Robert U. Patterson, in his annual report to the Secretary of War, 25.4 of every 1000 of the personnel of the army became hospital cases last year because of athletic mishaps. Baseball is responsible for the most injuries. Wrestling, football and boxing come next. The death by accident in the army was greater than death by disease,—284 over against 279.

The surgeon general attributes most of these accidents and deaths to excessive roughness on the part of officers and men in athletic games. The soldiers in Hawaii play the roughest, and suffer the most broken legs, fingers and noses. Soldiers in China furnish the most hospital cases from the "grunt game," whatever that might be. General Patterson states that roughness is widespread, and should be eliminated.

This has been a complaint made against college athletics. But this is the first time we have heard the complaint against the army athletics. Those familiar with army athletics will not be surprised at the figures cited by the surgeon general. Young men segregated from homes, and herded together in encampments, have to amuse themselves in some way. The conditions of their training naturally does not make them mollycoddles. When they play, they play with vigor, not necessarily in an unsportsmanlike manner. But the civilian will be surprised to learn that so many of them become hospital cases as a result of their athletic exercises.

Even in a life given to roughness, not only in war, but also in peace, a certain amount of violent exercise is to be expected. But even the surgeon general thinks it goes too far.

THE IRISH BLUE SHIRTS

Ireland is having its troubles within and without. President De Valera is waging a battle with England, on one hand, and with a fascist group within his own borders, on the other. The peace which Ireland has sought for centuries, and which was supposed to have arrived when it became a self-governing state within the British Commonwealth of Nations, has proven just as elusive as ever. John Morley's statement, made many years ago, that the Irish question would be solved only the day after the Day of Judgment, is still valid.

The Irish people have rarely been able to settle their differences around a council table. Lord Tennyson once remarked that an Irishman would never be happy until the road to Paradise was lined with shelahlis which automatically hit him over the head. The mercurial and somewhat pugnacious spirit of an otherwise lovable and kindly people has been their undoing again and again.

It is for this reason that the true friends of Ireland look with sadness upon the internal strife now being waged so bitterly between the forces of the government and the blue shirts. Irish blood is being shed by Irishmen, not by British soldiers. It must be a great disappointment to all the Irish descendants in this land and others, whose hearts have been warm toward "the old sod," to see this strife of countrymen who should be united for the common good. They need so badly the Anglo-Saxon mood of settling things in council.

The Grave of Poe

Oakland Tribune

It is said to have been the lot of Edgar Allen Poe to have been ignored. "The literary world was the only world that knew him and it had no love for him."

After all this time—and when Poe's works are still selling in many of the nations of the world—a citizen of Baltimore, walking in an obscure section of his city's cemetery, came upon a neglected grave. There were heaps of tin cans and other refuse upon it, and it was the grave of Poe.

What the citizen of Baltimore had to say has aroused interest over a wide area in a movement to erect a fitting monument to that strange genius who was Poe. It has brought forth comment, condemnatory and resigned, and among it, this:

"Even if a neglected world should suddenly become aware of its neglect and should seek to make amends by towering his tomb with all the mock dignity of impressive marble and bronze, how pitifully unimpressive that monument would be in comparison with the living monument wrought with his own inspired hands! How unimpressive would be the costliest sarcophagus when compared to that other monument composed of the poignant and eternal beauties of "The Raven," and "To Helen,' and "Annabel Lee?" No matter how that neglected sepulcher may discredit the soul of a neglectful public, no spirit that ever braved the immensities of immortality on the sweeping wings of melody ever had less need of a marbled resting place than Edgar Allen Poe."

Fiscal prophets assure us that more than $5,000,000,000 will be demanded of the next congress, as the country receives its bill for the normal and emergency costs of its federal government. This is a tremendous total of money—only an astronomer can have any working notion of what 5,000,000,000 of anything really means—yet it is of no great consequence by comparison with the total values at stake. If this money were to be used in blasting a military enemy off the map, our national enthusiasm, indeed, would be in direct proportion to the size of the bill. Existence is to Tommy

But when the evening shadows
Creep over glade and glen,
He won't go out
And run about,
For things might happen, then.

There may be snakes and lizards
Concealed among the grass;
There may be bears
That make their lairs
In yonder dark morass.
And owls with awful voices—
Owls one can never see—
May nightly poise
To swoop on boys
Who dare to climb their tree.

So when the twilight gathers,
And when the night wind roars,
He doesn't care
To do and dare,
He'd rather stay indoors.
Besides, there's lots of daytime
When one may romp and run—
Long, happy hours
To search for flowers,
And get one's playing done.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

SCHOOLING IS NOT ENOUGH

Yesterday I emphasized the urgent necessity of prompt attention to the working out of materials and means for a nation-wide adult education movement unless the new leisure of shorter hours, essential to national recovery, is to catch us unprepared.

I warned against the assumption that literacy is enough, that a nation that can read, write, figure and use decent English is necessarily equipped to handle this new leisure that inevitably looms ahead.

Today I want to go a step further and, although it may sound strange from a university president, say that we must guard against the assumption that the formalized training of the schools is sufficient, that a nation equipped with the traditional diplomas and degrees can safely be entrusted with this new leisure.

Experience has forced me to realize that a merely conventional schooling indifferently pursued does not necessarily make the schooled man materially different from the unschooled man in the effective management of his life and leisure.

I have seen a distinguished scientist vie with a ward-healer in bringing passion, prejudice and partisanship to a political campaign. I have seen eminent scholars join hands with emotional fanatics in labeling and libeling as dangerous men who dared to challenge the judgment of the herd. I have seen whole faculties of universities, with heartening exceptions, become drunk on the wine of war-time hysteria and join the witch burning. I have seen men think scientifically about the bacillus of a fever and sentimentally about the basis of a foreign policy within the same twenty-four hours.

"In my time," the great William James once said, "there has been in eastern Massachusetts no enterprise of public or private rascality that has not been organized or led by a Harvard man."

I suspect that James did not mean this literally, but was trying, by the device of dramatic exaggeration, to emphasize the fact that mere schooling and a vital education that will make men sound servants of a successful social order are not necessarily identical.

All of which means that this business of adult education calls for the working out of new materials, new means and new methods that shall specifically deal with the development of the minds and characters of adult Americans to the end that they may function intelligently and safely in the midst of the new leisure that national recovery must involve.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

BEYOND HIS DEPTH

Since the first father and mother gazed proudly upon their offspring, parental pride has flourished in the family. One can't help feeling proud of the beautiful child that fills the house with hope and joy. He may be a terrible trial at times, but that feeling of achievement today and honor tomorrow that every parent knows as he looks at his child, rises to top all else. It is the emotion that sustains parents through the struggles and sacrifices a growing family entails, and I for one say more power to it.

Sometimes this feeling leads loving parents astray. They note with delight that one of the children has a gift for music, or art, or science. At once their pride and imagination soar. They see this child grown to maturity, an accomplished genius to whom the world pays homage. Nothing must stand in the way of this child's genius. He must have the best teachers, the finest opportunities. The other children have to step back and do with less for the sake of the honor to the family. The whole family is drained to provide for the gifted one.

The child himself is used for one purpose only. He must live for his gift, and for the family pride. His play is cut down. His associations are limited. His experiences are reduced to the lowest terms of his special interest. He lives an unwholesome warped existence in the hope, his parents hope,—usually the child has none,—that success in years to come will make up for all the loss and sacrifice he endures.

Once in a generation this may be justified. A genius does arise once in wide spans of time. He must endure the suffering that genius exacts. But what of the great host of gifted, talented children who are not geniuses? Why should they suffer? They do. I see them many times. They have talent that if developed will give them position, a living, and much pleasure. Beyond that, no. The world will never wear a pathway to their doors. There are too many of them.

It is difficult for parents to abide by this. To have a genius in the family, what glory, what honor. The child must work to achieve. So one sees children bound to the piano or the violin or the laboratory table to serve out their time in grinding labor that has for them no beckoning vision, no spiritual compensation. It is a waste of life and nobody, not even a proud parent has the right to do that.

How is one to know when a child is beyond his depth? By watching and listening to him. It is hard to see and hear what a child is saying when one's own voice is speaking so loudly. One hears what one wants to hear, sees what one wants to see, under such conditions. The child has to create a tornado of sound before he can be heard and few children have the power or the inclination to do that.

Genius bears its mark. It cannot be mistaken. Talent has its characteristics, easily recognized by experienced eyes. The genius is precious but no more so than the great group of talented children who are to leaven the lump of humanity. These children have a great contribution to make to the life of the nation and their health and happiness as well as their talents must be safeguarded. They are not to be driven beyond their depth by eager parents and teachers. They are not to be made feel that they are failures because they can never play before the crown heads or win ribbons from the governments of the earth.

They can do better than that. They can live happy, useful lives and contribute to the happiness of a whole people as one of them. A genius is a star, lonely and aloof. A talented man is a brother bearing gifts.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing a three-cent stamped addressed envelope for reply.)

THE MEANING OF THE NEW POLICY

Roosevelt today by proclamation directs that the mints of the United States accept for coinage all silver mined in the United States. The price of silver is set at 64 1-2 cents an ounce.

It was agreed by the London Economic Conference treaty that these governments would refrain from the policy and practice of melting up and debasing silver coins; it was also agreed that these governments would replace low-valued paper money with silver coins; and that they would not enact any legislation that would depreciate the value of silver in the world market.

The result of this international agreement on silver will most certainly lead to an increased demand for silver. The peoples of the world are convinced of two things: one that there is not enough gold in the world to do business at the present level of prices, as is evidenced by all nations being off the gold standard and second that paper money not backed by any metal is an experiment so dangerous that it might at anytime lead to wholesale inflation. In anticipation perhaps of such an increase in value the price established for the present time is 64 1-2 cents an ounce, or 19 cents above the market price of silver.

For two hundred years prior to the establishment of gold as the sole monetary metal, gold and silver exchanged at a ratio of about fifteen to one. When silver was discarded in 1873 its price in terms of gold dropped steadily until all nations except France, Holland and Switzerland were off the gold standard. Now with an international treaty looking towards its re-establishment as a monetary metal its price in terms of all other things will be governed by the increased demand that will be made upon it for coinage purposes.

Those nations who have a large supply of silver are regarded as the chief beneficiaries of the silver agreement. The United States is regarded as fortunate because a great deal of silver is produced in the United States; India, and China, in fact all the Asiatic peoples are regarded as being fortunate because these people have been accumulating and doing business in terms of silver money for many, many centuries. Their purchasing power, owing to the increase in the value of their money, is expected to stimulate business in all nations that do business with them. In this regard the location of California in respect to these peoples is very advantageous indeed.

No one today can predict how far the nations of the world will go towards the re-establishment of silver as a monetary metal. The late London Conference is only the first of a series of agreements that have as their purpose the establishment of the dollar, the pound, the franc and every other unit of coinage in a permanent relation to each other such as prevailed prior to the world war. This for the purpose of facilitating world trade; which is now becoming rapidly impossible owing largely to unstable money values.

Every nation now off the gold standard is an evidence of the fact that so far as that nation is concerned, the gold standard is a failure. The triumph of "sound money" in 1896 sustained by newly discovered gold at that time, was despoiled by the World war, and the nations of the world are again looking to silver which served so admirably as a monetary metal for hundreds of years prior to its sudden eclipse by gold.

The President's proclamation for the purchase of silver and the coining of the same at a certain price, is the startling news in the financial world today. This act of the President does two things. It of course increases the market for silver and causes jubilation throughout the silver states and the silver advocates. It leads the way to bi-metallism, which many have advocated here, and many of the nations of the world have been insisting upon.

It is another step toward greater inflation, and yet controlled inflation, which will unquestionably raise the prices of all commodities. Indeed, this morning at the opening of the stock exchange and the commodity exchanges, prices shot up in the matter of gold and wheat, to their limit.

This act by the President, just before Congress convenes, tends to place the President in an extremely impregnable position with Congress. A few months ago there was considerable criticism leveled at the President by the anti-inflation or so-called "sound money" people. There was also a hue and cry raised by the extreme inflationists, and the President was finding himself between two hostile forces. However, the planned opposition by the reactionaries, breaking over the country, drove the President a little farther toward the radicals, and brought the radicals entirely to the support of the President. It indicated, if that kind of campaign was going to be carried on, that the so-called "hard money" group would be left stranded, relatively few in number, and without support in the country.

In the meantime, business has been picking up; the CWA is bringing millions of dollars into circulation; the people are being employed, and take it on the whole, the future is brighter than it has been for some two years. We are among those who believe that the President is wisely leading, and that he is wisely advised. He has had to take some extreme attitudes, and he may have to take more of them in the future. But he is going only as far as public opinion will support him in going, and public opinion is solidly at his back now.

There is only one move left, and that is to actually "peg" the price of the dollar, and we will soon see silver and gold doing their work hand in hand, at the ratio probably of approximately 16 to 1, both of them freely coined. From any point you look at it, there were a great many people given a Christmas present by this proclamation of Mr. Roosevelt.

"ROUGH STUFF" IN THE ARMY

According to the surgeon general of the United States Army, Major General Robert U. Patterson, in his annual report to the Secretary of War, 25.4 of every 1000 of the personnel of the army became hospital cases last year because of athletic mishaps. Baseball is responsible for the most injuries. Wrestling, football and boxing come next. The death by accident in the army was greater than death by disease,—284 over against 279.

The surgeon general attributes most of these accidents and deaths to excessive roughness on the part of officers and men in athletic games. The soldiers in Hawaii play the roughest, and suffer the most broken legs, fingers and noses. Soldiers in China furnish the most hospital cases from the "grunt game," whatever that might be. General Patterson states that roughness is widespread, and should be eliminated.

This has been a complaint made against college athletics. But this is the first time we have heard the complaint against the army athletics. Those familiar with army athletics will not be surprised at the figures cited by the surgeon general. Young men segregated from homes, and herded together in encampments, have to amuse themselves in some way. The conditions of their training naturally does not make them mollycoddles. When they play, they play with vigor, not necessarily in an unsportsmanlike manner. But the civilian will be surprised to learn that so many of them become hospital cases as a result of their athletic exercises.

Even in a life given to roughness, not only in war, but also in peace, a certain amount of violent exercise is to be expected. But even the surgeon general thinks it goes too far.

THE IRISH BLUE SHIRTS

Ireland is having its troubles within and without. President De Valera is waging a battle with England, on one hand, and with a fascist group within his own borders, on the other. The peace which Ireland has sought for centuries, and which was supposed to have arrived when it became a self-governing state within the British Commonwealth of Nations, has proven just as elusive as ever. John Morley's statement, made many years ago, that the Irish question would be solved only the day after the Day of Judgment, is still valid.

The Irish people have rarely been able to settle their differences around a council table. Lord Tennyson once remarked that an Irishman would never be happy until the road to Paradise was lined with shelahlis which automatically hit him over the head. The mercurial and somewhat pugnacious spirit of an otherwise lovable and kindly people has been their undoing again and again.

It is for this reason that the true friends of Ireland look with sadness upon the internal strife now being waged so bitterly between the forces of the government and the blue shirts. Irish blood is being shed by Irishmen, not by British soldiers. It must be a great disappointment to all the Irish descendants in this land and others, whose hearts have been warm toward "the old sod," to see this strife of countrymen who should be united for the common good. They need so badly the Anglo-Saxon mood of settling things in council.

It is said to have been the lot of Edgar Allen Poe to have been ignored. "The literary world was the only world that knew him and it had no love for him."

I warned against the assumption that literacy is enough, that a nation that can read, write, figure and use decent English is necessarily equipped to handle this new leisure that inevitably looms ahead.

Today I want to go a step further and, although it may sound strange from a university president, say that we must guard against the assumption that the formalized training of the schools is sufficient, that a nation equipped with the traditional diplomas and degrees can safely be entrusted with this new leisure.

Experience has forced me to realize that a merely conventional schooling indifferently pursued does not necessarily make the schooled man materially different from the unschooled man in the effective management of his life and leisure.

I have seen a distinguished scientist vie with a ward-heeler in bringing passion, prejudice and partisanship to a political campaign. I have seen eminent scholars join hands with emotional fanatics in labeling and libeling as dangerous men who dared to challenge the judgment of the herd. I have seen whole faculties of universities, with heartening exceptions, become drunk on the wine of war-time hysteria and join the witch burning. I have seen men think scientifically about the bacillus of a fever and sentimentally about the basis of a foreign policy within the same twenty-four hours.

"In my time," the great William James once said, "there has been in eastern Massachusetts no enterprise of public or private rascality that has not been organized or led by a Harvard man."

I suspect that James did not mean this literally, but was trying, by the device of dramatic exaggeration, to emphasize the fact that mere schooling and a vital education that will make men sound servants of a successful social order are not necessarily identical.

All of which means that this business of adult education calls for the working out of new materials, new means and new methods that shall specifically deal with the development of the minds and characters of adult Americans to the end that they may function intelligently and safely in the midst of the new leisure that national recovery must involve.

Our Children

By Angelo Patri

Since the first father and mother gazed proudly upon their offspring, parental pride has flourished in the family. One can't help feeling proud of the beautiful child that fills the house with hope and joy. He may be a terrible trial at times, but that feeling of achievement today and honor tomorrow that every parent knows as he looks at his child, rises to top all else. It is the emotion that sustains parents through the struggles and sacrifices a growing family entails, and I for one say more power to it.

Sometimes this feeling leads loving parents astray. They note with delight that one of the children has a gift for music, or art, or science. At once their pride and imagination soar. They see this child grown to maturity, an accomplished genius to whom the world pays homage. Nothing must stand in the way of this child's genius. He must have the best teachers, the finest opportunities. The other children have to step back and do with less for the sake of the honor to the family. The whole family is drained to provide for the gifted one.

The child himself is used for one purpose only. He must live for his gift, and for the family pride. His play is cut down. His associations are limited. His experiences are reduced to the lowest terms of his special interest. He lives an unwholesome warped existence in the hope, his parents hope,—usually the child has none,—that success in years to come will make up for all the loss and sacrifice he endures.

Once in a generation this may be justified. A genius does arise once in wide spans of time. He must endure the suffering that genius exacts. But what of the great host of gifted, talented children who are not geniuses? Why should they suffer? They do. I see them many times. They have talent that if developed will give them position, a living, and much pleasure. Beyond that, no. The world will never wear a pathway to their doors. There are too many of them.

It is difficult for parents to abide by this. To have a genius in the family, what glory, what honor. The child must work to achieve. So one sees children bound to the piano or the violin or the laboratory table to serve out their time in grinding labor that has for them no beckoning vision, no spiritual compensation. It is a waste of life and nobody, not even a proud parent has the right to do that.

How is one to know when a child is beyond his depth? By watching and listening to him. It is hard to see and hear what a child is saying when one's own voice is speaking so loudly. One hears what one wants to hear, sees what one wants to see, under such conditions. The child has to create a tornado of sound before he can be heard and few children have the power or the inclination to do that.

Genius bears its mark. It cannot be mistaken. Talent has its characteristics, easily recognized by experienced eyes. The genius is precious but no more so than the great group of talented children who are to leaven the lump of humanity. These children have a great contribution to make to the life of the nation and their health and happiness as well as their talents must be safeguarded. They are not to be driven beyond their depth by eager parents and teachers. They are not to be made feel that they are failures because they can never play before the crown heads or win ribbons from the governments of the earth.

They can do better than that. They can live happy, useful lives and contribute to the happiness of a whole people as one of them. A genius is a star, lonely and aloof. A talented man is a brother bearing gifts.
